MERCHANTS SAY VOTE 'NO' ON DIVISION

Many Who Voted for Real Consolidation Tell Why They Oppose Increased Tax Under the Proposed Split

Belief that the proposal for adding to Oakland's city government the costs of a county government would increase taxes, and pointed objections to the charter are voiced today by a large number of Oakland merchants and business men who are voluntarily placing themselves on record in opposition to county division.

Division would mean a duplication of expense and a loss of strength, says one, while another holds that any person should be able to figure that to make three counties out of one is poor economics. That the charter is designed by "benevolent gentlemen who would like to relieve the people of civic duties" is the objection of another and some of the other expressions, briefed, are:

I believe in county unity and shall vote "no."

I believe in democracy and in the people selecting their own government.

Why go back to the degraded system of ward councilmen?

The one fact that the charter destroys the rights of the voters to elect their city government and destroys civil service should be enough to make the vote against it unanimous.

The charter is a halter around the neck of everybody who works for a living.

The proposal is purely a political scheme to further self-interest.

EXPRESSIONS THAT REFLECT OPINIONS.

These expressions, in addition to those published in The TRIBUNE on Sunday, reflect opinions of citizens in all parts of the city. Many of them voted "yes" at the November election, believing that there might be a chance for a county-wide amalgamation. Some of these statements follow:

Walter F. Austin, realtor, 1407 Franklin street, member of the Oakland Real Estate Board—I am against county division and intend to vote "no" on February 7.

M. Carl, for three years paymaster Moore Shipbuilding Co., Oakland—A division of Alameda county would mean a duplication of expenses and a loss of strength and resources for each separated part. United, Alameda county is strong. I believe in county unity and shall vote "no."

J. S. Dumser, optician, 1421 Twenty-third avenue—I am absolutely against separation of Oakland from the rest of the county, and against the proposed charter. I am going to vote "no" February 7.

DECLARED BIG STEP BACKWARD.

N. D. Kendall, retired lumber merchant—An autocratic, one-man form of government, such as the proposed charter provides, is too dangerous. If he were subject to recall by the people it would not be so bad. But to go back to Oakland's degraded system of ward councilmen and to let "the gang" appoint an autocratic manager and a mayor who cannot be recalled no matter what he does is a big step backward. As to saving taxes, who can tell from the charter what it will cost to run the city? I believe in democracy and in people selecting their own government.

James Munro, auctioneer — According to the reports of banks, the Oakland Chamber of Commerce and other organizations, Oakland has made more progress during the last ten years than almost any other city in the country. This seems to prove that our system of government cannot be far wrong. We have worked like beavers to build up Alameda county with Oakland as its center and we have succeeded. Why tear down all this good work? Why build a wall around ourselves and keep out the trade that we have spent years of effort and much money to obtain. Consolidation may have merit, but cutting up the county into three competitive units is sheer nonsense, and altogether unbusinesslike.

CHARTER TEARS COUNTY TO PIECES.

I. H. Spiro, president Merchants' Exchange—The one fact that the proposed charter destroys the rights of voters to elect their city government and wrecks civil service, making it possible for an imported so-called manager to hire and fire every employee as he pleases or as he is told to, should be enough to make the vote against such an un-American charter unanimous. The charter tears the county to pieces and also sets up two new governments for the so-called "boroughs" of Emeryville and Piedmont within the limits of Oakland. And they are advertising that they will save a million a year by "consolidation?" The thing is a joke and an injustice.

W. E. Castro, organizer American Federation of Labor—The proposed charter is plainly a rich man's document. It is fathered by certain real estate men, some bankers, certain big business men, but not all, and a handfull of old-time politicians hankering for a chance to come

Muratore Recovering From Operation

NEW YORK, Jan. 31. — Lucien Muratore, leading tenor of the Chicago Opera company, who underwent an operation for appendicitis yesterday, spent a comfortable night and is resting easily today, his physicians reported. Barring complication he will be able to leave the hospital in ten days, it was said.

THREE-MINUTE TALES

by Ed Schuster

POWER OF WORDS

WILFORD WIGGLESTON was the greatest orator in Minford. Not only that—he was the greatest in all the country around where the fame of his eloquent tongue and the majesty of his gestures was tradition and the belief in any cause he espoused, second nature. In a campaign he was more valuable than a pork barrel. And when it came to raising a debt, attacking a franchise, or signing up property owners for street work, he was the first called and the first to respond. In the improvement club, the Chamber of Commerce and the Men's League of the church he held forth with so much effect that it was said that the Minford was built by the wagging of the Wiggleston tongue.

When Charles Sarver decided to run for town trustee against Arthur Wender, all of Minford admired his bravery and planned condolences. For Wender was a second cousin to the great Wiggleston, and Wiggleston stood by his kin.

Minford's greatest orator paid no attention to the fight until it was well under way and there was evidence that Sarver's quiet methods of personal approach were winning him friends. Wender, in desperation, appealed for help.

"Just leave it to me," said Wiggleston, patting the other on the shoulder. "We will arrange a discussion in the town hall and I will meet this person on the platform. I will put the issues straight to the citizenry; I will appeal to their pride, their common sense and patriotism, and they, in course of time, will exercise their prerogatives by returning you the victor."

Wiggleston always talked as if he were delivering a speech and, with undoubted reason, had unlimited confidence in his powers.

"Much obliged," said Wender. "If you'll do that I can't lose." Then the great man smiled and Wender gave him a cigar and the meeting at the town hall was planned.

When Sarver heard that he was to meet Wiggleston in a discussion of the issues, he was discouraged. In the first place there were no issues of any importance, and in the second he saw himself buried in a heap of rounded and sonorous sentences. He thought long and hard and determined upon strategy.

THE night of the meeting came around. Wiggleston and Sarver sat together behind a small table in the center of the stage. Before them was the voting strength of Minford and a glass pitcher filled with water. Wiggleston sat back confidently, exposing impressively an expanse of embroidered waistcoat. While Sarver, a thin little man, felt handicapped by the physical comparison. And Sarver had to speak first.

No one remembers much of what Sarver said. He promised he would do his best, told his neighbors how many years he had lived in Minford, and discussed taxes, the flag, and the responsibilities of a citizen to his community. He sat down to a mild applause and the Minford community orchestra gave the number that separated the speeches.

The great Wiggleston went through the preliminary maneuvers of straightening his tie, pulling down his vest, and rumpling his hair. From his pocket he took four calling cards, upon the backs of which he jotted the main points of his address, and laid them on the table. When the orchestra finished he arose and bowed to the plaudits of the crowd.

Wiggleston started off well. He brought Minford up from a village, recited its achievements, and pictured its opportunities. "Upon the community's intelligent electorate rests the future," he said in a way to impress the electorate in front of him with its weight of intelligence. It looked dark for Sarver as Wiggleston turned to his second card.

"And now, fellow citizens," the great man said in the suave and pleading tone that had made him irresistible. "and now—" and the orator paused, grew red and puffed his cheeks. He ran one hand around his collar, glared at Sarver and, with an effort, reached for a glass of water.

THE speech lost power when he resumed but Wiggleston warmed up and turned another card. This time he trembled and stuttered, a boiler of oratory ready to explode. Somebody laughed. Others marveled at the unprecedented sight of Wiggleston at a loss for words. Determinedly he looked at the fourth and last card, threw the bunch on the floor, waved his arms impotently and forced himself to finish. With a weak and flat request that the voters remember Wender at the polls, he sat down. Wiggleston mad was inarticulate, and the astonished audience could only decide that his heart was not in his subject.

After the meeting Sarver picked up the cards and put them in his pocket. Later he burned them—but not before he had read them over with a quiet satisfaction. On the first were Wiggleston's notes for opening remarks and on the others, in this order, were printed in Sarver's hand:

"You are a wind-bag."
"You are a walrus."
"You are a puff-ball."

RENO, Nev., Jan. 31.—Investigation into the charges of United States District Attorney William Woodburn that seventy-five booze establishments are operating in Reno in violation of the prohibition law has begun by the Washoe county grand jury.

POLICEMEN PUT UNDER SUSPENSION

Richard Feeley, Jos. Phillips, J. A. Riley and Barney Curran Are Accused by the Chief of Incompetency

Officers Charged With Intervening to Save Chinese Woman, Declared to Be a Notorious Narcotic Dealer

Chief of Police James T. Drew this afternoon suspended four policemen from the Oakland department on charges of incompetency. The men are Richard Feeley, Joseph Phillips, J. A. Riley and Barney Curran.

The action of the chief of police, approved by Commissioner Frank T. Colbourn, follows activity on the part of the officers in the Pong Wong case in the Superior court.

Mrs. Wong, accused of being a narcotic dealer, asked for probation, and the four officers intervened for her. Feeley and Phillips took the stand and the other two wrote letters to the adult probation officer, Leonard Compton, asking for leniency.

ACTION ON LINES FOR REFORM.

"The action I took today follows along the lines I have laid out for the general conduct of this department," said Chief Drew. "Things have come to a pretty pass when members of the police department are acting as friends to criminals.

"Mrs. Pong Wong has been notorious for years. She has been in the courts time and time again, and the fact that she is the mother of a family is all the more reason why she should be put away and not be allowed to continue her nefarious activities."

In making the order of suspension Chief Drew allotted ten days each to Feeley, who is attached to Northern station, and Phillips, who is in Central; three days were given to Riley of Northern and Curran of Central.

ACTION FOLLOWS SERIES OF LETTERS.

The official action follows a series of letters protesting the action of the police officers by various citizens and representatives of civic organizations.

One of the letters, according to Chief Drew, came from Mrs. Louise Long, secretary of the Public Welfare League, in which she condemned the officers who testified in favor of Mrs. Wong and praised the other officers, who with Sergeant Brock held against her.

Arbuckle Trial Goes Into Its Fourth Week

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—The trial of Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle swung into its fourth week today after a three-day recess.

The state had six or eight witnesses remaining to be called, including a "surprise" witness. District Attorney Brady and his assistants were reticent regarding this witness, who was understood to be en route here from Chicago.

Arguments on the issue of declaring Zey Prevon a hostile witness occupied attention today. The jury was not present.

Near East Parley Set for February 9

PARIS, Jan. 31 (By the Associated Press).—The meeting of the foreign ministers of France, Italy and Great Britain to discuss Near Eastern questions, notably Asia Minor, which was originally set for February 1, has now been tentatively fixed for February 9, with Paris as the meeting place. A postponement was requested by Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, because of his desire for more time to examine the French reply to the British memorandum regarding the treaty between France and the Turkish Nationalists.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Enactment of a shipping law during the present Congress is confidently expected by President Harding, it was said at the White House today. Harding will send Congress a message on the merchant shipping situation in the near future. He is still studying, it was said, the report recently submitted to him by Chairman Lasker of the shipping board.

17 Large Dailies Launch National Advertising Body

(By United Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Seventeen of the largest newspapers in the country, having a circulation in excess of four million, announced today formation of the National Newspapers, Inc., for the sale and distribution of national advertising. Colonel C. B. Blethen of the Seattle Times is president of the organization. A. E. Braund of the Pittsburgh Post; H. S. Scott of the Detroit News; Henry Varian of the New York World, and S. F. Thomason of the Chicago Tribune are executive committee members and empowered to incorporate and select the other officers.

This is the first time that large newspapers of the country have cooperated in connection with the business affairs of a newspaper.

"The new organization is purely along co-operative lines," Colonel Blethen told the United Press today. "It opens up an advertising field in a way never accomplished before. No group of magazines or collection of periodicals can offer such a circulation as will be offered by this group of newspapers."

The organization will open its main office in New York and will have other offices in Chicago and probably San Francisco.

RAIL TARIFF CUT DECRIED BY HINES

Earnings Too Low to Allow a General Reduction, Says Former Director.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (By Associated Press).—Walker D. Hines, former director-general of the railroad administration, called today as a representative of the public by the Interstate Commerce Commission in its rate investigation, testified that in his opinion railroad earnings were too low to allow general reduction of freight charges and that business activity would not be stimulated by such a step if taken. Hines estimated that "in the public interest, it is probably necessary for the railroads to spend on betterments and facilities at least a billion dollars a year for some time to come," Hines said:

"Considering the effects of a possible general reduction, we must conclude first that it would further deplete the financial reserves of railroad companies, which are already weakened, unless it stimulated business sufficiently to produce traffic which would make up the loss. Second, we must conclude that it would reduce the purchasing power of the railroads themselves.

"I doubt that a reduction would stimulate business. Depression is due to the absence of demand for commodities, which demand cannot be created by slight price reductions which rate reductions would allow. It would be doubtful whether the effect of the reduction would ever reach those sections of the community which need support, because the benefit would be monopolized by those classes which are most highly organized. Transportation service costs are not the real cause of the trouble now."

Pistols in Auto Lead To Chase and Arrest

STOCKTON, Jan. 31.—The finding of two pistols and two hats in the tonneau of an automobile in a local garage led to a chase, a pistol battle and the arrest here today of Bert Randolph, said by the police to be an ex-convict.

When Patrolman Brown found the two pistols and hats in the machine he became suspicious and waited in the garage.

When Randolph appeared and claimed ownership of the car, Brown attempted to arrest him and grabbed the man by the coat.

Randolph shed his overcoat and ran. Patrolman Brown chased. He fired four shots after the fugitive. Randolph returned the fire, and then apparently thinking better of it, stopped and allowed the policeman to overtake him. A pistol was found in his pocket.

Randolph is held in jail under bond of $10,000.

Sculptor Borglum Dies in Connecticut

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

STAMFORD, Conn., Jan. 31.—Solon H. Borglum, an artist of nation-wide renown and head of a school of sculpture here, is dead. After an operation for appendicitis was performed on Saturday, it was believed Borglum would recover, but his powers of resistance were lowered by the effects of being gassed while in France during the world war, and the end came last night.

He was born on December 22, 1868, in Ogden, Utah, and was a brother of Gutzon Borglum, himself a noted sculptor. His five colossal busts of civil war generals, which are in the Vicksburg National Park, and his statue "The Pioneer," exhibited at the San Francisco exposition in 1915, were among his best-known works.

Difficulty in Towing Arethusa Reported

A tow was put aboard the disabled vessel late Saturday night, but the hawser has parted three times, according to the navy's advices.

LONG QUAKE IS LOCATED UNDER SEA

Mysterious Temblor Lasting More Than Two and Half Hours Believed Beneath the Pacific Off Oregon Coast

Shocks Are Felt in Several Northern Towns, But Very Little Damage Is Done; No Preliminary Warning Given

One of the most peculiar and mysterious earthquakes ever felt in the entire North American continent, and by far of the widest proportions, occurred shortly after 5 o'clock this morning. The 'quake was felt throughout the country, but no damage was done, other than the breaking of dishes and the stopping of clocks.

That the failure of the 'quake to do great damage was due to its occurrence on the ocean floor, according to Professor Andrew C. Lawson of the University of California. The slip in the earth was recorded by the seismograph as one and one-half millimeters on the recording dial, which constitutes a temblor of the most fearful proportions, and which could mean a slip in the earth of many feet.

BELIEVED TO BE OFF OREGON COAST.

The probable location of the slip which caused the temblor is placed at about 700 miles southwest of Spokane and 600 miles from Berkeley, the vibrations being more severe along the northwest Pacific coast. This would place the center of disturbance at about 300 miles off the Oregon coast, or about 350 miles from Portland, on the ocean floor.

At Eureka the temblor, which was of considerable duration, stopped clocks and broke dishes. At Canyonville, Oregon, beds rocked and windows were broken. Canyonville is about 225 miles south of Portland and about 125 miles north of the California line. At Roseburg, Oregon, the entire city was awakened. It was also felt at Eugene, at Portland, Seattle and other northern points. So severe was the shock that the needles of the seismograph instruments at the University of California, at Seattle and at Spokane were lifted from the recording drums.

MOST ABRUPT EVER RECORDED.

The first shock of the temblor was recorded at Santa Clara University at 5:30 o'clock. The seismograph of the University of California shows that the shock began at 18 minutes and 30 seconds past 5 o'clock and lasted until 8 o'clock. Professor Lawson said the quake was one of the most abrupt ever recorded, that there were no preliminary vibrations to warn of the main templor, which was more or less a continual shock for more than two and one-half hours.

In the East the quake was recorded on the instruments, but was not felt. In the Northwest, nearest the probable location of the disturbance, it was felt by early morning risers. Many reported that they were awakened by the rumble, which rattled dishware and windows.

Seismographs all over the United States recorded the shock, and upon learning of the proportions of the disturbances, it was feared that terrible damage had resulted, but this proved untrue. Great damage no doubt was prevented, Professor Lawson points out, from the submerged position of the disturbance. Had a similar slip in the earth occurred on the surface, great damage would have resulted from hundreds of miles around.

Telephone reports from Weaverville, Yreka, Dunsmuir, Fall River Mills and Weed, all in the extreme northern part of California, were that the quake had been felt, in varying degrees of intensity. It also was felt at Klamath Falls, Ore. No damage was reported.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (By Associated Press). — An earthquake of great intensity, probably 2500 to 2600 miles south of Washington, was registered early today at the Georgetown seismographical observatory. The quake began at about 8:25 a. m., and ten minutes later the tremors had become so pronounced as to throw the registering needles off the scale.

The quake also was registered on the seismograph of the weather bureau, officials of which described it as "monstrous." The Rev. Francis Tondorf, director of the Georgetown seismographical observatory and one of the foremost earthquake authorities of the world, said the quake was "enormous." Both machines registered the quake up to 10 o'clock.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 31. — An earthquake starting at 8:24 and apparently of "tremendous proportions" was recorded on the seismograph of St. Ignatius college here this morning, Dr. F. L. Odenbach, in charge, said today.

"It is apparently about 3000 miles away, and I suspect either in Central America, Mexico, Alaska or the Aleutian islands," Dr. Odenbach said. "The record shows a greater earth tremor than ever before recorded on our seismograph. The tremors died down shortly after 10 a. m."

DECLARED LONGEST RECORDED SINCE 1912.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The most violent and longest continued earthquake tremors recorded since the machine was installed in 1912 were recorded on the seismograph at the American Museum of Natural History here today. The tremors started at 8:20 and at 10:10 were still registered.

PAROLE FOR W. C. GRANT IS APPROVED

Attorney-General Daugherty Sanctions Plea to Give Freedom to Santa Rosa Banker Serving Term in Prison

Statement Is Made That Convicted Man Has Served One-Third of Sentence and Is Now Eligible for Clemency

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Attorney General Daugherty has approved a parole for W. C. Grant of Santa Rosa, Calif., sentenced to five years' imprisonment in the San Quentin penitentiary for violation of the national banking laws, it was announced today at the justice department.

Grant was sentenced on April 23, 1920, and it was explained, had served 21 months, or more than one-third of his sentence necessary to render him eligible for parole.

Several weeks ago Grant was permitted to visit the bedside of his wife, who was then supposed to be dying in an Oakland hospital.

Grant when paroled will join his wife, who was recently removed from the Merritt hospital to her home in this city.

Grant was sentenced to five years in San Quentin prison in 1920 after he had pleaded guilty before United States Judge William C. Van Fleet in San Francisco to twelve counts charging him with embezzlement and falsification of records in connection with the Santa Rosa bank's failing in 1919. He was sentenced on March 1, 1920.

Friends of the former banker afterwards began an active campaign to secure his pardon or parole. Mrs. Grant joined their fight, working night and day for her husband's release.

For months the woman worked, making a house-to-house canvass for signatures to the petition which asked that her husband be allowed his liberty that he might begin his life anew.

WIFE OF PRISONER HAS BREAKDOWN.

Because of her labors, which wore down her physical strength, Mrs. Grant became weakened. Even her poor health did not interfere with her work, and she kept on, seeking to enlist the aid of officials at Washington.

In December Mrs. Grant had a severe breakdown and became dangerously ill. She was taken to the Merritt hospital, where an emergency operation was performed. The operation was successful, but it was not believed that the woman would live because of her weakened condition and worry for her husband. She sank until physicians and nurses held no hope for her recovery.

Her physician, however, declared that if she were able to see her husband and believe that he was free she might have a chance of winning her fight against death. Grant was given a few day's release from his cell.

Accompanied by a guard, he came to Oakland and was permitted to see his wife. While the guard stood in a doorway, carefully watching his prisoner, Grant was allowed to greet his wife.

WIFE BELIEVES HUSBAND IS FREE.

"I will get well now. I've something to live for," said the sick woman as she saw her husband. She believed that he had obtained his freedom, and physicians did not dare to discourage that belief, certain that if the woman was undeceived, a relapse would result.

From that time on Mrs. Grant's condition steadily improved and at last she was pronounced "out of danger."

Mrs. Grant was soon taken to her home, still believing that her husband was free.

She has asked to see her husband, according to attendants, every day since she was returned to her home, and her friends declare thaat they will not be able to continue the deception much longer.

Decision Upholds Last Cemetery Act

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Superior Judge Shortall today upheld the Morris cemetery act by the last legislature providing that bodies may be removed from cemeteries within the city limits of municipalities. The case was that of several citizens against the Masonic Cemetery association here. The latter will appeal to the supreme court, and it was agreed that an injunction should be issued preventing the transferring of any bodies until the constitutionality of the law had been thoroughly tested.

Vast Oil Store in Alaska, U. S. Thinks

Congresswoman Defends Flapper, Blames Mothers

REPRESENTATIVE ALICE ROBERTSON, only woman in Congress, who says mothers are to blame for the "flapper" girl of 1922.

Bridge-Playing Parent Cause, Says Miss Robertson; Commends Frankness.

By LAURENCE M. BENEDICT.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Representative Alice Robertson, Oklahoma, only woman in Congress, rose today in vigorous defense of the "flapper."

Miss Robertson admitted that the 1922 girl, with her knee skirt, low-necked dress, rouge and "debutante slouch," is open to criticism, but said:

"You can blame her mother."

"As the mothers flap, so flaps the youngsters," Miss Robertson said.

"The modern mother is responsible. She sets the pace and her mother follows. While mother is flapping around at an afternoon tea or at a reception or bridge game, daughter goes out flapping in an auto. It's only natural.

"Let the mothers stay at home. Then they would find that their daughters would come flapping home, flap into an apron and spend their out-of-school hours in a thoroughly wholesome way. But you can't expect a young girl to stay at home and knit when her mother is out playing cards.

"The wonder is the girl of today is no worse than she is. There's no check on her; she does as she pleases."

Miss Robertson commends the present-day girls on their frankness.

"There's a great difference," she said, "between innocence and assumed prudery and the American girls, although they are getting amazingly frank, are not prudes."

Ex-Crown Prince Accepts Republic

Former Heir to the German Throne Opposes Monarchial Power Coup.

BERLIN, Jan. 31.—Friedrich Wilhelm Hohenzollern, German ex-crown prince, recognizes the republican regime in Germany as the legally constituted form of government of the country he once was destined to rule as emperor and king. The former German heir is now an exile upon the Dutch island of Weiringen in the North Sea.

He still believes that the monarchial system "does more for a people," but since a majority of the German people at Weimar chose a republic, he accepts that as an iron fact, in the face of which he admits that his own private opinion "cuts no ice."

He opposes a coup by any faction, saying that his countrymen have suffered enough. The fatherland must not be subjected to any fresh upheavals.

The Prince gives views in a letter to the famous constitutional jurist, Privy Councillor Dr. Zorn of Bonn university.

Grand Jury Indicts Slaying Suspects

FAIRFIELD, Jan. 31. — The Solano county grand jury has returned an indictment against Chin Sir Foon and Chin Sheung, two Chinese charged with the murder of Harry Jue in Maine Prairie, several weeks ago and a bench warrant has been issued for their arrest. The two Chinese are in jail at present, having been re-arrested upon a warrant sworn out before Judge Maynard but a bench warrant was ordered from a precautionary standpoint.

"The two Chinese had their preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Beryl L. Gregg last week, who held that the evidence was not sufficient for a trial in the superior court and turned them loose.

Prosecuting Attorney Arthur Lindauer and his associate, Frank R. Devlin, not being satisfied with this decision, had the defendants re-arrested.

long with Formosa and the Pescadores.

As finally agreed to, the text of the fortification article contains authorization for such repair and replacement as may be necessary to keep establishments now existing within the "status quo" area up to their present efficiency. This stipulation will permit the small marine base in operation on Guam to remain, along with the fortifications installed by Japan on Formosa.

HERE'S TEXT OF PACT ON PACIFIC FORTS.

The text of article 19 follows:

The United States, the British empire and Japan agree that the status quo at the time of the signing of the present treaty, with regard to fortifications and naval basis shall be maintained in their respective territories and possessions specified hereunder:

1—The insular possessions which the United States now holds or may hereafter acquire in the Pacific ocean, except (A) those adjacent to the coast of the United States, Alaska and the Panama Canal Zone, not including the Aleutian islands, and (B) the Hawaiian islands;

2—Hongkong and the insular possessions which the British empire now holds or may hereafter acquire in the Pacific ocean east of the meridian of 110 degrees east longitude, except (A) those adjacent to the coast of Canada, (B) the commonwealth of Australia and its territories and (C) New Zealand;

3—The following insular territories and possessions of Japan in the Pacific ocean, to-wit: The Kurile islands, the Bonin islands, Amami-Oshima, Loochoo islands, Formosa, and the Pescadores and any insular territories or possessions in the Pacific ocean which Japan may hereafter acquire.

The maintenance of the status quo under the foregoing provisions implies that no new fortifications or naval bases shall be established in the territories and possessions specified; that no measures shall be taken to increase existing naval facilities for the repair and maintenance of naval forces, and that no increase shall be made in the coast defense of the territories and possessions above specified. This restriction, however, does not preclude such repair and replacement of worn-out weapons and equipment as is customary in naval and military establishments in time of peace.

$250,000 FIRE LOSS.

Futurist Art Is On Toboggan, Says U. of C. Professor

"I don't believe that futurism has a future."

"Ten years from now nobody will ever speak of it."

These were a few of the views brought out in a lecture by Eugen Neuhaus, assistant professor in the appreciation of art at the University of California, who declared that the so-called futuristic phase of art had no place and was the work of unskilled artists.

"Even the famous group of seven that met in Paris to solidify their faith in the new idea has disbanded," said Neuhaus. "Their work was small, although appearing great because exploited by the press.

"Most critics consider futurism a neurotic thing that has been highly specialized. I have never yet found a futurist painting that satisfied an aesthetic craving. Even the celebrated 'Nude Descending a Staircase,' the painting at the 1915 exposition, has been dubbed by some gentlemen who are well versed as 'an explosion in a shingle factory.'"

COOPERATION OF WORKMEN URGED

Business success under present conditions depends on co-operation between employer and employee and sensible business conduct. This was the gist of an address delivered by C. T. Rettenmayer, manager of the Lemar Baking Company, at the Business Development League's luncheon in the Hotel Oakland yesterday.

Rettenmayer outlined business conditions for the ensuing year and predicted that it will be 1924 before "we can possibly hope for prosperity." He based his prediction on figures of government and civil experts, he told the club members.

MAN IS HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE

SAN LEANDRO, Jan. 31. — Following an order to clear the courtroom of all spectators by Judge W. F. Gannon yesterday at San Leandro, the preliminary hearing of Thomas Haines, facing a statutory charge brought by the father of a 15-year-old girl, took place. The clearing of the court room was the result of an appeal by Joseph Lacey of Oakland, attorney for Haines. The testimony of Hilda Atanazio and Manuel Atanazio was heard, and was of such nature that Haines was bound over to the Superior Court by Judge Gannon. An appeal to reduce the $5000 bail of Haines was denied.

Rathenau Foreign Minister in Berlin

BERLIN, Jan. 31—(By the Associated Press).—Dr. Walter Rathenau, former German minister of reconstruction and latterly German representative at various economic conferences with the allies, has been appointed German foreign minister. This post has been held by Dr. Joseph Wirth, in addition to the chancellorship, since the reorganization of the cabinet last October.

FORMER OAKLAND GIRL LOSES LIFE IN KNICKERBOCKER

At least three former residents of the Eastbay district met death in the Knickerbocker theater disaster in Washington, according to word received here today. Captain and Mrs. William Elliott Warner, who were killed in the crash Saturday night, were formerly residents of Alameda, where Warner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Warner, now reside.

Captain Warner, who for ten years had been a member of the artillery of the New York National Guard, during the war made two trips to France in command of the forces on the transport Lempe. He was later commissioned a major and at the conclusion of the war was given a permanent commission as captain in the regular army. He was 37 years old.

His parents were prostrated with grief when news of his death was received and left immediately for Washington.

OAKLAND GIRL KILLED.

Hazel Price, formerly a Technical high school student, another former Eastbay resident, also was killed in the disaster, according to word received here today by her aunt, Mrs. Albert S. Horton of 1306 Parker street, Berkeley.

"I received a telegram this morning," said Mrs. Horton, "from Captain L. H. Price informing me that Hazel had lost her life in the disaster.

"Miss Price was 18 years of age and the daughter of Captain and Mrs. Price. The family formerly resided at 3422 Piedmont avenue, Oakland. They left for Washington in October, 1920."

According to Mrs. Horton, Miss Price was extremely popular at the Technical high school and was a secretary of the student body. She is survived by her parents and a brother, Harold Price.

Word was received in San Francisco yesterday by Ben C. Dailey, managing director of the Foreign Trade Club, that W. Mortimer Crocker, Washington representative of the organization, was among those who lost their lives in the disaster.

Guy S. Eldredge, who resided in San Francisco in 1920 and 1921, was another victim of the crash. Eldredge came to San Francisco two years ago to open a warehouse for the Winchester Repeating Arms company. He was born at Salt Lake City. His sister was married to United States Senator Reed Smoot of Utah in 1884.

Investigation of Catastrophe Pushed

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31. — While the city began the burial of its dead today, District of Columbia authorities pushed their investigation of the Knickerbocker theater disaster and the Senate was expected to take action on the resolution of Senator Capper, Republican, of Kansas, proposing an independent inquiry by that body. A resolution for the same purpose also was pending in the House, although Representative Mondell, Republican leader, had announced that body would not authorize an inquiry pending the outcome of those by local authorities.

A re-check of the death list by the police today showed that the final total, outside of the expected deaths of injured, of which there are now three, probably would be reduced to 95 from the total of 105 carried yesterday. Of the total of 133 injured, 62 remained in hospitals today, with a dozen reported in critical condition. E. H. Shaughnessy, second assistant postmaster general, although included among these, was said to be still showing improvement today.

Reductions in the death list, which the police early today believed would be final, resulted from the tentative elimination of eight names for which the police have been unable to find any addresses. They are: D. M. Walsh, Mrs. M. E. Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Maine, Albert Baker, Paulus Lamby, W. M. Crawford and F. H. Hall. In addition to these, Miss Gertrude Taylor of Washington was found to have been reported dead by error, and Ernesto Natiello, who was killed, was found to have been listed again as Ernest Martello. These ten eliminations would reduce the total to 95.

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 31.—A "bone dry" zone extending over an area forty miles inland along the full length of the California-Mexico border soon will be proclaimed by the Mexican government, according to a statement issued at Mexicali today by Jose Lugo, new governor of the northern district of Lower California.

France-Spain Pact Envoys Deadlocked

MADRID, Jan. 31.—Negotiations between France and Spain for a new commerical agreement seems to have come to a deadlock over the Tangier question, according to the Heraldo de Madrid. A cabinet meeting to discuss the question is to be held today.

The cabinet will also fix the date for military operations to be carried out in Morocco, with a view to bringing the campaign to a speedy conclusion.

EX-U. S. ENVOY'S WIFE DIES.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31. — Mrs. Margaret Byers, wife of Major S. H. M. Byers, formerly United States minister to Switzerland, died at her home here late last night after a lingering illness. She was 80 years old. She and her husband, who, with a brother in Nebraska survive her, came to Los Angeles in 1918 from Des Moines, Ia.

German Ex-Crown Prince Puts His O. K. on Republic

TEXT OF LETTER BY GERMAN PRINCE.

The text of the letter follows:

"My dear privy councilor:

"In my loneliness I am especially grateful for every word from my old friends. Therefore, you can imagine how glad I was to hear from you and with what interest I read your description and comments on conditions in Germany. Your impartial narrative gave rise to many thoughts in my mind just as in the golden years of my youth while your student at the Bonn.

"Moreover, meditations gradually become a life habit with your old discipline. As for the commercial questions in your last letter to me, I can only say that I, too, believe that the question of 'republic or monarch' must play no part whatever at this time of the fatherland's gravest need.

"As you know, I have always represented the viewpoint that monarchs exist for the sake of the people; not the people for the sake of the monarchs. After the terrible debacle of 1918, the consequences of which are making themselves felt ever more and more oppressively, the national assembly elected by the German people adopted by a decision of the majority the republican form of government. In spite of whatever faults one may find with the Weimar constitution this is a fact. My personal view that, for various reasons, monarchy does more for the interests of the people, cuts no ice.

UNITY ESSENTIAL IF NATION HAPPY.

"Any manner of government can be a blessing to the people only if based on the national conviction, if approved thereby and is firmly anchored by the majority of the people governed. In my opinion, therefore, it is a crime to intensify class war in Germany today.

"The majority of German labor is much too sensible not to realize that only through love of our country can it be a blessing to us. German labor has an inherent part in the national entity just like all the others and no form of government therefore can hold itself together in the long run which is not supported by and has the confidence of the majority of labor.

"Under these circumstances I regard it as not only purposeless but outright detrimental that such inflammatory activity should exist as is nowadays apparent in many places. Every political party, of course, has a perfect right to solicit members unto itself. Only this must not be done in a manner that endangers quiet and order.

"The process called 'Putsch' (meaning coup) is and remains a crime against the German nation, which today cannot bear any fresh upheaval. Quiet, order, work and unity are the factors our fatherland today needs more than at any other time. The burdens of the fatherland must not be increased further upon the question of constitutional principles.

"There is a limit to the sufferings and trials of a nation beyond which it cannot bear. Unfortunately, there was failure to realize this during the war, or else the leading statesmen should have worked more determinedly for a timely peace.

KNEW WAR LOST AFTER MARNE BATTLE.

"You know my position on the peace question during the various phases of the world war. As early as after the battle of the Marne in 1914 I no longer considered absolute victory possible. (Absolute was underlined in the manuscript.)

"Therefore I supported all the peace possibilities as far as I could without damaging Germany's will for defense which it was imperative to maintain if we were to oppose the enemy's will to destruction. It was a mistake of our political leadership that such peace possibilities as presented themselves were not taken advantage of more cleverly.

"Even in the summer of 1917 there was, in my opinion, a chance for Germany to get out of the war under tolerable conditions. True, after the failure of the military attempt of 1918 our position became bitterly grave and beginning at that time a speedy peace became imperative."

Wilhelm writes that the loss of the war by the central powers was not due to any single event but the "sum total of many mistakes and the hunger blockade." He said it was an open question whether the catastrophe was avoidable in its full consequences.

The letter goes on:

"It were better to quit at the last asking how many bear the guilt or who the sole guilt. But continual reverting to this question only hampers fulfillment of the most important task, which is reconstruction.

WAR GUILT NOW MINOR QUESTION.

"The answer to the question of war guilt should be left to future historical research. The main thing today is to learn from past mistakes and remove all obstacles from the path of internal consolidation in order to bend all energies to the great aim: Reconstruction of the fatherland.

"I am still today forbidden to help in that work, even as a private citizen in limited circle of duties. However, in these long years of loneliness that I have passed through I have learned patience. I know now how to regard everything, events, men and matters—more objectively. But God knows these three years of self chosen exile are enough and the longing for wife and children, for modest, simple family life—longing which every humane person will understand, is growing well nigh intolerable.

"However, I live in hope that when the hour strikes for my liberation there will still be room for me in the homeland. I infer this with gratitude from the humane understanding and sympathy expressed for my fate in the widest circles of the nation, regardless of political party. I was particularly grateful that you expressed this in such warm words, my dear privy councilor. I shall be glad to hear from you again soon. In the meantime, with heartfelt regards, I am your faithful

"WILHELM."

Value of Stolen Pin Changes Case

Depreciation of a platinum stickpin since its purchase by Mrs. Granville D. Abbott, Piedmont society leader, today saved Earl Stanley, her former chauffeur, from a charge of grand larceny. Although the pin, which Stanley admits stealing, originally cost $75, which would constitute grand larceny, it was found by Deputy District Attorney Earl Warrent to have depreciated in value to below $50, which constitutes petty larceny. Stanley, who pleaded guilty to grand larceny, was today accordingly permitted to substitute the lighter plea.

Stanley's case was referred to Probation Officer Leonard D. Compton Jr. for report February 9.

$1,050,000, Mrs. Lord Share in Kohl Estate

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Coincident with the departure for Europe today of Mrs. Marion Lord, who inherited the larger portion of the estate of the late Frederick Kohl, it was announced that the entire Kohl estate had been appraised at $2,250,000.

Mrs. Lord, according to the will, was given $250,000, and all the remainder of the estate that was left after other beneficiaries had received their amount. The value of the estate would indicate that Mrs. Lord will receive $800,000 in addition to the $250,000.

Workman Overcome By Gas Is Rescued

John B. Wilson, aged 40, 2425 East Twenty-second street, an employee of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company, was nearly asphyxiated today when at work in a conduit tunnel at the company's plant at the foot of Grove street. Wilson was rescued by J. H. Makins, a fellow worker, who dragged him to the outer air and then took him to the Emergency hospital. A pulmotor was used and oxygen administered there, relieving Wilson's condition and insuring his recovery.

COUNTY DIVISION MEANS INCREASED TAXES

Tax Rate Would Be $5.43 Instead of $4.91

HERE ARE THE PLAIN FACTS WHICH IT TAKES NO EXPERT TO FIGURE:

Oakland today pays 63 per cent of the cost of the county government.

Under the proposed charter Oakland would be compelled to pay 100 per cent.

¶ The charter, framed for eleven communities, would be saddled upon Oakland which would have to pay in full for COUNTY CLERK, CORONER, RECORDER, SHERIFF, PUBLIC ADMINISTRATOR, DISTRICT ATTORNEY, SUPERIOR JUDGES, REGISTRAR, PROBATION OFFICERS, MAINTENANCE OF DELINQUENTS, SEALER, HOSPITALS, STATE FAIR, etc., in addition to city functions.

In proportion of money expended and received, the City of Oakland now BENEFITS from the county by $450,000, which it would lose by division.

CUTTING OF TREES IN SAN LEANDRO MAY MEAN FIGHT

Proposal to Remove Locust Trees to Be Discussed February 6.

SAN LEANDRO, Jan. 31. — A verbal battle between factions of San Leandro, in regard to the trees on Estudillo avenue may take place at the next meeting of the city trustees, it is stated.

For 50 years Estudillo avenue has been lined with locust and other trees, making the street one of the recognized beauty spots of the bay cities in the spring and summer. The severe windstorm that swept California last week was too much for their age-rotted roots. Twelve of the trees were torn up and deposited in the street by the force of the wind, and a great many others showed signs of a terrific strain.

It is expected that a resolution to cut down a large number of the trees will be introduced at the next meeting, to be held the night of February 6, and it is likewise expected that for every person championing the cause of chopping them down there will be one or more to oppose it.

The plea to cut down the trees will be based on the fact that they are endangering life and property on Estudillo avenue, and that they are past the age when a tree of that species is of value.

The argument opposing this stand will be one of a sentimental nature, pressing the point that the old landmarks should be allowed to stand until others are planted and obtain their mature growth.

Mt. Tamalpais on Journey; Starts Moving Up Coast

BERKELEY, Jan. 31.—Because Tamalpais, sleeping maiden mountain on the Marin shore, has been labeled a "female hobo" by scientists, the United States government will probably take a hand in seeing just what should be done with this miscreant member of society.

According to scientists, Tamalpais is not satisfied with her present location. That she is slowly but surely working her way northward is the statement of those who have been watching.

Professor Andrew C. Lawson, recognized as an authority on earth movements, is taking the wunderlust of the Marin mountain so seriously that he has appealed to the Geodetic Survey at Washington to send experts to make a study of the bay region to ascertain how fast a pace Tamalpais is setting.

According to Professor Lawson, the entire Eastbay section also is caught in the same "earth creep."

EASTERN-BRED HEN FLOCK AT HOME IN SNOW

Nomination Is Confirmed At Once and Agricultural Bloc Loses Leader.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—President Harding today sent to the Senate the nomination of Senator Kenyon of Iowa, leader of the Senate agricultural bloc, to be judge of the eighth circuit.

The Senate, soon after receiving the nomination, confirmed it in open executive session; an honor only rarely paid to nominees.

The Iowa Senator, who is one of the leaders of the Senate and chairman of the agricultural bloc of that body, in a formal statement issued upon receipt of his nomination by the Senate, expressed appreciation of the President's action, which he said would enable him to achieve his ambition "to serve on the Federal bench."

Discussing the appointment of Senator Kenyon, agricultural bloc leader, to the Federal Circuit court, Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, declared in the Senate "that the country could not but help wonder, and it will take some explanations to disprove the belief, whether this administration was not seeking to destroy the leadership of the agricultural bloc."

DES MOINES, Jan. 31 (By the Associated Press). — Appointment of Senator W. S. Kenyon to the eighth judicial circuit bench today will leave the appointment of a successor in the Senate to Governor Kendall to fill.

NEW CANDIDATES FOR PONTIFF GAIN GROUND AT ROME

Cardinal Laurenti, Elevated Only Last Year, Now Prominently Mentioned.

ROME, Jan. 31.—(By the Associated Press).—Interest in the choice of a successor to Pope Benedict is increasing as the time draws near for assembling of the sacred conclave and many attempts to find an indication of the result are being made.

Cardinal Laurenti, secretary of the congregation of the propaganda, although raised to the purple only last year, is understood to be favored by at least thirty members of the sacred college who believe in a approachement between the Italian government and the Vatican. At the same time he is said to be acceptable to those opposed to closer relations with the Quirinal.

The name of Cardinal Ratti, archbishop of Milan, mentioned previously, as favored by the "peace" group headed by Cardinal Gasparri, is not heard so often now, and the section headed by Cardinal Merry Del Val, which had been credited with favoring Cardinal Maffi, archbishop of Pisa, is reported as ready for a compromise before the balloting begins.

MADRID, Jan. 31. — A solemn requiem service for Pope Benedict, attended by King Alfonso and the Infante Fernando, was held yesterday in the Church of Francisco the Great in the presence of the entire cabinet, members of the diplomatic corps and the chief functionaries of the state. The artillery fired minute guns during the service.

Conclave Won't Wait For U. S. Cardinals

ROME, Jan. 31 (By the Associated Press).—The suggestion made in some of the Italian papers that the conclave of the college of cardinals may be postponed to permit the attendance of the American cardinals, now on their way to Rome, is not taken seriously by members of the sacred college. The correspondent is informed that the conclave will convene Thursday, as was originally planned.

WOMAN, 84, LEAPS TO HER DEATH

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Mrs. Helen Knickerbocker, 84, widow of Henry Knickerbocker, millionaire paper manufacturer, committed suicide last night, according to assistant medical examiner, by jumping from the window of her apartment on the eleventh floor of an apartment house.

Mrs. Knickerbocker's husband died fifteen years ago. She has since occupied the apartment with Miss Emmie Hines, a social companion, and a retinue of ten servants. Miss Hines could assign no motive to Mrs. Knickerbocker's act.

VIRGINIA HARRISON WEDS.

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Christian Gross, Son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Gross of Chicago, and Miss Virginia Randolph Harrison, daughter of Francis Burton Harrison, former governor-general of the Philippines, were married in French Algiers Saturday, according to a cablegram received by Mr. Gross' parents here. After a tour of Algiers the couple will reside in Algiers while the groom completes a course in a college there.

Irish Seek Italian Pope; Say Briton Gave Erin Away

ROME, Jan. 31.—(By Associated Press).—"It was an English-speaking pontiff (Adrian IV.), who gave Ireland to England in the twelfth century, therefore we do not favor any but an Italian for the throne of St. Peter," declared a member of the party of Cardinal Logue, primate of Ireland, who arrived here yesterday. "The incumbent of this high office must speak the Italian langue, be intimately acquainted with the delicate relationship between the vatican and the quirinal, and understand the psychology of the Italian government and people.

"The holy see encompasses all peoples and all countries, and must not identify itself too closely with any government, for there would be danger that it would be used as an instrument for the achievement of a purpose not in the interest of the whole world."

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief For Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache and inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heart-burn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of Bisurated Magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antiacid, such as Bisurated Magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form, enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestents. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisurated Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.—Advertisement.

THIS WEEK'S BEAUTY HELP

It is not necessary to shampoo your hair so frequently if it is entirely and properly cleansed each time by the use of a really good shampoo. The easiest to use and quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers is one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair and may be enjoyed at very little expense, by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox, which can be obtained from any druggist, in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just to the top of the head. This, when rubbed into the scalp and onto every strand of hair, chemically dissolves all impurities. It is very soothing and cooling in its action, as well as beneficial to both scalp and hair. After rinsing out the lather so created, you will find the scalp is fresh, clean and free from dandruff, while the hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft fluffiness that makes it seem very heavy.—Advertisement.

AUSTRALIA PLANS TO COMPETE IN MANUFACTURES

Horace Clipper Tells Kiwanis Club Antipodes Expect to Be U. S. Rival.

Australia is at present looking forward to a bigger population, which will enable her to become a manufacturing nation competitive with the United States. Horace Slipper, a resident of that country, who has just completed a visit to England and Scotland, told members of the Oakland Kiwanis Club yesterday. Slipper spoke for three minutes at the weekly luncheon meeting of the club at the Hotel Oakland and gave a brief outline of conditions in the British Isles and in Australia. He will leave the United States in a few days to return to the antipodes.

"England has suffered severely through a lack of trade," said Slipper. "Today the factories there are only working about one-quarter time. However, I look for an improvement. It will not be long before England will resume her former place in the activities of the world, but this will not be until the rate of exchange has been put on a more stable basis.

"Australia cannot accomplish much until she has a larger population. We have some labor troubles there, but they are of minor importance. The labor unions in Australia are not made up of extremists, as they are in other places, and this perhaps accounts for the fact that the present labor troubles are not of a dangerous nature. During the war Australia was forced to turn toward manufacturing the things she needed, and when she has an increased population she will be a manufacturing country able to compete with America."

Largest Olive Tree In Sutter County

MADDOCK, (Sutter County), Jan. 28.—What is said to be the largest olive tree in the United States has been measured on the Roy Hull ranch, nine miles south of Yuba City, near the Sutter Basin By-pass.

The tree is forty years old, thirty-six feet in height and has a spread of twenty-six feet, according to Deputy Marshal Lee McEwen of Sutter county. Two feet above the ground the tree is six and a half feet in circumference. It is of the Mission variety and bears a large crop each year.

You're My Oyster, Diner Cries, And 108 Answer Here

Oysters were omitted today from the bill of fare of the Coney Island grill at 805 Broadway. An early patron cleaned out the establishment's available supply.

He strolled in during a quiet spell and gave his order to "Mike" Captain, efficient and alert waiter. It was for oysters, served in their primitive state. After a brief interval the twelve bivalves disappeared.

Anticipating an order for soup or a meat or fish "Mike" waited upon his customer with the query:

"And what next, please?"

"Oysters," was the answer, "an' make 'em raw."

From that time on the guest ignored the blandishments of a varied and attractive bill of fare and grimly and unemotionally ordered oysters in lots of twelve until he had consumed nine dozen, or, for the sake of a possible record, 108 uncooked oysters, with all the sauces, spices and condiments that are associated with the deep-sea delicacy.

Before the customer left "Mike," in awed accents, asked him to identify himself. He said he was John W. Beer, 2501 Market street, and that he was 67 years old. From that time on, "Mike" said, the oyster-killing prodigy shut up like a clam.

He almost disrupted the establishment several hours later, however, when he returned and, upon learning that the stock of oysters had not been replenished, ordered a sirloin steak.

Nathan Straus Urges Rich to Aid Charity

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Nathan Straus, philanthropist, declared today, the 74th anniversary of his birth, that he had tried throughout life to inspire men of greater wealth to use their money for humanity rather than themselves.

"I regret that my fortune is only moderate, because large wealth would enable me to give more," he said.

Japs, Chinese, Lease Tracts for Peanuts

MEXICALI, L. C., Jan. 31.—A tract of 2700 acres near Mexicali is reported to have been leased to a number of Chinese and Japanese who plan to engage in truck gardening and in experimenting with peanuts. Fresno and Mexicali Chinese are said to have leased 1300 acres, and Brawley and Mexicali Japanese 1400 acres.

BOY SCOUTS WIN NEW HONORS AND COOKING INCLUDED

Merit Badges Are Awarded to Large Class; Troop 32 Lads in Lead.

That boys are as able as girls to learn the domestic art of cooking was revealed at the Boy Scout Court of Honor yesterday at the City Hall at which many lads were awarded merit badges for special aptitude in this branch of study.

The Court of Honor was the largest ever held by the local Boy Scout council and resulted in the awarding of a large collection of merit badges. Most of the awards were for excellence in firemanship, pioneering, swimming and other branches having to do with life in the open.

Seven Scout troops from various parts of the city took part in the competition, and troop 32 came out with the largest number of merit badge winners.

AWARDS ARE MADE.

Masons Plan Large Sanitarium in South

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Jan. 31.—Taking cognizance of the great number of deaths from consumption annually among Masons throughout the country, steps have been taken by the Masonic Grand Lodge of Texas toward the location of a large Masonic Tuberculosis Sanitarium in the southwest. Grand Master D. Frank Josnson, of the Texas Grand Lodge, has named Robert J. Newton, chairman; B. F. Berkeley and F. P. Miller as a committee to confer with the Grand Lodges of New Mexico and Arizona for the purpose of preparing a plan for the establishment and operation of a tubercular sanitarium.

The sanitarium will be national in scope. Figures tabulated by the National Tuberculosis Association show that there are approximately 42,300 Masons suffering from tuberculosis throughout the country and that approximately 4700 die of this disease annually.

SMUGGLER SENT TO PRISON.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—Frank Van Beezle, a taxicab driver of San Diego, who was arrested several months ago near Bakersfield with a contraband Chinese as a fare, bound for San Francisco, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Oscar Trippet, in the United States District Court, to serve a year in the federal penitentiary at McNeill's Island.

THEFT TRIAL TAKES HOUR.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—The trial in the Superior Court here yesterday of Theodore Johnson for the theft of $90 and a watch from J. Schmidt consumed just one hour from the examination of the first talesman until the jury returned with a verdict of guilty. The jury was out six minutes.

DIVISION IS TOO COSTLY FOR CITY, DECLARES WHITE

Citizens of Rockridge and Claremont Told Dangers of County Split.

Representative citizens of the Rockridge and Claremont districts last night applauded declarations of Carlos G. White that Alameda county would never be divided for political reasons.

"You cannot save money," White said, "by adding to the functions of city government those of county government. Figure it out for yourself. You must keep all of the city offices and departments, you cannot get along without them, and in addition it is proposed that you take over the entire cost of county government. As if that were not bad enough, you are being asked to slice off $101,000,000 of assessed property, which will decrease the income, and you are being asked to pay for duplication of records. It does not take a mathematician to say where he gets off. It isn't in the cards that this thing is to be done."

TEN POINTS GIVEN.

White presented his arguments in close-clipped sentences, assuring his hearers that there were ten points to be borne in mind when they go to the polls on February 7. His points were:

First: The figures on which the proponents base their reasons for division are false.

Second: The new charter will not reduce taxes.

Third: If we want a city manager we can get one by amending the present charter.

Fourth: If we feel that the present council system is bad we will find that the "ward system" is infinitely worse.

Fifth: If we want to consolidate the city and county assessors, auditors and tax collectors, we can do it without separation.

Sixth: The expense of duplicating the legal records after separation will cost more than $1,000,000.

Seventh: Separation means the cutting off of $101,139,355 in taxable property without that amount in expense.

Eighth: Separation means division of the political strength we enjoy in the legislature as a unit.

Ninth: Expansion is prohibited by the state law and we build a Chinese wall around the city.

Tenth: We burden ourselves with "the most vicious and dangerous governmental instrument ever submitted to an American city.

URGED TO VOTE "NO."

After proving all of these points or contentions through the medium of known facts and indisputable figures, White urged that his audience and their friends vote an emphatic "No" on the proposition at the polls on February 7.

"The city tax rate for this year is $2.25 and the county rate is $2.66," said White. "As a county we will pay $5.43. Look on your tax bill and you will find that of the $2.66 on the county bill, $1.88 is for Oakland city schools.

"Eighty per cent of the burdens now carried by Alameda county as a whole will have to be carried by Oakland.

"If Oakland tries to go it alone she will have to assist her $173,712,677 in assessable property.

"Oakland will lose $101,139,355 in outside property. The taxes accruing from this at 85 cents is $63,730.

"Oakland will simply add 52 cents to her present tax rate and a lot of woe.

"It doesn't take an expert to figure out that the taxes will be increased instead of decreased.

WHAT CITY WILL LOSE.

"We lose approximately $274,000,000 of property and we take on $2,300,000 in the form of extra expenses.

"If anyone told us that he drove from here to Sacramento in half an hour, we'd know in what classification to place him.

"We know that it's ninety miles to Sacramento and he couldn't drive 180 miles an hour.

"Take your pencil and paper and figure it out for yourselves. The duplication of records alone will cost $1,000,000.

"There are 6000 volumes, with from 480 to 700 pages in each volume—three million pages—and the lowest figure I could get was 75 cents a page. A million is all too conservative.

"Think of the litigation. What a beautiful mess we would achieve in separation.

"Consider the merchant, or let him consider himself. He is now in the county seat of the second richest county in the world.

"Is he going to cut himself off from 40 per cent of his customers, representing 37 per cent of the aggregate wealth, and win out? The answer is too easy. He won't.

CITES CASE OF S. F.

"Our attention is called to San Francisco. Well, look at her. No chance to expand because of the State laws, no chance to grow. Yet we contemplate erecting an even more efficient Chinese wall.

"Once we separate we'll be like Humpty-Dumpty. All the king's horses and men couldn't put him in shape.

"Instead of achieving true consolidation we calmly propose to establish an autocratic power, a ward system, and all the other perquisites of vicious governing.

"Four wards will have the power of ruling the city. We fought for years against this system and now we consider its re-establishment.

"Follow the example of Benjamin Franklin. Get a piece of paper, draw a line and consider both sides of the question. Indulge in a little thought and a little figuring and then go to the polls and there is only one way you can vote—'No.'"

The meeting was presided over by H. Siedenburg, and vocal and instrumental entertainment was furnished by Mrs. Waldo Rucker, Mrs. Dent Slaughter and Mrs. Robert Battison. Judge William Donahue, also scheduled to talk, was unable to appear because of illness and White said that he combined his speech with Donahue's.

2 Berkeley Organizations Say Vote 'No' on Division

BERKELEY, Jan. 31.—At a meeting of the Ashby Community Club, held at Ashby Hall, corner of Ashby and Adeline streets, last evening, the platform of the Berkeley branch of the Unity League of Alameda County, which opposes the division of Alameda county, was by unanimous vote approved and adopted as the sentiment of the club. It was expressed as the opinion of the organization that division of Alameda county means higher taxes and more expense for all parts of the county, and it was decided that all citizens should be advised to vote "no" at the election on February 7.

BERKELEY, Jan. 31.—A separated city and county of Berkeley would add to taxes because it would add to Berkeley's city government the entire costs of maintaining a county government. In addition Berkeley would be put to the necessity of erecting new county buildings and would have to maintain one, and more likely two, superior courts.

Realization of the dangers which county division will bring to Berkeley is shown today with the action of two large civic organizations, which come out with appeals to the voters, asking that Alameda county be not divided and that a "no" vote is given on February 7. The West Berkeley Improvement club and the Berkeley branch of the Unity League of Alameda County are the organizations.

VOTE "NO" IS SAFE THING.

The Unity League statement is signed by Thomas E. Caldecott, president, and D. M. Newell, secretary, while that of the West Berkeley club carries the signatures of Charles Robinson and Thomas E. Dowd. The former statement says:

"Vote 'No.' That is the only safe thing to do. Vote 'No.'

"Because Piedmont and Emeryville are threatened with extinction they are entitled to our sympathy and our active assistance in order to protect them in their rights. We ought to vote against forcing them into a merger against their will. This would be unfair and contrary to American principles.

"Because the only way to cut expenses in any proposed new city and county of Berkeley would be to starve our schools and decrease the salaries of our teachers, rob dependent widows and orphans and cripple the welfare work of our city.

"Because Berkeley, if separated from Alameda county, would be compelled to copy the old county records at a heavy expense.

MEANS HEAVY COSTS.

"Because Berkeley would have to put up new buildings, that would cost hundreds of thousands of dollars.

"Because Berkeley would incur installation charges and expenses that would burden our people.

"Because the support of the University of California would be endangered. With a solid delegation of twelve Alameda county members of the legislature it takes a hard fight to get proper appropriations. If Berkeley had only two or three members in the legislature it would cripple us in our struggle at Sacramento for university funds.

"Because it would render difficult, if not impossible, any future effort to get all of our Eastbay communities together in providing for water, power and transportation facilities that are absolutely necessary for the growth of our community.

"Because it would cost double to get to Oakland by street car and possibly three times as much to get to Alameda city, the street cars collecting an extra fare every time a county line is crossed. We find this out when we go to Richmond.

AT EXPENSE OF SCHOOLS.

"The best-informed experts in Alameda county declare that if any saving is attempted it will have to be at the expense of the public schools (chiefly in teachers' salaries) the allowances for widows and orphans and by gouging the public welfare funds, to the sanctity of all which Berkeley stands solemnly pledged by her history and traditions.

"Before equipment could be completed for the proposed city and county of Berkeley the outlay would reach a million and a half, and long-term bonds to carry the debt would be issued, calling for hundreds of thousands of dollars in interest.

"It is simply nonsense to claim that Berkeley can make a saving by becoming a city and county. Common sense will tell you that it will cost the same territory more to have three county governments than it would to continue the one county government now in operation.

"The claim that this means consolidation is fallacious. It is division which is proposed, not consolidation. It is simply piling one government on another, and making more expenses for all concerned."

'LOWER TAXES' IS LABEL PUT ON DIVISION BAIT

Judge Wood Tells of Chance for Increased Expenses Under Charter Scheme.

Claims for a saving under county division, with three counties instead of one and the entire cost of county government saddled onto Oakland, were declared to be fallacies by Judge Fred V. Wood in an address at Lakeside Hall, 609 East Fourteenth street, last night.

"All the people of the civilized world are trying to wrest the governmental power from the few, and now with a bait labeled 'lower taxes' the people of Oakland are urged to accept the thing that the judgment of mankind is condemning," Judge Wood said at the close of an address that was enthusiastically received. Excerpts from the speech follow:

"The manager, under the plan, can discharge policemen, firemen and other employees without a hearing, but they call it civil service because on demand within five days the discharged employee is entitled to a statement in writing that he is fired.

"Think it over. Extravagance and corruption in public affairs are always the result of giving too much power, not too little, to officials. The unlimited power given by this charter to four councilmen and their manager multiplies the opportunities for extravagance and corruption a hundred fold.

"The charter omits the ordinary provisions limiting the expenditures of public moneys. It provides, among other things, for a warehouse with the employees and assistants, wherein shall be stored all materials and supplies for everything in the county. These supplies, aggregating hundreds of thousands of dollars, may be purchased without competitive bidding, at any price, from the favorites of the machine in power.

"After all the people get what they demand from the officers they elect. If you destroy your right to choose those officers don't complain if they ignore your demands. Since when did the manager of a big corporation listen to the demand of a little stockholder?

"It is not long since they advocated the recall of judges and other officers upon the ground that it would make officials more responsive to the will of the people. Now they have turned about face and propose that the people shall surrender, not only their power to recall, but their power to select as well. Take, for example, the board of education, who are to be selected for six years, not elected, and are not subject to recall. This same board will have charge of every school, all the teachers and employees and control of the annual expenditure of three millions of dollars."

Oakland Merchants Resist Proposed Split in County

back. The working people have not a ghost of a show for fair play. It takes away government by or for the people and puts the entire government into the hands of one man for whom we do not even vote. What kind of representative government is it when the voters are disfranchised from electing every member of the administration. The only privilege left to the voter is that of voting for his ward councilman. Four ward councilmen appoint a manager and a mayor, and they appoint anybody they choose and pay them what they please. The charter is a halter around the neck of everybody who works for a living.

WHO IS TO PAY FOR DUPLICATION?

Morris Schneider, merchant—All this talk about decrease of taxes under the proposed charter is just dreaming. I have studied the charter, and in nearly every instance the pay of city employees is left open for the one-man manager to determine. Where is the expert who can forecast the mind of a political manager? Where is the vast sum of money to come from to pay the rest of the county for their share of county property and for the duplicating of all the county records from 1852 to date? I learn from good authority that the replacing of the records will cost nearly a million dollars. All this will have to come out of the taxpayers' pockets. Even the Assessor, whom the people elect, has to do whatever the manager orders him to do. The talk of saving under such a charter is the veriest nonsense. A system like that would wreck the credit of any business man.

M. J. Coakley, meat market—No doubt the benevolent gentlemen who are behind the proposed charter would like to run our city government and relieve us of all civic duties except that of paying the load of taxes they would surely create for us if they got their own way. But I think citizens generally would prefer to elect their own mayor, councilmen and managers of departments. When I say this I refer to the fact that the same benevolent gentlemen have so fixed matters that a voter does not vote for a city government, but merely for one councilman from his ward. I am not ready to accept such unlimited benevolence, being quite willing to exercise my constitutional right of self-government.

READY TO DEFEND OAKLAND'S PRESTIGE.

John F. Fox, piano dealer—I have acquainted myself with the proposed charter and I certainly shall not vote for it. In my humble way I have done all I could to build up the city where I have done business for many years, and nothing could induce me to do anything that will minimize the prestige of Oakland. There is no excuse at all for dividing a great, prosperous county of which we are proud to be the big unit. It is a piece of folly and in my judgment is purely a political scheme to further selfish interests. Oakland is going along all right.

Mrs. E. C. Sweet, Oakland Civic Center—Oakland has spent much money, time and effort to building up a splendid civil service system. It is folly to break up such an efficient organization. I see nothing in the proposed charter but the whims of a few politicians. It would mean disintegration, not consolidation. I shall certainly vote "no."

H. E. Kemp, financial agent—If oil stock jobbers were to play with figures as the friends of county division are doing they would be arrested under the blue sky law. When they wanted consolidation of the whole county they promised us a saving of $650,000. Later, when they are howling for dividing the county, they promise a million in savings. Any sane man knows that the proposed charter with its hundreds of opportunities (?) will result in a big raise in taxes. How much, no man can say. I know personally eleven people who were strong for county consolidation, but every one is just as strongly opposed to tying up Oakland in a corner by itself.

James Sica, Bakery Salesmen organization—The more I learn of the new charter the more I am convinced it is framed solely for the benefit of rich men and politicians. It steals our right to vote for those who are to run our city government. We could be taxed to death under that charter, and we could not recall the biggest grafter in the bunch. It will not get many workingmen's votes.

A. H. Koppernd, contractor—The people who inspired that charter (I don't mean the Freeholders) carefully prepared a charter that would break down that democracy that was born after the war. It breaks up civil service because that's a sort of highly-organized form of labor. It abolishes the Mayor whom the people elect and substitutes a Manager who is appointed by four ward councilmen, and who will have to do politics to hold his job. Any businessman can see that taxes must go up under such a free-and-easy charter that permits one man to hire, fire and pay just as he pleases. If the situation were not serious it would be farcical.

RESIDENCE WITH WILD ANIMALS TOLD BY WOMAN

Mrs. Snow Tells Oakland Club Members of Journey in Darkest Africa.

Housekeeping in the jungles and daily living with private circuses of wild animals were described by Mrs. H. A. Snow, wife of the South African explorer and collector, before 150 clubwomen who honored her at luncheon at Hotel Oakland yesterday. The Soroptimist club, composed of business and professional women, were hostesses to the woman who shared with her husband the dangers and thrills of two years in the jungles.

The guests represented the Pioneer Women of Oakland, the California Writers' club, the Business and Professional Women's club and Oakland Civic center. Miss Violet Richardson, president of the Soroptimist club, presided. Following her address Mrs. Snow was bombarded with questions from the guests.

Mrs. Snow penetrated into parts of Africa never visited before by a white woman. She told of the camp awakening one morning to be surrounded with tigers, leopards, snakes, lions and every type of wild beast of the jungle, and the efforts which were made to frighten them away. Some of them are a part of the collection which Snow has brought back.

Although women perform the labor in Africa, according to Mrs. Snow, white women are not permitted to work because of their high position. The speaker related some of the thrills of her two years' travels and the methods of taking the animals and moths whic' form so valuable part of the collection. The difficulties of travel and housekeeping were told by her.

In China all land belongs to the state, and a trfling sum per acre, scarcely altered through long centuries, is paid as rent.

$30 Fine for Pure Food Law Violator

C. H. Sindlar, proprietor of a pie factory at 1526 East Twelfth street, was fined $30 today by Police Judge Mortimer Smith for violating the pure food act. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

An analysis of the filler which he is alleged to have used in making lemon cream pies was made by L. E. J. Lea, inspector of state laboratories, and showed that it contained dirt. His report also stated that the filler was adulterated and mislabeled.

This is the third time that Sindlar has appeared in the police courts on similar charges. He was arrested yesterday by C. B. Heizer, food and drug inspector for the California state board of health.

Judge Smith told Sindlar that if he appeared in court on a similar charge he would either be given a larger fine or a jail sentence.

BLACKHAND NOTE THREATENS DEATH OF WOMAN'S SON

Demand for $55 Made Upon Woman: Boy's Life Is Menaced.

An anonymous letter, purported to have been written by a local "blackhand" society, demanding $55, was received early today by Mrs. Boerchel, 2930 Chestnut street, and is being investigated by the police.

The communication, which was left on the front porch of the woman's home, declares that unless she leaves the money in a vacant lot at Fortieth and Grove streets Thursday morning, at 7:30 o'clock, her son will be killed.

While the authorities are inclined to believe that the letter is a hoax, written by boys, a thorough investigation is under way. After Mrs. Boerchel found the letter she turned it over to Captain of Inspectors Richard McSorley, who assigned Detective William Kyle to the case.

The letter was written on tablet paper and was folded and placed on the woman's porch. The words were badly spelled and it was signed "The Blackhand."

"If you fail to comply with this demand, or tell the police," the letter said, "your son will be killed."

Japanese Temple, Priceless Relics Destroyed in Fire

(By Associated Press)

TOKIO, Dec. 29.—(By Mail).—The Yenkyoji Temple, erected some 1500 years ago and one of the richest in historical relics in the empire, has been totally ruined by fire. The temple was located in the village of Sosa, Hyogo Prefecture, and in the feudal era was the object of personal devotion and worship by the successive emperors.

The amount of the damages has not been estimated, as some of the relics destroyed by fire were almost priceless. The government forest in the rear of the temple grounds was partially destroyed.

The cause of the fire has been traced to a senior priest who is alleged to have committed arson out of a desire to end his own life.

According to a story carried in the Jiji, the priest, while burning incense before the altar, turned to a fellow priest and asked him to leave the world with him. The refusal of his friend to agree to his strange proposal threw him in such a fury that he at once snatched the incense box and threw it on the floor.

The Kroonland was hove to for ten hours last Tuesday when she ran into a hurricane, and for nearly a week she was obliged to buffet continuous gales while heavy seas frequently swept the decks.

JAPANESE GIRL IS VALEDICTORIAN AT HIGH SCHOOL

Yuki Furuta, Storm Center of Row, Delivers Address; Students Protested.

America offers the greatest educational opportunities for foreigners of any country in the world, declared Yuki Furuta, an American-born Japanese girl, who last night, as valedictorian, addressed students of the Oakland High school at commencement exercises held in the civic auditorium.

"The American educational system is adapted to the temperament of the pupil. It is designed to make men and not scholars and to accomplish this in the shortest possible time," she declared.

Miss Furuta is the girl about whom a storm of objection was raised by students several weeks ago when it was announced that she had been selected to represent the class at the graduation exercises because of her superior standing in school. A petition to rescind her selection was prepared by students, circulated and then withdrawn.

As she spoke last night she was enthusiastically applauded by pupils of the school, including her classmates and others who made up the audience. In making her address the girl alluded to herself as "not a foreigner," but made no reference to the unpleasant incident.

Sixty-one students were graduated from the Oakland High school. This brings the total of pupils graduated since the institution was founded in 1872 up to 5000. Up to 1908, when the present principal, Charles W. Keyes, took office, the total was 2621. Since then 2379 have been graduated in thirteen and one-half years.

Music to Be Program Feature At Eastern Star

MISS EDNA KINELL, vocalist, one of several artists who will appear on a program to be presented by Westgate Chapter, Eastern Star, in the Masonic Temple, Berkeley, tomorrow night.

Vocal and Instrumental Numbers to Be Presented by Westgate Chapter.

BERKELEY, Jan. 31.—Westgate Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, will entertain its members and friends at a musical and dramatic program to be given tomorrow night at the Masonic Temple.

The performing artists will be Miss Winnifred Forbes, well-known violinist, who recently came to Berkeley from the east; Miss Alice Tyrell, dancer and pupil of Mrs. Jean Bartlett; Miss Edna Kinell, vocalist, and pupil of Mrs. Gilbert Moyle, and Howard I. Milholland, reader, impersonator and baritone singer.

The numbers to be given by Milholland, who has a reputation as an entertainer in the bay section, will include "Pals" and "Out Where the West Begins," vocal solos; "Bills in Trouble" and "A Soliloquy," impersonations, and "The Night Wind," "When de Folks Am Gone" and "If I Can Be By Her," readings.

The entertainment, which is planned as a social event for members and guests, has been arranged by Mrs. Marie C. Glover, worthy matron of the chapter, and E. J. McCullagh, worthy patron. The program will start at 8:30 o'clock.

S. F. Merchant Dies In Berkeley Home

BERKELEY, Jan. 31.—John James Walker, assistant manager of a San Francisco drygoods firm, died last night at his home, 1607 Sonoma avenue, following an illness of some time. He was 64 years old and a native of Canada. Walker is survived by a widow, Mrs. Rose L. Walker, and a daughter, Rosalie.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning at St. Ambrose church. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

PESSIMISTIC OVER STARVING RUSSIA

LONDON, Jan. 31 (By the Associated Press).—Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, who is closely identified with Russian relief, expressed himself in a pessimistic manner in a statement yesterday regarding the famine in Russia.

"It is too late to save the people of Russia," he said. "Whatever is done, they will die by the millions." Asked if there was any truth in the reports of cannibalism, Dr. Nansen replied that there was, but said it was not widespread as yet."

MONROE'S HOME TO BE RESCUED FROM RAGMEN

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (By the Associated Press).—The old two-story brick house at 63 Prince street, where James Monroe, fifth President of the United States, died, is to be cleaned and preserved for its historical interest. The American Scenic and Historic Society has announced that negotiations for its purchase are nearing completion. The building now is a storage warehouse. We do a quality of work that is unsurpassed anywhere in the United States and maintain the ONLY fully equipped plant in the Bay Section.

We have made a long and careful study to perfect the dyeing of carpets and the restoration of faded colors. We can completely eradicate old color and redye any shade you desire or perfectly match any color combination. We also remake or resize rugs to the desired proportion.

The materials that we use in cleaning are the purest obtainable and absolutely free from any injurious element.

Better Quality Work at Lower Prices

We will be pleased to have our rug and carpet experts call and consult with you without the slightest obligation on your part, cheerfully giving you advice on dyeing or remaking rugs and carpets, also furnishing estimates.

You will find our prices are uniformly lower for a much better quality of work. We are equipped to give East Bay customers quick, dependable service through our Oakland office. A telephone call will bring prompt service.

Restores Original Color to Gray Hair

Co-Lo restores the natural color, life and luster to gray and faded hair in a manner nature approves—a scientific process perfected by Prof. John H. Austin of Chicago, over 40 years a hair and scalp specialist.

Secrets of Co-Lo Success

Co-Lo is a wonderful liquid. Clear, odorless, greaseless. Without lead or sulphur. Without sediment. Will not wash or rub off. Will not injure hair or scalp. Pleasing and simple to apply. Cannot be detected like ordinary hair tints and dyes. Will not cause the hair to split or break off.

Co-Lo Hair Restorer for every natural shade of hair—A6, for black and dark shades of brown; A7, for jet black hair, A8, for medium brown shades; A9, for light brown drab and auburn shades.

Smart Set Plan Parties for Dinner Dance

For the evening of February 18 Mr. and Mrs. William G. Volkmann are planning a big party for the dinner dance to be given at the Claremont Country club. The Volkmanns have asked about ninety friends from among the exclusive set here to be their guests, and the party will be one of the largest arranged for the occasion at the clubhouse. Another party, which will include about a score of the smart set, will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Flint, and many of the club members are planning to have just a few guests for the evening. There will also be several no-host parties.

The dinner dance at the clubhouse will be the last big social function at the country club before the Lenten season starts, and is being looked forward to with much pleasure by the club members and the invited guests.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart Gordon, whose wedding was a brilliant social event of the past week, are on their way East, and after a stay of several days in New York will go to Washington, D. C., where they will visit Gordon's grandfather, General David Stuart Gordon, U. S. A. The couple are planning to be in Washington about two weeks, and there will no doubt be much entertaining planned for them by Gordon's relatives. Gordon and his bride, who was Miss Leonore Pfister, will return to California in about a month and will take up their residence in Santa Maria. Mrs. Gordon is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph James Pfister of Berkeley, and considered one of the beautiful girls in society here.

MISS CAROLINE AVERY, who recently arrived from New York for a visit with her relatives, the A. W. Ransoms, in Claremont. (McCullagh Photo)

MRS. DURANT ENTERTAINED.

During the coming month there will be a round of social affairs given to welcome Mrs. R. Clifford Durant, who arrived a few days ago from New York, where she passed several weeks following her return from Europe in company with Mrs. George Wilhelm. Mrs. Durant will only be here a couple of months, and will then go back to the eastern metropolis, where she has taken an apartment and will make her home for a while.

Next Thursday afternoon Mrs. Burr Eastwood will give a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Durant, and on the afternoon of February 9 an elaborate bridge luncheon will be given by Mrs. Henry Rosenfeld at the St. Francis hotel. Mrs. William Ede and Mrs. Edwards Engs are also arranging entertainments for the charming matron.

This afternoon Mrs. Jack Okell was hostess at a luncheon at which she entertained a group of the younger matrons and girls who meet occasionally during the winter for bridge. Mrs. Okell entertained the club members at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marion Walsh, on Monte Vista avenue, and after luncheon a game of bridge furnished the diversion. Some of those present were Mesdames Ward Dawson, Harry Magee, George W. Baker Jr., Robert Gemmell Adams, Herbert Hall, Misses Elva Ghirardelli and Helen Rodolph.

CARDS ISSUED FOR TEA.

Mrs. Thomas Malvern Dargie has sent out invitations for the afternoon of February 9, when she will preside at a tea in honor of Mrs. Harold Wilcox Beard, one of this winter's most attractive young brides. The hostess has bidden friends from both sides of the bay to the Palace hotel and will be assisted in receiving by her sister, Mrs. Henry Eugene Jackson. Later on Miss Dart Tinkham is planning to entertain for the bride, who is a favorite among the younger members of society in the Eastbay region.

VISITORS RETURN TO EASTERN HOME.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hillyard have returned to New York after a delightful visit with the former's parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Rich of this city. They were entertained by many friends and among their diversions were interesting motor trips around the bay country. Mr. Hillyard is representative of a large manufacturing concern in New York.

Among the recent social events was an elaborate luncheon given by Lieutenant and Mrs. C. A. Anderson of Fulton street, Berkeley, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Marshall and daughters, the Misses Vivian and Lena Marshall, of Lawrence, Kas., who are touring California on a pleasure trip before making their permanent home in this city. Intimate friends also shared their hospitality.

Places were set for Mrs. J. T. McCarron, Mrs. Alexander Jefford, Mrs. Annie E. Logan, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Marshall, Misses Marshall, Ray McCarron, Walter Pendergast of Vallejo, Norman Coverdill, Barret Anderson, Theodore Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. William Coverdill.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Durgin Jr. of Petaluma are the parents of a daughter, born last Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Durgin Sr. went up from Berkeley to greet their first grandchild. The baby is also the first grandchild on the maternal side, his mother being the former Christine Coffee of San Francisco. Since their marriage the Durgins have lived in Petaluma. Young Durgin is a well-known university man and a member of a pioneer family in the college city, his mother being a leader in Berkeley club circles.

Farewells were said last evening to Mrs. Frederick Wolfe, who, with her children, left for the East, and about the middle of the coming month will sail for Europe. Entertainments have been given for Mrs. Wolfe, who will probably be away from here about a year. Later in the spring she will be joined abroad by her husband, and while they are traveling through the different European countries their children will be in school in France. Yesterday afternoon the last of the social affairs in honor of Mrs. Wolfe was given by Mrs. Howard Hamilton Hart, who presided at an elaborate bridge tea at her home in Claremont.

A luncheon in honor of Miss Laura Miller, popular bride-elect, has been planned by Miss Helen Brack, who will entertain at her home across the bay on the afternoon of February 9. Miss Brack has invited about twenty of the younger girls to be her guests. This afternoon Miss Hatherly Brittain gave a luncheon for Miss Miller and entertained at the John Brittain home on Blair avenue. The luncheon was followed by bridge.

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

Embarrassing Hairs Can Be Quickly Removed

(Beauty Culture)

Hairs can be easily banished from the under-arms, neck and face by this quick, painless method: Mix into a stiff paste some powdered delatone and water, spread on hairy surface and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be free from hair or blemish. Excepting in very stubborn growths, one application is sufficient. To avoid disappointment, buy the delatone in an original package and mix fresh.—Advertisement.

STANFORD DRIVE FOR FUNDS OPENS WITH BIG GAINS

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 31.—Latest returns show that Stanford is scoring in one of the most important contests ever waged on the campus—the raising of the students' quota of the "First Million for Stanford" campaign. The result of the first inning of the 250 volunteer student campaigners is to be announced tomorrow and the announcement is being awaited with interest by both faculty and undergraduates.

The students themselves have assumed their own quota of $200,000 and declare that before the campaign is completed they expect to have every undergraduate a party to the biggest fund of this sort ever raised by the student body of a university.

"Thirty years ago there was a wheat field where this university now stands," President Ray Lyman Wilbur told the student body, "but in that period of time the university has not only developed but it has expressed its influence in every great development that has taken place in the west."

Judge John T. Nourse, member of the board of trustees of the university, presided. Following the introductory talk by President Wilbur, A. E. Roth, comptroller, was called on. He outlined the purpose for which the "First Million" is to be raised—namely that of providing the university with an adequate faculty pay roll. The campaign will extend over a period of four days.

Speakers Will Aid Jewsih Relief Work

Jacob Billikopf, a member of the national staff of the American Jewish Relief Committee, will speak tomorrow night at Temple Sinai, Twenty-eighth and Webster streets, in the interests of the committee's campaign for funds with which to carry on relief work.

Rev. Dr. Rudolph I. Coffee, rabbi at Temple Sinai, ane one of the outstanding figures in American Jewish relief committee work in Oakland, will preside at the meeting. A. S. Lavenson, regional director of the $14,000,000 drive, the Eastbay section's quota of which is set at $500,000, will assist Rabbi Coffee.

The French government has offered 50,000 francs reward for the capture of a writer of letters. This person, the vilest "poison pen" wielder of history, has set afoot an era of mass madness in the city of Tulle, France. Prominent men and women have committed suicide, others have gone to the insane asylums on account of revelations of this writer. Read about it in next Sunday's TRIBUNE Magazine.

FIREMAN HANGS HEAD-DOWN, SAVES 5 IN BLAZE

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Swinging head downward from the roof of a burning house in Brooklyn while companions held his feet, Edward Steihler, a fireman, rescued a woman and her four children from a window on the top floor after escape by the stairway had been cut off.

Lieutenant Edward Gross, another fireman, who wrapped a wet towel over his mouth and nose and groped his way through dense smoke to the apartment, found the family bewildered and screaming for help. One by one he passed them to his dangling comrade; then himself was lifted to the roof. All had barely left the roof when it burst into flames.

The rescued woman was Mrs. Regina Steinberg.

$2,000,000 DOCK FIRE CONTROLLED

SUPERIOR, Wis., Jan. 31 (By the Associated Press).—A spectacular fire at the Great Northern ore dock No. 2 at Allouez, a suburb, which for a time threatened other ore docks, was brought under control early today through combined efforts of Superior firemen and a crew from Duluth. The loss may reach $2,000,000.

So intense was the heat that ice in Lake Superior was melted for a considerable distance, and firemen were forced to roll in cold water to keep their clothes from burning.

An added danger was the repeated explosion of what firemen said was oxygen gas in the ore pockets. As the gas in each pocket ignited flames and sparks were sent in all directions.

DUCKS TO 'KEEP HOUSE, SO MEN CAN STUDY THEM

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

FARMINGDALE, N. Y., Jan. 31.—Thirty housekeeping apartments for ducks have been built at the state agriculture institute here, D. A. Aherns, head of the poultry department, announced today.

The unwilling duck housewives are objects of an experiment in "trap nesting" from which Aherns hopes to derive a set of rules by which the egg-laying abilities of a duck can be judged by her physical characteristics.

MRS. ASQUITH IN U. S. TO LECTURE

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Willing to comment on almost any topic except politics and Premier Lloyd George, Margot Asquith, wife of Herbert H. Asquith, former British premier, arrived on the Carmania last night for her visit to the United States. Her disinclination to discuss politics was attributed to being "out of touch." She came here to lecture.

Mrs. Asquith said she thought prohibition was a good thing.

"I don't know," she added, "that it works very evenly between the rich and the poor, but it surely makes for efficiency."

Camp Fire Girls in Piedmont Organize

Preliminary organization of a Campfire in Piedmont was undertaken when Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, president of Mills College, and Mrs. A. S. Kibbe, president of the Eastbay Guardians' Association, addressed mothers and daughters in the Interdenominational Church hall. "Cooperation Between Mother and Daughter" was Dr. Reinhardt's subject. "Ideals of Camp Fire" were outlined by Mrs. Kibbe. A group of girls put on the candle lighting ceremonial. They were: Winifred Case, Gertrude Elm, Elizabeth Herrick, Ruth McCoy, Virginia McNeal, Phyllis Markham, Eunice Merrill, Dorothy Norton.

Mrs. Wallace Alexander called the meeting. Names of prospective members were registered with Mrs. Clinton Walker.

HE DARKENED HIS GRAY HAIR

Tells How He Did It.

Mr. J. A. McCrea, a well-known resident of California, who was called Daddy and Grandpa on account of his white hair, and who darkened it with a home-made mixture, recently made the following statement:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."—Advertisement.

Four Out of Every Five

Four people out of every five who pass the age of forty, and thousands younger, are marked by Pyorrhea for its victims.

Does that include you?

Startling as these figures are, they are accurate statistics which your dentist will verify.

When Pyorrhea comes, it does its deadly work quickly. It loosens the gums until they recede from the teeth, which drop out or must be pulled.

It forms sinister pus pockets at the roots of the teeth. Germs breed in these pockets, then swarm throughout the system.

Ill health often follows and serious sickness.

Don't sit idly by and wait for Pyorrhea's coming. At the first danger sign, tender or bleeding gums, consult your dentist and begin using Forhan's For the Gums.

If used consistently, and used in time, Forhan's will prevent Pyorrhea or check its deadly course. It is the formula of R. J. Forhan, D. D. S.

Use Forhan's as a dentifrice every day. Brush your teeth with it regularly. It keeps the teeth and gums in a clean, healthy condition.

Don't put off buying Forhan's until tomorrow. Remember—four out of five wait too long. 35c and 60c tubes at your druggist's.

Omaha Employment Offices Besieged by Men Seeking Work in Plants.

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—Large crowds of former packing house workers gathered at employment offices in the packing plant districts seeking employment, according to reports from that section today, following the calling off of their strike in Omaha by adoption last night of a resolution at a mass meeting declaring its continuation "would cause unnecessary suffering on the part of a great number of workers."

A considerable percentage of the men had to be turned away, but according to C. R. Orchard, a member of the packers' publicity committee, they will be taken back in accordance with whatever demand for their services is made as a result of livestock conditions. Two hundred former employees were put to work last Thursday, Friday and Saturday by Armour & Company, he said.

Jacob H. Davis, president of the District Council No. 5 of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's Union, said:

"The packing house workers of Omaha have received a temporary setback, but the spirit displayed throughout the eight weeks of struggle and sacrifice will encourage workers in all lines of industry by its show of solidarity. The packing house workers have again demonstrated that they are real American citizens, and need to apologize to no one for their conduct during the struggle."

According to Davis, a conference of international butcher workmen heads was held in Chicago last week when it was agreed that strikers in each city where a strike was in progress should have power to terminate it.

Pioneer Days Are Recalled by Pictures

Scenes reminiscent of early days in the Eastbay district were shown to members of the Oakland Pioneers at a general meeting and election held in their headquarters Friday night. The scenes, lantern slides, included views of schoolhouses, pioneer residents and other reminders of "old times" in this city.

The entire board of officers were re-elected by acclamation, making it their third term in office. They are: Fred L. Button, president; Rene J. Cavasso, secretary; Chas. G. Reed, vice-president; John S. Gilmore, treasurer; William E. Blote, second vice-president; John J. Naegle, marshal.

At the conclusion of the meeting the entire membership posed for a group photograph to be added to the records of the organization.

PAINS ACROSS SMALL OF BACK

Husband Helped in Housework. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Strong

Foster, Oregon.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for pains across the small of my back. They bothered me so badly that I could do my work only with the help of my husband. One day he saw the 'ad.' in our paper telling what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing for women, so I began to take it. It has helped me wonderfully. I am feeling fine, do all my housework and washing for seven in the family. I have been irregular too, and now am all right. I am telling my friends what it has done for me and am sure it will do good for others. You can use this letter as a testimonial. I will stand up for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound any time."—Mrs. Wm. Juhnke, Foster, Oregon.

Doing the housework for a family of seven is some task. If you, as a housewife, are troubled with backache, irregularities, are easily tired out and irritable, or have other disagreeable ailments caused by some weakness, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. Let it help you.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

DETROIT RIVER BRIDGE PLTNS GIVEN BOOST

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 30.—First actual steps toward bridging the Detroit river between this city and Canada have been taken. Engineers have started borings at several points between Twelfth street and River Rouge, on the American side, and between Windsor and Ojibway, on the Canadian side, to determine the location of the structure.

The borings will find bedrock on which to place tower piers, on which cables will be anchored 100 feet below the surface of Detroit river.

The span will be 1802 feet, the longest single span bridge in the world. The present record for length is held by the cantilever bridge at Quebec, which is 1800 feet long.

Surveys to fixe harbor lines will be started within a few days. Actual construction of the bridge will start with the coming of favorable weather in the spring, it is announced.

The bridge will carry vehicular and street car traffic and also afford walks for pedestrians.

HARDING EXTRAVAGANT.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31. — Representative David H. Kinchelos, of Kentucky, declared in an address at the Marquette Club that the administration of President Harding had broken its pledge of economy and had become the most extravagant in peace time that the country ever had.

MACHINE SHOPS FOR JUNIOR HIGH

The first of Oakland's junior high schools to be equipped with modern machine shops will be the new Lockwood school,, bids for the construction of which were opened yesterday by the Board of Education, according to an announcement today of Charles W. Dickey, supervising architect, who drew the plans for the structure.

Oakland and Columbus, O., rank next to New York and Cleveland in the number of junior high schools in operation. Both this city and Columbus have an equal number.

The new Lockwood plant will utilize the existing grammar school building, which is comparatively new and of modern and substantial construction, Dickey said.

The additions will consist of two connected two-story buildings in the rear of the present courts and with one-story flanking buildings at either side of the main structure. It is planned that eventually the size of the two-story building will be doubled and a large gymnasium and library will be added. This will require an additional $150,000, which will have to be provided for by an extra bond issue. Dickey pointed out.

MAN STRANGLES BOBCAT WITH BARE HANDS

LUDLOW, Vt., Jan. 31. — John Sheehan has earned the distinction of being the first man in the district to kill a bob-cat with his bare hands. Sheehan, with Arthur Conners, was climbing a mountain trail near here when a bob-cat disputed the right of way. As it sprang at the man, Sheehan gripped its throat. His hands were badly lacerated by the cat's claws, but he held on until it was dead. Local hunters say this is the first instance in their experience of a bob-cat attacking a man.

Connolly to Submit His Defense Tonight

The second hearing of the appeal of former Patrolman Michael Connolly against his dismissal will be held tonight before the Civil Service Board.

The appeal of Patrolman Daniel Farrow against dismissal will also be set tonight for future hearing, probably next week.

Connolly's side of the case will be heard tonight, and he will be attended by an attorney and many witnesses. Last Tuesday night the other side, represented by City Attorney Leon E. Gray, introduced various witnesses to show the alleged misdoings of Connolly while in the police department. These allegations will be answered tonight.

GOVERNOR TALKS TO FIREMEN.

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 31.—Fire chiefs of Southern California cities, numbering about thirty, meeting here in annual conference, discussed methods of preventing fires. A State law giving municipal fire chiefs the same authority as the State fire marshal was advocated by Chief R. J. Scott of Los Angeles. Governor Wm. D. Stephens delivered an address to the chiefs at a banquet at which he was the guest of honor.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes —Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.—Advertisement.

GOVERNMENT AID IN REHABILITATING HAWAIIANS OUGHT

Prof. Elwood Meade of U. of C. Will Assist in the Work.

HONOLULU, T. H., Jan. 31.—Financial aid of the federal government will be sought in the movement to rehabilitate the vanishing Hawaiian race, according to a decision reached by the Hawaiian Homes Commission appointed to carry out the project in accordance with the act of Congress.

George P. Cooke, executive secretary of the commission, conferred with Colonel C. H. Birdseye, chief topographical engineer of the department of the interior, while the latter was here inspecting topographical work, over the prospect of federal aid in developing irrigation for the settlement farms on Molokai, the leper island, where the initial steps toward rehabilitation will be taken.

The cost of the irrigation system is estimated at not less than $3,000,000 by Jorgen Jorgensen, commission engineer. It will necessitate 100,000 feet of tunneling through the volcanic structure of Molokai and presents an additional problem to the commission, for Jorgensen stated that the work could be done only by Japanese, and the employment of alien labor by the commission is forbidden by the homes act. He recommended that the commission should take measures to obtain permission to employ Japanese labor, but the commission has taken no action as yet.

Members of the faculty of the University of Hawaii are engaged in making a survey of marketing and food conditions in the territory for the benefit of the commission and its wards. The survey results will be used as a guide to indicate what crops should be raised by the settlers.

Professor Elwood Mead of the college of agriculture of the University of California, has consented to come to Hawaii in May to advise the commission, Cooke announced. Dr. Mead has acted as the head of the California State Farm Development Board, and Cooke said that he would be able to render valuable assistance in the Hawaiian rehabilitation project.

BOMB WRECKS HOME.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Jan. 31.—The home of J. W. Balbridge, a packing-house employee, was damaged here tonight by what the police said was an explosion of a bomb under the front porch. Five men are held in connection with the explosion, all strikers, police said. No one was injured.

A Blemished Complexion

You can remove those embarrassing skin blemishes by a simple and inexpensive home treatment—one that does not require tedious hours of application.

Bathe your face with warm water and Black and White Soap. Dry and lightly apply Black and White Beauty Bleach. Allow to remain on overnight. Repeat this treatment for several nights and your skin will be soft and smooth, and the blemishes disappear. Should your skin seem oversensitive or the least bit irritated, apply Black and White Cleansing Cream after your Beauty Treatment.

All drug and department stores can supply you with Black and White Beauty Bleach, 50c; Soap, 25c; and Black and White Cleansing Cream, 25c and 50c. Write Dept. J., Plough, Memphis, Tenn., for a copy of your Birthday Book and leaflet, which tells all about Black and White toilet preparations.

COLONIZATION OF CONGO BASIN BY BELGIUM TOLD

Engineer on S. F. Visit Tells of March of Civilization in Darkest Africa.

An ambitious scheme for the development and colonization of that part of the world which Stanley described as "Darkest Africa," is now being initiated in the Congo basin by the Belgian government, according to J. F. Tieleman, mining engineer from the Katanga Copper Mines, who is visiting in the bay cities.

Tieleman, who has been inspecting and studying the methods of American copper mines in Montana, and at Jerome, Arizona, declares that the copper deposits of the Belgian Congo are the richest on earth. Discussing the march of civilization as it penetrates the fastnesses of central Africa, he said:

"A Royal Commission is at present at work on the Congo river, Africa's greatest waterway, and is making a survey which is intended to make the Congo much more navigable and suited for commerce. The Congo, like all other African rivers, is subject to occasional shallows and cataracts, and it is the task of the Royal Commission to see how these difficulties to navigation can be best overcome by canals and a system of locks. The viewpoint is held by Belgian experts that the Congo river can be made to play an important role for Central Africa.

"Though it may sound paradoxical to say so, an American would not feel so very strange in the Congo colony for he sees on all sides quantities of machinery, automobiles and other articles that have been manufactured in the United States.

"The Congo offers a great field for American enterprise and investment, and there are many American engineers at work on the copper fields, and practically all the agricultural machinery now being imported into the Congo comes from the United States.

"The development of the Congo territory is going to mean great things for the world, from the economic point of view. Such commodities as rubber, cotton, copper and corn will be produced in enormous quantities in years to come, and the mineral wealth of the country has not even been scratched."

Tieleman states that the Belgian government is putting down ancient superstitions, cannibalism and human sacrifice in the Congo with a strong hand.

Mexico City Taxi Men in Wild Riot

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—Disturbances in Mexico City and suburbs accompanied by a series of demonstrations staged yesterday by chauffeurs against a recent order from the governor of the federal district requiring all automobile drivers to furnish certificates of good conduct. The order followed protests that numerous chauffeurs really were robbers.

Hundreds of drivers were unable to show certificates yesterday and were deprived of their licenses. The unlicensed chauffeurs attacked other drivers and wrecked several automobiles.

One policeman was shot and seriously wounded.

Disabled Steamer Back in New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(By Associated Press.)—The steamer Princess Matoika, which was disabled at sea Monday during the heavy gale, passed into quarantine today under her own power. She was 100 miles off the coast on her way to Danzig when her rudder broke.

GOODCELL MAY BE COLLECTOR.

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 31.—Rex B. Goodcell, recommended to President Harding by Senators Shortridge and Johnson for appointment as collector of internal revenue for Los Angeles, is judge of the Superior Court of San Bernardino county. He was formerly district attorney. He campaigned in the East for Senator Johnson for President, and later made a speaking tour for Shortridge. He was formerly national head of the Eagles, a fraternal organization, and president of the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce.

The French government has offered 50,000 francs reward for the capture of a writer of letters. This person, the vilest "poison pen" writer of history, has set afoot an era of mass madness in the city of Lille, France. Prominent men and women have committed suicide, others have gone to the insane asylums on account of revelations of this writer. Read about it in next Sunday's TRIBUNE Magazine.

LOOSEN UP THAT HEAVY COLD

THE person who once gives Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey, the national cold relieving medicine a fair opportunity of proving itself, becomes a convert. He learns how really beneficial its healing and balsamic antiseptics are in helping relieve a cold, cough, grippe, bronchitis, hoarseness. Today—right now—get an economical bottle at your druggist's. It will be a well-paying investment. Children like it. Safe and economical. Keep it on hand. 30c.

Young Ladies' Sodality to Hold Annual Dansant

Two of the girls who are working for the success of the dansant to be given tonight by the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Anthony's Catholic church. They are (upper) AGNES SWEENEY and DOROTHY MOFFITT.

More Than Thousand Invitations for Function in St. Anthony's Parish Hall.

The Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Anthony's Catholic church will hold its annual dansant this evening at the parish hall, East Sixteenth street and Sixteenth avenue. More than 1000 invitations have been sent throughout the bay district, and many of the school graduates are expected to renew old acquaintances.

The young men of the parish are lending aid to the girls in an effort to make the affair a success. The hall has been decorated for the occasion. The young men assisting are Frank Connolly, Leo Hanly, Walter Singleton, Emmett Murphy, Charles Skinner, Patrick Murphy, William Brusher and Daniel Whelan.

The girls serving on the committee are the Misses Dorothy Moffitt, Mary Brusher, Charlotte Black, Mary Dowling, Kathleen Murphy, Francis McAuliffe, Mary Wheaton, Dorothy Purcell, Loretta Scales and Agnes Sweeney.

A day in Oakland's municipal woodyard brings out some tearful and ennobling sides of life. A TRIBUNE staff writer spent a day recently among the unfortunate jobless men who flock to the city's relief station. He tells about it in next Sunday's Magazine.

MRS. SANBORN IS VICTIM OF HEART ATTACK IN S. F.

Prominent Club Woman and Educator Dies; Was Former Head of Schools.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Mrs. Helen P. Sanborn, prominent in the civic, educational and club work of California, died early today at her home, 1920 Dolores street. A sudden attack of the heart was responsible for her passing, which has shocked hundreds of friends in this part of the state. No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

Friends entertained Mrs. Sanborn at dinner last night. She was apparently in the best of health. After retiring she was seized with the heart attack which proved fatal.

Mrs. Sanborn was president of the San Francisco Board of Education last year. She made a valiant fight for more and better schools in this city. She was succeeded in the executive office by F. Dohrmann, Jr., but remained a member of that official body. The success of the school bond election was accredited largely to her efforts.

During the Panama-Pacific exposition Mrs. Sanborn was president of the women's board, directing the important work of that body which was responsible for the entertainment of the distinguished women of the world along with its other duties.

The organization of the first Siberian Relief Society in San Francisco was due to Mrs. Sanborn's efforts. Thousands of dollars was raised for overseas relief under her direction.

Mrs. Sanborn was active in the suffrage campaigns which gave to California women the ballot. A sister, Miss Janet Peck of New York; an aunt, Miss Charlotte Hughes; an uncle, Roderick Hughes, survive Mrs. Sanborn. She was the widow of the late Frederick G. Sanborn, president of the Bancroft-Whitney Law Book Company. She has resided in California for more than forty years.

ATTEMPTS THEFT.

A young Chinese hold-up man attempted to snatch a gold bracelet from the wrist of Mrs. Lim Yee, 927 Webster street, but was frightened away when the woman called for help. The hold-up man came to the Yee home and asked if Yee was in. When he was told he was not he made a grab for the bracelet. Sergeant Jack Sherry searched the neighborhood but could not find the man.

Birds Flutter at Farmhouse Door as Aged Friend Dies

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, Jan. 31.—J. A. Rhomberg, 85 years old, for a half century a friend of birds and animals, was found dead today in his farm home at Specht's Ferry. Outside, the birds he had fed and sheltered fluttered and twittered about the door, unaware they had lost a friend.

Rhomberg, a pioneer settler, had made his farm a home for birds of many varieties and dogs, cats and other domestic animals.

Last summer game wardens visited the farm and ordered Rhomberg to release some of his feathered friends because they were caged part of the time. He submitted, though asserting he would continue to feed them. A number of cardinals among those released refused to leave the premises and at every opportunity flew back into the room which had been their home.

S. F. Furnace Blast Injures Two Janitors

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—An explosion of accumulated gas in the furnace room of the Zellerbach Paper company's plant, 534 Battery street, early today resulted in the painful injury of two janitors, Joseph and Chiletto Baldini, brothers, of 2046 Powell street. The men had entered the furnace room to start the fire.

When one of them applied a match there was a flare and an explosion and both were enveloped in flames. They succeeded in extinguishing the blaze and telephoning for aid. They were conveyed to the Harbor hospital where it was found that they had been severely burned about the head and face.

FOOTPADS ROB MAN OF $400.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Two footpads sprang upon John Wilson, who lives at the Y. M. C. A., while he was walking along Mission street near Stuart at midnight and forced him to the sidewalk. While one of them held him the other took $400 from him.

Change now from spotty hot air heat to ARCOLA'S hot water warmth

RIGHT NOW, in the middle of winter, is the economical time to make the change. Your Heating Expert has much more time now than he will have later on.

And you need not hesitate because the days are cold. Your furnace or stoves can remain until ARCOLA is installed and at work.

The three cold months are coming

The months when chilly bed-rooms mean discomfort for adults and the danger of coughs and colds for the children. What a satisfaction to have an American Radiator in every room, sending out its healthful hot-water warmth.

What a delight in the morning to come down to a dining-room comfortably warm. What a comfort to have all the hot water you want for washing and bathing.

All these comforts come with ARCOLA, and the installation can be made in a very few days. Telephone your Heating Expert (he may be classified as "Plumber" or "Steamfitter"); ask him for an estimate.

Do it now — today — and enjoy ARCOLA'S friendly warmth through the three cold months that are still to come.

ARCOLA'S initial cost is surprisingly low and the cost comes back to you. Thousands of ARCOLA owners testify that ARCOLA pays for itself in the fuel it saves.

NEARING THE END.

...n instructions from Peking, the China ...gation to the disarmament conference yes...day indicated that it would accept the ...cement for the settlement of the Shantung ...troversy which has been prepared under the ...uence of Secretary of State Hughes and ... Arthur J. Balfour of the British delegation. ... the same time it is announced that the naval ...committee has reached a final agreement on ... question of fortifications in the Pacific.

...hus all the questions at issue in the Pacific ...a have been disposed of, it remaining only to ... the agreements reached in final textual form ... bring them before a plenary session of the ...f delegates for approval.

...his does not mean that all the vexatious ...stions in the Pacific have been finally settled. ... Siberian problem has been eliminated by the ...er powers represented at the conference ...epting the solemn word of Japan that she ...ld end her military occupation and encroach...nts in that area as soon as a stable government ...established in Russia. But while the other ...rers had no alternative but to accept this ...mise, the Siberian situation is still clouded ... threatening.

...But with this exception—and the foreign ...rers were powerless to take any other action ... the absence of any Russian government com...ent to stand for and defend Russia's interests ...he conference has reached an agreement on ... the Pacific controversies. We cannot say how ...turing the settlements will prove. Time will ...w that. But certainly the situation is vastly ...re encouraging than it was without agreement ... any Pacific issue, with each issue constituting ...hreat of war.

...When the conference makes its final report, ...ich will be within the next few days, there will ... the usual cry from the obstructionists, but ... will be entirely proper and fair to ask them ...at plan they have to offer or whether any ...ter plan could have been devised.

...The country wants peace of mind as well as ...sation of warfare. It can have justified mental ...ace if the right adjustments have been reached ... disturbing questions. If the right settlement ...not offered, the objectors should offer the right ...; the country has had enough of the imitators ... the French "tiger." Instead of tearing down, ... them try to build up.

FOREIGN STOCK INCREASING.

...Dr. Royal O. Copeland, health commissioner ...r New York city, and the author of articles ...out your health which appear regularly on ...is page, has traced some interesting tenden...es in the vital record of New York. He be...eves they constitute a warning and a command ...r serious attention to certain social practices.

...Last year 68.7 percentage of births in that ...ty were children whose mothers were born in ...her countries. Practically the same relative ...rcentage obtained in 1911. Then came the ...ar.

...In general the figures tend to show that for...gn-born women had more children last year ...an did those of native stock, says Dr. Cope...nd. The war had its effect upon births in this ...ty, and it yet remains to be seen what effect ...e restriction of immigration is going to have.

...hen you combine the fact that the children ...rn to native mothers are less than those born ... other lands with the further fact that infant ...ortanty is greater among babies of native ...tock, there is indicated that our population is ...ecoming less American, more foreign.

...The statement that there is greater mortality ...mong infants of American-born mothers will, ...o doubt, surprise many. One reason for this is ...at foreign-born mothers generally nurse their ...hildren. This is a natural function and goes ...oward the making of a low death rate in this ...lass. It is also accountable for the low death ...ate in congested districts of the city where it ...ight be expected there would be more infant ...eaths.

...We find the death rate for children under one ...ear of age is 99 per 1,000 among infants of ...ive-born mothers, while the rate of infants of Swedish-born mothers is 58, Scotch 43, Russian 64, French 79, Austro-Hungarian 69, Bohemian 75."

Dr. Copeland believes that the tendencies found in the vital records of New York, and they are to be found on a comparable scale in other cities, support the prediction that if the decrease in families continues the prominent families will not be the descendants of those who came over in the Mayflower or with Lord Baltimore, but those whose parents landed from a modern immigrant ship.

It is a fact worth noting, also, that among those preaching birth control and attempting to excite sympathy because the authorities interfere, have foreign names, are of foreign origin and carry on their work as a part of the program of alien Socialists and other radicals.

THE WILSON FOUNDATION.

Prominent citizens of all political parties have accepted membership on the Founders' Committee of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation and the movement to raise a million-dollar memorial fund as a tribute to the former President has gotten off to a good start. The amount sought is relatively small and there should be no trouble in collecting it. Millions of Americans retain a cordial faith in the ideals and statesmanship of Mr. Wilson. The tragic end which came to his efforts to effect a concert of nations, due, many believe, to the illness which struck Mr. Wilson down at the most crucial stage of his fight, has an appeal for most citizens.

It will be interesting, however, to watch the course which this memorial movement takes, to await the final form of the proposed tribute. All citizens will be pleased at the idea of a tribute to the former President. No one will begrudge him any honor his fellow countrymen may be pleased to design. But there is a suggestion that the main object of the memorial plan is to keep alive the ideals and principles for which Mr. Wilson stood.

This is a bit puzzling. What ideals and principles? What of his preaching and of his practice is it planned to make enduring?

Is it the verbiage against war or the verbiage for and the acts of war that is to be preserved? Is it the principles of democracy which Mr. Wilson preached, or the government of autocracy which Mr. Wilson established that is to be preserved? Is it the words in praise of America which he spoke or the acts in repudiation of American interests which Mr. Wilson committed? Is it the utterances in favor of the right of a people to govern itself as it chooses or the interference in the right of a foreign nation to have the government of its choice?

There is a vast portion of the words and deeds of Woodrow Wilson that is admirable and well worth preserving; there is another large portion that has been rejected and would best be forgotten. In the plan to establish a cult of Wilsonism, if it be that, there should be careful selection of the good from the bad, yet the selection must inevitably be a matter of opinion and in large measure a matter of partisan opinion.

The feat of raising a million-dollar fund is the easiest part of the project to establish a Wilson memorial foundation.

Sir Ernest Shackleton was a courageous explorer, as well as an experienced one. He had made two trips to the Antarctic, on one of which he remained for two years and reached a point only ninety-seven miles from the South Pole. He died on the third voyage to the Antarctic, on his ship the "Quest" while anchored off South Georgia Island January 3. An intrepid man who had contributed much to geographic knowledge and equally as much to the spread of the British empire thus passed quietly of a quickly fatal ailment after having been through perils and hardships that claimed the lives of many of his companions. Sir Ernest Shackleton will be widely lamented.

President Lowell of Harvard University says football is not educative. But surely it adds a few picturesque words to the students' vocabulary of "low brow" epithets.

PLANS FOR AGRICULTURAL RELIEF.

Many suggestions have been made by speakers at the national conference now in session in Washington to consider the plight of the farmers and recommend feasible remedies. Some of the suggestions are crude, but committees are to discuss them and decide upon the substance and tenor of the resolutions to be adopted by the conference for the guidance of congress and state legislatures, as well as for that of private and voluntary agencies interested in the welfare of the most basic of all industries.

President Harding, Secretary Wallace and other speakers wisely emphasized the need of more extensive and more systematic co-operation in agriculture—co-operation in selling, in buying and even in the utilization of machinery.

Improved credit facilities for substantial farmers are certainly desirable, though not such facilities as would violate the principles of sound banking or would establish special privileges for agriculture to the detriment of business at large. Good roads, development of water transportation, reduced freight rates and encouragement of foreign trade are among the other constructive proposals advanced.

What the conference should beware of is talk about fiat money as a boon, or about a government corporation to buy grain and live stock at arbitrary prices and sell them at a loss, or about increased protective duties designed to restrict Canadian imports. All such remedies are illusory and even pernicious.

The troubles of agriculture are temporary and in another year or two, according to competent observers, the farmer should be able to earn a fair profit on his investment and a fair wage for his labor. Meanwhile everything that can be done rationally and justly to help him through the present emergency and through emergencies arising in the future should be done.—Chicago Daily News.

DAILY ALMANAC

Tuesday, January 31.

The last day in the month.... Berkeley hills look like the Sierra.... Redwood Canyon, Dublin Canyon and the heights of the back country have attracted thousands who frolicked in the snow for the first time in their lives.... It is a mean man who packs a rock in a snowball——Ben Jonson was born in 1574, and we are off again on the dates.... If this Almanac had predicted that it would snow on Sunday, folks would have said we were crazy.... That is the reason the prediction was not made.... Philip H. Stanhope, historian, was born in 1805.... John H. Boner, poet, born 1845.... Companion of Sirius was discovered by A. Clark Jr. in 1862.... A Sirius companion.

Out in Redwood Canyon the snows of this week came straight down, the flakes as large as goose feathers. They decorated the redwoods, and, even better, the bay and laurels, the leaves of which offered more shelving for the load. There was five inches of snow there and a silence which made one feel as if he stood alone in a great cathedral.

Through the night this silence was broken many times with the fall of a eucalyptus, or the rending of a branch in refusal to carry the unaccustomed weight. It was wierd to listen, on a windless night, to a forest tearing itself to pieces. In the morning the white silence again, then children and snowmen and snowballs.

We were interested in the California-bred dogs who went about puzzled studying the snow. Now and again they bit it, sniffed in disgust. Barking and running around in large circles they spent the entire day in expressing their interest, pleasure or dissatisaction with the innovation. The cats would have none of it; they stayed in doors, and the birds hunted the thick brush and crowded together, some strange families, close to the ground.

A direct effect on the native population is the urge toward poetry and photography. Those who were not dashing off verse were aiming cameras and catching the scene for future reference. One little girl, awakened, looked about in bewilderment and exclaimed: "Oh, Polly, now we will have something to write about in our letters!" As for the poets, most of them were held in the drifts after they had passed, "Snow, snow, beautiful snow."

The Nature Club.

(From Calaveras Prospect.)

"Buck" Segale, a well known resident of Murphys had a rather peculiar experience some days ago. While out hunti... he shot a jack rabbit at close range, breaking both its hind legs. To his surprise a big bobcat at once jumped out of the brush and grabbed the rabbit within a few feet of Segale. He at once turned loose the other barrel, but merely succeeded in shooting off one foot. The cat dropped the rabbit and made off into the brush, "Buck" returned to town and took a friend with his dog back to the spot. The cat was trailed into a thicket, where it was killed.

Avast, She Snows!

Ho, ho, me boy, she's snowin',
It's gatherin' on the sill;
Bolt up the door, she's blowin',
The tree tops touch the hill.

Ah, ha, a cheery toddy,
Here's blessin' to the dead;
That amber warms my body,
The fumes they sooth my head.

Ho, ho, me boy, she's snowin',
Heap up the cracklin' fire,
The wind outside is blowin',
I have my heart's desire.

—First Mate.

For a time we thought that we might combine the first lines of the snow poems received and offer a little composite, but, with the exception of the one sent in by "First Mate," the first lines were identical.

Sir—My Lady Mother's pet peeve is present-day fashions. Sunday, viewing the throng from a car window, she exclaimed: "Just look at that girl, without a coat and with low neck and short sleeves! What in the world are the girls thinking of these days?" Gently as possible I explained the lady in question was probably as warm as a window figure ever is—SINN FEIN.

One of the contribs has written us a verse so long it would fill this column two or three times. Because of our determination not to allow the contribs to crowd us out entirely we cannot present the poem. There are some deathless lines, however, which ought to be perpetuated:

"The Slippery Sue had a cargo of cheeses.
Bound for Syncopation.
The captain sprung a fit of sneezes,
Due to intoxication."

Fun for All but Hafenbrack.

(From Wisconsin Rapids Tribune.)

A number of friends surprised Mrs. G. M. Hafenbrack at her home Saturday evening, the occasion being the ninth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Hafenbrack. Although Mr. Hafenbrack is still in a Michigan sanitarium, a good time was enjoyed by all.

Well, it is a cold day when it snows in California.

NOTES and COMMENT

In the vitriol sprayers Paris has a new type of criminal. It seems to be a type that is purely devilish. The idea that such miscreants are working in the interest of dealers in garments, in the expectation that profit will be reaped in replacing those destroyed, is not impressive. As those who have the criminal bent in this country for the most part have an object in view—which is generally of gain—there would not seem to be a probability of this new criminal manifestation being imported.

Despite the generally recognized fact that the flapper defies classification in the close terms that beetles may be differentiated, a New York professor, in furnishing the definition, that "a flapper is a person who prefers ignorance to truth," isn't satisfactory at all. Very many who might not be able themselves to give a definition will say that this does not single out this human specimen. As a matter of fact, it is difficult to define the flapper, the species is readily recognizable when encountered.

Comparing the Yuba judge's action with some others in the matter of dealing with estates, it could be said that he is finicky. Liberality as to the class of claims that might be termed luxuries in the closing scenes often characterizes allowances in final settlements; but the Yuba judge stuck at a bill of eight dollars for flowers. There might be an argument that the most appropriate time for "saying it with flowers" is when the friends and relatives are performing the last rites over decedent.

Perhaps in a hurried once-over of the despatches, when that one from Germany was encountered which told of an execution failing to come off because of the strike of the hangman, it was thought that the strike was caused by a revolt against taking human life. But not so at all. It was because the hangman thought that his pay was not commensurate, and that that was a good time to press for more. Which tends to show that humanity is still on at its normal trend.

There is to be no contest of the Kohl estate. This results from the widow abiding by the terms of the will. There is likely to be a concensus that this is entirely sensible, but it will be realized that it is rather rare. Very frequently those interested in big estates get into the courts, and generally stay there a long time. In this case the decision may have been influenced by the certainty of the possible contestant receiving a quarter of a million, and escaping the worry and suspense of a long and expensive lawsuit, but it is still sensible.

It has been some years since a theater disaster involving so many deaths as that of Saturday had occurred. Theater construction and management have eliminated weak points in theater structures and conservation till it was largely considered that audiences in these places of amusement were safe. Such disaster as that at Washington was so very unusual that there is a sort of alibi for the management. It is a striking exemplification of the French adage, that "the impossible happens."

BEIRUT

Beirut, the ancient Syrian city featured in recent despatches because of Moslem opposition to changes in street naming and police innovations, is described in a bulletin of the National Geographic Society by a former resident of the city as follows:

"Picture, nestling at the base of the Lebanon, a many tinted city pushed out into the setting sun by the pressure of a famous mountain range, which, just east of the city and robbing it of the early morning light, towers to 8500 feet in a beautiful mountain whose snowy heights form the crystal screen upon which is projected the rose glow of the world's most colorful sunsets.

"The backbone of the city stretches to the west from a low alluvial plain which almost makes Beirut an island. The wharves are to the north, looking away from the most famous but inferior ports of Tyre and Sidon to the south and toward the other Phoenician ports of Tripoli and Alexandretta and Seleucia, all of which have old Phoenician names long since forgotten by the inhabitants. Berytus was the name of Beirut.

"The waterfront is commonplace enough most of the year, even though just outside the disfiguring breakwater there lies the bluest, most nearly perfect curve of bay east of Naples. It bears the name of St. George and although it is the French that have improved it, the British have made it notable on their beautiful gold coins, now extinct, which once showed St. George killing a dragon or rather the dragon. Mythology will tell you who St. George was and why he killed the dragon and why the British put it on their coins and his cross on their Union Jack. But here St. George slew the dragon and threw him down a well—nothing harms an Oriental well—and if you don't believe it, the well is still there and if you go there on a dark night and gaze down into the inky waters, you will see the dragon's eyes!

"The streets are narrow and full of life. The buildings are kalsomined in various hues, ugly near at hand, but truly Turneresque from a distance. On one of the highest points at the eastern end of the high rib which the city straddles there is, or was, a military barracks. Bierut has tram lines which run along the backbone, and near the center of the city there is a small park embroidered with bootblacks with small shoe-blacking boxes, around which the trams turn. Here there is another line of trams which runs to the south to a beautiful grove of pines which were planted to save the city from the drifting sands.

"The western end of the limestone ridge is called Ras Beirut, or the point of Beirut, and near the extremity of this section there is one of the loveliest college campuses on earth, with more than a score of principal buildings. Possibly nowhere else on earth has America's name been more revered and so lovely is the scene of the deep blue bay and the snowy mountain range that there has long been a standing argument between this college and the Robert College, at Roumeli Hissar, outside Constantinople on the Bosphorus, as to which has the loveliest view."

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

What Chilblains Are and the Way to Banish Them.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, New York City.

When I was a young chap I taught school in the country one winter. Before going away to college, most of us had to earn money, and this was the way I selected.

I feel sorry for one who has not had the privilege of real country life. Until you have had a breakfast of buckwheat cakes and pork gravy; walked a mile and a half to build a fire in the box-stove, and then had nothing more to do all the rest of the day except to teach school you know nothing of real pleasure.

After the fire was roaring and the schoolroom was swept and dusted it was time for the "scholars" to appear. It was my job then to see how they had endured the nipping air. During at least three of those winter months there was hardly a morning when the thermometer did not register below zero, and for one solid week it was thirty or more below zero.

I stationed myself at the door and closely inspected every arrival. A white nose or a bleached ear was the signal for me to grab the youngster and lead him to a snowpile. With a handful of soft snow I would rub the frozen spot until the blood returned and the tingling nerves gave promise of returned circulation.

If this is done at once no bad after-effects are noticed.

Chilblains are the painful result of neglected frost-bite. Women who work in kitchens on cold floors, truckmen, stonemasons, policemen and others who are out-of-doors in all kinds of weather are liable to this trouble. Wet feet, tight shoes and some trouble of circulation are the causes underlying chilblains.

You cannot be comfortable unless your feet and hands are dry and warm. Make it a point to keep them in this condition. Then you will avoid frost-bite and chilblains.

The following prescription is very valuable in the relief of chilblains. If your druggist won't fill it for you, ask your friend, the family doctor, to get it for you:

Iodine crystals, 5 grains; collodion, 1 ounce; ether, 2 drachms. Paint this on the chilblain every day. It stops the burning and itching, protects the skin, and quickly cures the condition.

If you get home with badly chilled feet don't stand on the radiator, or put your feet in the oven. Take off your shoes and stockings, put your feet in cold water, and then rub them vigorously with a rough towel. This treatment will restore the circulation and prevent chilblains.

Treat your ears in a similar way. Massage with cold water will warm them quicker than heat, and will prevent the bad effects of frost-bite.

This seasonal advice may spare you the painful and long-continued symptons which frequently follow exposure to cold weather.

Cupid Held Spur To U. C. Athletes

"Andy" Smith, coach of the famous Blue and Gold football eleven, is responsible for this advice.

"In my experience I have found it a good thing to have an athlete in love," says "Andy." Then he adds: "That is, if strict training rules are maintained and he doesn't spend too much time with his lady love when he should be at home sleeping."

"Andy's" statements are made in answer to arguments advanced at the Northwestern University that girls are a menace to the peace of mind of athletes.

"There are plenty of pretty girls on the Berkeley campus and I'm glad there are," further says "Andy." "Think of the effect on a football star if he knows his best girl is watching him. I say 'Come on Danny Cupid; do your best.' There'll be nothing in the way of California victories if all the athletes on the campus fall in love!"

Last Rites Said For Mrs. Baysinger

BERKELEY, Jan. 31.—Funeral services were conducted today for Mrs. Anna Blanche Baysinger, wife of Samuel Baysinger, who died on Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frances Kemp, 1312 Addison street. She was 61 years old and had lived in Emporia, Kan., and Bakersfield before coming to Berkeley. Besides her husband she is survived by four children.

FUEL NEEDED FOR FAMILIES OF IDLE MEN

Superintendent of Municipal Woodyard Declares Double Purpose Can Be Served by Contributions At This Time

W. S. Goodrich, superintendent of the municipal woodyard, has appealed to the citizens for wood.

The woodyard has distributed about fifty cords of wood to the families of those out of work, and the supply has been exhausted.

Men are at the woodyard eager to earn their meals and a few cents by cutting wood, but there is no wood to be cut and split.

"I know that if the people realize the situation they will come to our aid," said Goodrich today. "There must be a lot of wood in Oakland.

"If the residents will phone Oakland 7285 we will call for the wood and then dispose of it to the needy.

RELIEF COMMITTEE.

The citizens' emergency employment and relief committee will take over the burdens of the council in the present unemployment crisis on Thursday.

This was announced by Tom Eaglesome, chairman of the committee, today following conferences with the city council.

The city has appropriated $15,000 for the assistance of the unemployed. The fund is exhausted and tomorrow will be the last day that the 200 unemployed men will work for the city.

The citizens' committee is preparing to handle the situation after that.

"We will endeavor to keep these men at work until Saturday," said Eaglesome, "using the funds we now have.

"Meanwhile the executive committee will endeavor to decide on the better way to raise a fund sufficient to handle the situation in the future."

"That the committee will not appeal to the State for aid is certain," Eaglesome said.

"It would be just like asking for the state militia to settle a street row here," said Eaglesome. "This city is certainly big enough and wealthy enough to care for its own.

"This talk of asking the governor to invoke the Broughton act is foolish. We did talk about it, but we will never ask State aid while there is any money left in the city.

"It is quite possible that we will have a big drive for funds. That seems the most logical way of working out the problem. We will use the money collected in this manner to provide work."

While the committee is working out its program, women of the city are sewing garments for children in the sewing room established by Mrs. R. E. Danford of the committee. The sewing room is next to the Oakland Bank of Savings.

Small contributions continue to arrive at the Blue Bird Bureau of The TRIBUNE. Today the fund was swelled by five dollars from La Grange, Cal., making the total fund now $828.14.

Challenge for Figures Still Dodged by Charter League

Eighteen days have elapsed since the presentation by the Alameda County Anti-Division League, of figures carefully compiled by experts, and checked by William Dolge & Co., certified public accountants, showing that county division would result in a minimum tax rate of $5.43 on the $100, as against the present rate $4.91, an increase of 52 cents.

These figures show the taxpayers of Oakland receive $450,000 more each year than they pay into the county treasury. For instance:

In behalf of orphans and half orphans, the city of Oakland receives $57,400 per year in benefits more than it contributes in taxes.

In assistance to indigents in their homes, the city receives $22,300 more than it pays.

Through use of tubercular sanitarium and infirmary, actual use, the Oakland benefit is $45,000 more than it pays. In school apportionment there is another large gain.

Likewise, through use of the receiving hospital, care of feeble-minded, county jail, detention home and Associated Charities, the saving to Oakland, because of the excess of benefits over taxes paid, is $14,350.

The statement also shows that Oakland, as a city and county, would have to maintain all of its present city functions and bear the whole burden of county expense.

According to a provision of the state law practically all of the county officers must be retained. The provisions of the charter open the door to unlimited expenditure through creation of new offices, departments and boards, and the employment of innumerable experts, deputies and clerks with salaries to be fixed by the manager or metropolitan council.

The Charter League has presented a statement from expert accountants saying they have checked over the figures of the Taxpayers' Association and that on them a certain saving "should be" made.

The Anti-Division League, eighteen days ago, made this proposition:

That the expert accountant of the Charter League go over the figures with the expert accountant of the Alameda County Anti-Division League and, if there is a conflict of opinion, the two select a third certified public accountant and that the agreement reached by the three experts be presented to the voters of Oakland in order that they may know what county division and the new charter scheme will cost the taxpayers.

If the Charter League is certain of its figures, why does it refuse this very fair proposition?

Boarder and Landlord Battle in Home

BERKELEY, Jan. 31. — G. A. Peterson, employee of the Berkeley garbage department, was treated at the emergency hospital last night for severe cuts about the head, declared to have been inflicted by H. V. Norton, also a garbage department employee. Peterson's injuries are declared to have followed an altercation at the Norton home, 1257 Allston way, where the former is a boarder. According to Peterson, Norton "picked up a piece of sidewalk" and beat him over the head.

The California Tuberculosis Association will launch a two days' annual meeting in the ballroom of the Hotel Oakland on Friday. Health experts from all parts of the state and many national authorities will be in attendance. Dr. Philip King Brown, president, will preside.

Reports of 1921 work and the program for 1922 will be presented at the opening program at 10 a. m. A luncheon will be given at noon in honor of the state officers.

Follow-up work on discharged cases from the San Francisco Tuberculosis hospital will be reviewed by Miss Elsie Kraft at the afternoon session. Dr. H. A. Pattison, medical field director, National Tuberculosis Association, will lead the discussion.

Factors that impede progress will be enumerated by Dr. Frances M. Pottinger. The Los Angeles camp will be described by Miss Sidney M. Maguire. Mrs. Estelle Edson of Sacramento will lead the discussion. The question, "Is Legislation the Remedy," will be answered by Mrs. Edythe Tate-Thompson. Mrs. Harry Dana of San Mateo will lead the round-table following.

A nutrition symposium is announced for 9:30 a. m. Saturday. Speakers will be Dr. Harold K. Faber, Stanford University; Dr. Philip King Brown, San Francisco; Miss Gertrude Whitton, Alameda county; Miss Sally Lucas Jeam, National Child Health Organization. Dr. Charles C. Browning will lead the discussion.

Weather permitting the convention will adjourn to Arroyo Sanitarium Saturday afternoon. The community chest, occupational therapy and tuberculosis in industry will be discussed. Speakers will be Miss Pearl Chase, Santa Barbara; Dr. H. A. Pattison, Dr. Robert T. Legge.

Infatuated Boy, Who Slew Woman's Husband, Is Held

RICHMOND, Jan. 31.—Henry Heuer, 17-year-old high school student who, according to the police, confessed to having shot and killed Manuel Cabral because the latter refused to permit him to associate with his young wife, was held to answer to the superior court today on a charge of murder in the first degree.

Three witnesses were placed on the stand at the closing session. They were: Mrs. Cabral, widow of the slain man; Sheriff R. R. Veale, and Dr. S. Abbott, who performed the autopsy examination.

Mrs. Cabral's testimony consisted merely of establishing the fact that on the night prior to the shooting, which occurred on January 6, she accompanied her husband to the home of a neighbor.

Sheriff Veale was on the stand twice, once to testify attending the coroner's inquest, and again to tell of the arrest of Heuer.

Heuer, according to the police, shot Cabral on the night of January 6, because he objected to his relations with his wife. He is charged with having followed Cabral from home as the man went on an errand and then waiting at a railroad trestle until he returned, and there shooting him under the pretense of being a bandit.

Railroad Man Asks Bus Lines Be Taxed

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 31.—Urging that truck and bus companies operating for hire on the public highways be taxed the same as the railroads, R. E. Kelly of the Southern Pacific company told the Progressive Business Men's club yesterday that the railroads are paying for the highways on which their competitors run.

"The taxes paid by the railroads into the 1919-20 fund totaled $8,943,735, or 34 per cent of the fund," said Kelly. "Motor transportation companies virtually escaped taxation. The railroads have to keep up their own roadbeds and those of their competitors. It is manifestly unfair."

BOMB BLAST AT MIDNIGHT CAUSES PANIC

Telegraph Hill Residents Flee Into Streets As Explosion Wrecks Residence; Latin Quarter Is Being Searched

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—The Latin quarter in the region of Telegraph Hill was startled into sudden wakefulness and a thousand men, women and children rushed to the street at midnight, when a terrific explosion caused by a dynamite bomb shattered windows over an entire square block and demolished the front of a cottage at No. 2 Montague Place. Policemen from the Central station, detectives from the

FRANCE BELIEVED SURE TO ATTEND PARLEY IN GENOA

Paris Thinks Participation Is Assured; Russ Protest Admission of Soviet.

PARIS, Jan. 31.—(By the Associated Press).—The expected exchange of views among the allies regarding the conditions under which the Genoa economic conference should be opened, is awaiting the development, through diplomatic discussion, of other questions regarded as more pressing. The fact that the Genoa program is being allowed to lie dormant seems to be taken in political quarters here to mean that the French government regards French participation as a foregone conclusion and that settlement of questions regarding the agenda will be so easily reached that there is no hurry in taking them up.

NO TALK ON VERSAILLES PACT, FRENCH INSIST.

The French viewpoint of the scope of the work to be done at Genoa rests upon the conditions clearly set forth at the Cannes conference—that nothing bearing upon questions settled by the treaty of Versailles shall be discussed, that reparations shall not come into question, and that there shall be no talk of treaty revision.

As for the German reply to the Reparations Commission the foreign office today said it was not ready to make any comment on this documents. It was stated, however, that the policy of France remains unchanged in respect to the necessity of the allies taking the guarantees authorized by the treaty of Versailles so as to give final character to whatever definite arrangements the allies might come to regarding the treatment of Germany's default.

SOVIET PARTICIPATION PROTESTED BY RUSS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(By the Associated Press).—The pri-Amur government of Russia in a note sent today to Secretary Hughes by Foreign Minister Kolesnikoff, member of the special delegation now in Washington, protested against the decision of European nations to meet with Bolshevik envoys at Genoa and served notice that "the Russian people will never recognize any agreements contracted with and by Bolsheviks."

Kolesnikoff expressed the confidence of his government that the United States "will not attend this conference," but would find other means of assisting the economic reconstruction of Europe "than an understanding and cooperation with communistic authorities.

Falling Power Poles Imprison Stage

BENICIA, Jan. 31. — Owing to the wind and snow storm, the main road between Benicia and Vallejo was blocked by telegraph poles being thrown across the road. This made transportation between the two cities impossible Sunday and Monday.

Reginald Quinn, who was driving one of the Passalacua Stage Line buses on the 7 o'clock trip Sunday morning, had a narrow escape from a serious accident when a pole fell before his bus, as he was driving on the Vallejo road, and before he had an opportunity to back and return to Benicia, a pole fell directly in back of the bus, virtually imprisoning him.

Contractor to Sue Builders' Exchange

VALLEJO, Jan. 31.—John E. Ames, Vallejo contractor, today announced that he would file suit at once against the Builders' Exchange of this city to collect damages, alleging that because of his refusal to accept the American plan the Exchange has refused to sell him building material.

Ames broke away from the Builders' Exchange upon the decision of that body recently to adopt the American plan, and announced that he would continue to employ union help. The threatened suit is an outgrowth of this action.

CHARGED WITH BATTERY.

Mrs. Alice Files, 3517 Sutter street, was found guilty of striking Mrs. Rosie Petric, of 3518 Mangels avenue, over the head with a lath today by Police Judge Edward J. Tyrrell. The woman was charged with battery. Judge Tyrrell instructed the probation officer to investigate the case and make his report to him on February 14.

ALASKA PROSPECTOR SLAIN.

DAWSON, Y. T., Jan. 31.—The body of William Geary, prospector and proprietor of the Fox ranch, has been found in a cabin at Hundred Mile Landing, on the Hootalinqua river, with a bullet wound in its side. Corporal Tidd of the Royal Canadian mounted police at White Horse has gone out to investigate. The trip will take a month, it was said.

FUNERAL OF ANNE BREWER IS HELD

Funeral services for Miss Anne Brewer, former head of the English department in the Oakland High school, and charter member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority of the University of California, were held today from the family home in Kingston avenue. Miss Brewer was the first dean of girls in the Oakland High school and consequently in the city. She was herself a graduate of the Oakland High school and of the University of California.

When the first society of Christian Endeavor was organized west of the Rockies in the First Congregational church of this city, Miss Brewer was a charter member. Her affiliation has been largely with the Young Women's Christian Association both in Oakland and in the Pacific coast field, including California, Arizona and Nevada. She has been in charge of the foreign work under the latter organization for several years. During the Panama-Pacific organization she directed the work of the field committee in San Francisco fair grounds.

Miss Brewer contributed valuable service when the local association was built and was director of the financial campaigns on many occasions. She gathered a valuable collection of art treasures during a two-year tour of the world.

The death of Miss Brewer resulted from a heart attack following an automobile accident near Woodland last week. Miss Henrietta Brewer, who was with her sister, recovered sufficiently today to attend the funeral services. They were conducted by Rev. Francis Van Horn, pastor of the First Congregational church, of which Miss Brewer was a member.

Eleven Orphanages To Divide Estate

Eleven orphanages of San Francisco and Oakland, each seeking to share in the benefactions of Mrs Harriet Heinemann, were represented in probate court today at the hearing of a petition asking final distribution of the estate. Superior Judge E. C. Robinson, in order that all orphanages entitled to share in the estate may have their rights, continued the hearing until Thursday morning.

Mrs. Heineman, who died in Oakland about a month ago leaving an estate estimated to be worth $80,000, after a number of small bequests to relatives, ordered the residue, amounting to about $60,000, to be divided between the orphan asylums of Oakland and San Francisco. Upon the will being admitted to probate a cousin of Mrs. Heinemann's entered a contest, which was ordered dismissed by Judge Robinson, who held the degree of relationship to be too distant. Mrs. Heinemann left no family.

Among the orphanages which will share is the Tooker Memorial home, maintained by the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions in Oakland, as an orphanage for Chinese children only. Other orphanages admitted are Fred Finch orphanage, Ladies' Relief Society orphanage and the West Oakland home, all of Oakland, and these San Francisco institutions: Ladies' Protective and Relief Society orphanage, Protestant orphanage, Roman Catholic orphanage, Pacific Hebrew orphanage, Maria Kip orphanage and Alfred Nelson Memorial home, and the Infant Shelter.

Auto Thief Suspect Nabbed After Chase

A chase of six blocks, in which the police were joined by a number of citizens, resulted today in the capture of Tony Soares, laborer, on a charge of stealing an automobile. Daniel Rydel, bond and warrant clerk at the city hall, saw Soares driving the machine down the street with a policeman running behind. He joined the chase and cornered the man in a shed near the Western Pacific freight station.

John Gelder Will Speak on Division

John Gelder will speak to B'nai B'rith lodge of Oakland this evening at Covenant hall, Webster and Twenty-eighth streets, on the subject of county division. The officers of the lodge have issued invitations for all members to attend with their families and friends. The meeting will be open to the public.

Camp Fire Guardians To Meet Saturday

The Eastbay Campfire Guardians Association will meet Saturday at 10 a. m. in the Young Woman's Christian Association. A song fest will be followed by a discussion of the program of work for the coming year. Plans will be perfected for the birthday party in March. Mrs. A. S. Kibbe is president of the association.

SNOW-MAROONED MOTORISTS ARE PROVIDED FOOD

Thirty-eight Tourists Trapped by Bluizzard on Ridge Route Are Rescued.

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., Jan. 31.—(By Associated Press.)—Carrying provisions and clothing a rescue party from Bakersfield today succeeded in reaching thirty-eight automobile tourists, isolated on the Ridge route between Bakersfield and Los Angeles, at a point between Sanberg and Bailey, by the blizzard which has been raging in the mountains since Monday.

The marooned party has been "huddled" in a ranger's cabin since late yesterday with only a meager fire and with their food supply exhausted. None was in a serious condition, according to advices reaching automobile club officials here.

SIXTY STRANDED.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—Fifty or sixty automobilists, stranded for a day or more in the snow along the Ridge route in Los Angeles county, and comprising an entirely different party from that reported in a ranger's cabin in Tejon pass, were rescued late last night by representatives of the Automobile Club of Southern California, according to word received by the Los Angeles Times.

ROAD CLEARED.

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., Jan. 31.—The relief party arrived at Lebec at midnight, according to a telephone message to this city, and began to attempt clearing the road. Supervisor Wagy notified Bakersfield authorities that the situation of the stranded travelers had been somewhat relieved when a pack train got through to them early last night.

State Highway Engineer Woodson of Fresno has sent word that a party of workmen of the state highway department has been sent to Lebec with full equipment to clear the road as speedily as possible.

Legion Opens Drive For Furnishing Fund

ALAMEDA, Jan. 31.—The first show in the drive for funds to outfit the new Legion headquarters was given in the Neptune Palace theater last night to a crowded house. The advance sale of tickets for tonight and tomorrow night indicates that standing room only will be the rule. In addition to the picture "Lavender and Old Lace," there is an augmented program of vaudeville acts and stunts of various kinds.

The campaign will open formally on Thursday, when the large force of workers will start their house-to-house canvass. A tentative goal of $3000 has been set by the citizens' committee appointed recently by Mayor Frank Otis. E. K. Taylor is chairman.

All the proceeds from the drive will be devoted to furnishing the new headquarters of Alameda Post, American Legion.

L. A. POSTOFFICE ROBBED.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—The postoffice at Los Angeles Harbor was robbed of several thousand dollars in checks between midnight Saturday and Monday morning, according to reports received by federal officials here. The checks represented payments by various Los Angeles firms for the handling of cargoes.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED.

LEWISTON, Ida., Jan. 31.—Joseph B. Hill, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hill, of Gifford, Ida., was shot and instantly killed Sunday afternoon by his brothers, aged 10 and 11. The brothers had prepared to go hunting and the gun was accidentally discharged.

WILL COMBAT BANDITS.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 31.—The purchase of two machine guns and an automobile upon which to mount them was authorized yesterday by Allegheny county commissioners. The weapons are to be used to aid in combatting bandits, it was said. The machine guns will each cost $450 and the automobile $5000.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 30.—William T. Leary, said to be the discoverer of oil in the Southern California field, died at his home in San Antonio today at the age of 65 years. In 1893 he brought in an oil well near Los Angeles.

Heiress to Forty Millions Will Wed Russian Mechanic

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Mrs. Marion B. Stephens, daughter of the late Norman B. Ream of Chicago, an heiress of a fortune estimated at $40,000,000, announced her engagement in New York yesterday to Alexandrovitch Vansiataky, an employee of the Baldwin Locomotive Works in Philadelphia, according to advices published today by the Chicago Trjbune.

It is reported they will make their home, following the marriage, in his cottage in the factory section near the works.

According to the account of Mrs. Stephens' announcement, which reached here, Mrs. Stephens said the wedding would take place in the Russian church, New York. There will be a short honeymoon, it was said, and then the couple will take up their residence in the Vansiataky cottage. He is said to have insisted that he remain among the working men and Mrs. Stephens willingly consented to live in his modest home.

It was his stirring stories of the war and his many adventures on the various fronts that first attracted Mrs. Stephens' attention, friends say, while the two were in Paris in 1919. It was here they first became acquainted. He had fled to Paris following the defeat of General Kolchak during the Bolshevik fighting in Russia, when he had served as an engineer in Kolchak's army.

Mrs. Stephens was in Paris at the time engaged in post-war work.

Mrs. Stephens has not been in Chicago for several years. Her husband, Redmond D. Stephens, attorney, obtained a divorce in 1918 on the grounds that "Mrs. Stephens wanted to travel all the time; wanted to come and go, she said, as she pleased, and wanted to be free."

INTEREST ON 10-CENT LOAN IS CAUSE OF FIGHT

When James Law refused to pay Paul Gilson 50 per cent interest on a loan of 10 cents an argument started between the two men.

Sergeant E. W. Brock encountered the men at Seventh and Franklin streets. He was told by Gilson that during the argument over the amount of interest which was to be paid on the loan he was struck in the face by Law. Gilson demanded that Law be arrested on a charge of battery.

Law told Sergeant Brock that he had fifty cents, but needed ten cents more in order to make a large sum of money. He said that he only kept the borrowed money ten minutes, but he did not tell the sergeant how he was going to invest his money.

He appeared today before Police Judge Edward J. Tyrrell and the case was continued until tomorrow morning because there was no complaint on file.

WHISKY GUARDS SUPPLIED WITH SAWED-OFF GUNS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 31.—Whisky warehouse guards hereafter will be armed with sawed-off shotguns to keep liquor bandits away.

Prohibition officials here authorized the heavier arming of guards at bonded warehouses after several recent hold-ups and the theft of large quantities of whisky.

Street Car Company Sued for $3000

Because the patent step of a street car he was boarding was lifted too suddenly, William H. Calhoun lost $348 worth of window cleaning contracts through an injury to his right arm, he asserts in a damage suit for $3000 which he filed today against the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway. The accident happened at Park avenue and Halleck street, Emeryville, January 11 of this year. Calhoun is suing for $2500 punitive damages, together with hospital expenses and business losses which he says resulted from the accident.

FIREMEN BATTLE SNOWDRIFTS.

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 31.—Firemen early today were compelled to shovel the way for their apparatus through snowbanks to reach a fire that destroyed the car repair shop of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation at Sparrow's Point. POTASH COMPANY WINS $300,000 IN COURT OF APPEAL

Distilling Firm Is Adjudged Guilty of Contract Breach.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—The Western Industries company of Agnew, Santa Clara county, today won a judgment of $300,000 against the Mason Malt Whisky Distilling company of Sausalito, according to a decision by the District Court of Appeal. Presiding Justice John F. Tyler wrote the opinion which was concurred in by Justices Kerrigan and Richards.

The suit was the result of the alleged breaking of a contract for the sale by the Whisky Distilling company to the Western Industries company of what is known as distillery slops, which up to the time of the contract had been allowed to run into the bay, being considered of no value. The Agnew company is alleged to have discovered how to manufacture this refuse into potash and to obtain a good profit from the sale. When, it was charged, the Mason Malt Whisky Distilling company learned the method of manufacture, which its customer had inaugurated it refused to make further deliveries under the contract although it had more than a year to run, in order that it might manufacture the potash itself.

The Western Industries company brought suit for $1,000,000 and was awarded $300,000 in the Superior Court.

MacMillan Plan To Set Record in Arctic Is Failure

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WISCASSET, Me., Jan. 31.—Donald B. MacMillan and his Arctic expedition on the schooner Bowdoin has failed to reach Fury and Hecla Strait, passage of which would be necessary to circumnavigate Baffin's Land as planned, it was indicated by indirect advices received here today. The advices contained word indicating also that MacMillan might return next summer.

The Carnegie Institute at Washington sent word that a message had been received at Ottawa through Canadian customs officials under date of November 18 last from the manager of a Hudson Bay post, that MacMillan was spending the winter at Nauwatta, 80 miles north of Cape Dorset and 300 miles south of Fury and Hecla Strait. This place is only a short distance beyond the point reached by the explorer on August 20, when he sent word that he hoped in ten days to pass the strait which has never been navigated.

The trading post manager also stated that the explorer at that time intended to get a supply of gasoline from the company for next summer, when he intended to return home if possible.

FORGED NAME OF T. R. IN BURKETT CASE, MAN SAYS

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 31. — A man signing his name as Guy Covel, has written Sheriff Lewis Sweet of Vermillion county that Mrs. Emma R. Burkett is not guilty of forging the late Theodore Roosevelt's name to a note for $60,900. According to the letter, Covel impersonated Colonel Roosevelt, signing his name and got the money. Mrs. Burkett recently was convicted in New York City of forgery in connection with the case. Covel said he now is serving a term in a New York prison.

Covel said he had been a "Rough Rider" and had also worked for Mrs. Burkett's husband while living in Danville, Ill. He said he greatly resembled Roosevelt and often had forged the former President's name to passes. He said Mrs. Burkett had no idea she was duped.

"OLD-TIMER" IN HURRY TO REACH "PEN"

Refusing the services of an attorney, or anything else that would delay his progress to San Quentin on a burglary charge, Antone Henderson, 45, today pleaded with Superior Judge Lincoln S. Church to "cut out the frills and send me over."

"I'm an old-timer," said Henderson, who has admitted several prior convictions. "I'm used to it. Let's go."

Henderson, who has confessed to stealing tools from houses under construction in the Lakeshore avenue district, will be sentenced February 3.

STATE SENATOR LYON ARRAIGNED ON 'WET' CHARGE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—F. J. Shannon, deputy United States marshal at Fresno, and Charles W. Lyon, state senator, of Venice, Cal., were arraigned on charges of violation of the Volstead act, before United States Commissioner Long, here yesterday. Both were taken into custody a few nights ago when federal agents raided a number of cafes at Venice. Each was charged with having liquor in his possession.

Senator Lyon denied the charge, declaring his host at a dinner party at a cafe had wine, but that he did not drink any. Shannon made no public statement. Both men were released on their own recognizance pending a hearing February 1 for Shannon, and March 2 for Lyons.

Robert C. Avery, prohibition agent in charge of the Southern California district, was ousted from office yesterday upon the arrival in Los Angeles of Edward C. Yellowley, personal representative of the national prohibition commissioner, according to reports.

F. A. Hazeltine, who has been assistant state prohibition director of Washington, was installed as Avery's successor.

It is reported that Mitchell and his agents had obtained evidence against the establishments which Avery was ordered to ignore on the ground that he did not desire the expenditure of more money. Since obtaining evidence against the places Avery was warned to let alone, the proprietors have been arrested by Mitchell and his chief agent, James Doyle, the report stated.

It is understood that Avery's discharge by Yellowley was based on insubordination.

Ex-Judge "Surprise" Witness in Petition

Mrs. Mary Stevenson, acting as guardian for a minor child, yesterday asked Superior Judge E. C. Robinson for permission to sell 160 acres of land in Yuba county, part of the estate of her husband, S. A. Stevenson. Judge Brown expressed doubt as to the fairness of the price offered, in case the land should contain placer gold. He was about to deny the petition when former Judge Charles A. Slack, who was in court on another matter, volunteered as a witness. He has acted as attorney for the Yuba Basin Gold Dredging Company and declared he was perfectly familiar with the land in question. He assured the Court it lies entirely without the placer field and declared $4000 a very fair price for it. Judge Robinson immediately issued an order that the land be sold.

New Treaty With Germany Is Needed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(By International News Service).—A new treaty with Germany, to create the machinery by which American war claims can be adjusted, has been found to be necessary, it was announced at the White House this afternoon and steps to negotiate the new instrument will be undertaken shortly.

Relative Values

It has always been our custom to quote the customary selling price (not the highest or the lowest) on various items, and then quote our reduced selling prices thus showing you the saving possible at our stores. We have striven to be 100 per cent truthful in such quotations. Our object in this has not been solely for the purpose of making sales, but largely for the purpose of making the description more plain to the prospective patron.

If we quoted you rolled prime ribs of beef at 22c per pound, you would not know whether this was a good value or not, unless you happened to know just what a rolled prime rib of beef consisted of.

Our policy is to give you an idea of its value by quoting you "30c Rolled Prime Rib of Beef, pound, 22c." When we call this a 30c value we do not mean that no dealer sells it for less than 30c. Some may sell it for 25c. Many at 30c and still others at 35c, so in referring to the average cost price to you at various markets, we would call it a 30c item. All relative values in our advertising are determined in this same manner. You will find them never misleading.

SNOW DISAPPEARS FROM HILLS WHEN OLD SOL ARRIVES

Depth Greatest in 40 Years, Professor Burckhalter Asserts.

Slowly but surely the white cloak covering the hills back of Berkeley and Oakland, and the high portions of the cities, as a result of Sunday's snow storm which was hailed by scientists as a phenomenon, was disappearing today.

A strong sun, which made its appearance this morning, is melting away the traces of the storm. Scientists stated that with the exception of a few remote places in the hills, all of the snow would be gone by tomorrow. On Mount Tamalpais, north of San Francisco, where the snowfall was heaviest, it would remain for some days, it was said.

PARTY SNOWBOUND.

Eighteen men and women, ten of whom are guests, are "snowbound" at inns at the top of Mount Tamalpais and a rescue train in the path of a snow plow was dispatched to bring relief. They were persons who climbed to the top of the mountain to spend Sunday at the Tavern and the West Point Inn.

Under the supervision of George S. Corkey, general manager of the Mt. Tamalpais and Muir Woods Railway, work was begun yesterday on a snow plow by which it is hoped to clear the road today.

Efforts by the railroad to open the snow blocked roadbed yesterday failed when the first snow plow encountered a six-foot drift.

TOBOGANNING ENJOYED.

Yesterday tobogganing proved a popular sport on Charter Hills, Berkeley, and the court was ideal for this fun after the freeze of Sunday night.

Professor Charles Burckhalter, head of Chabot Observatory, said today that the snowfall in the Eastbay was the heaviest in forty years. Five to six inches fell in Berkeley, Richmond, San Leandro, Alameda, Oakland and Hayward, forming drifts in places.

Officials of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways have made a rough estimate of several hundred dollars' damage to street car windows, which were broken on Sunday and yesterday by boys armed with snowballs. An embargo on bringing snow into Oakland was declared by police yesterday as the result of previous experience.

High winds blew down telephone and telegraph poles in the foothills back of Auburn and raised havoc with transcontinental wire service. It was necessary to route telephone and telegraph traffic via Portland and Los Angeles instead of direct from Salt Lake City to Oakland. Poles for more than a mile in the wind-swept zones were blown down at Carquinez straits.

One thousand, five hundred joyous students of Fremont High School adjourned school an hour ahead of time yesterday afternoon and journeyed to the hills behind Oakland, where a sort of interclass rally and snowball match was indulged in until darkness put a stop to it.

Autoist Ordered to Pay Boy's Doctor Bill

With the remark, "I wish it had been more," Superior Judge James G. Quinn today ordered Charles D. Navlet, local coffee importer, to pay Dr. Arthur Hieronymus $75 for treating injuries received by six-year-old Frank Hocks of Alameda, when he was struck by Navlet's automobile a year ago.

The testimony in the case, which had been appealed from Justice of the Peace Pulcifer's court, showed that Navlet had ordered the child taken to the Alameda sanitarium. Dr. Hieronymus asserted that Navlet had later refused to pay his bill of $150 for treating the boy, and asked that it be cut in half. When this was done, he again refused to pay. Dr. Hieronymus charged.

Club Gives Party To Augment Its Athletic Fund

Mith-Rite Members Will Attend Fulton Performance Friday Night.

A theater party will be given by the Mith-Rite club at the Fulton theater next Friday evening for the purpose of creating a fund to provide for athletic activities in the organization. Bernice Borchet will be hostess for the affair.

As a first step in its athletic activities the Mith-Rite club has organized a basketball team and has played several games about the bay. It is planned to extend these activities to base ball and other sports, as well as gymnasium work for its members.

Scenes of Britain with its wealth of ancient castles and cathedrals, historical points of interest and beautiful countryside will be shown in twelve reels of the motion picture production entitled "Beautiful Britain" at the Auditorium theater tonight. The production is given by the British societies of the Eastbay to provide funds for the Victoria Memorial Home in Marin county which cares for aged and infirm persons of British birth or descent.

The picture shows scenes identified with such historical persons as Washington, Shakespeare, Burns, Milton and William Penn. Views of the zoo at Edinburgh are also included. It is promised the picture will be a treat to those who have or have not seen Britain.

Woman Obtains Marriage Annulment

Discovering that a trip across the Columbia river had not been sufficient to escape the divorce laws of Oregon, which rendered her marriage to Frank S. Pierce illegal, Mrs. Lillian M. Pierce today obtained an annulment in Superior Judge A. F. St. Sure's court.

Mrs. Pierce asserted that although the Oregon law forbade her remarrying within six months after divorcing her former husband, which she did July 2, 1919, Pierce, whom she met in Portland, told her it would be legal if they crossed the river to Camas, Washington. They were married, accordingly, September 22, 1919. She did not discover until March of the following year that this had been illegal, whereupon, she said, she left Pierce.

Husband Aided in Wife Attack, Charge

Blindfolded and held helpless with a knife point at her throat, Mrs. Clara Lucchesi of 562 Seventh street told the police today that she was attacked by two men who were aided by her husband. Etalo Salvetti and Pietro Benassini were arrested by Inspectors Gallagher and Kirsch on a statutory charge and Charles Lucchessi is being held for investigation. Mrs. Lucchesi appeared at the police station today and made her complaint.

Pedestrian Killed By S. F. Street Car

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—John Phelan, 55 years old of 809 Bryant street, was killed by a car of the Market Street Railway company at Post and Powell streets today. Apparently confused by the traffic, Phelan is said by bystanders to have walked out of Union Square and directly in the path of the car, paying no attention to the warning bell sounded by the motorman, Sam Kastunis of 1235 Powell street.

MAN AND FOUR CHILDREN HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Truck Crashes Into Petaluma Train at Grade Crossing; Two May Die.

SANTA ROSA, Jan. 31.—A man and a boy were injured probably fatally and three children were injured more or less seriously today when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into an interurban electric train a short distance north of Petaluma. The injured are:

E. T. Cullem, 4131½ Seventeenth street, San Francisco, fractured skull lacerations and bruises.

Juan, 8, and Marian Lemos, fractured legs.

Carrie Lemos, 5, youngest of the children, cuts and bruises.

The children were on the way to school and were overtaken on the highway near Corona station by Cullem, who offered to give them a ride.

The automobile had proceeded but a short distance when, according to an official version of the accident, Cullem's automobile struck a rapidly moving Petaluma-Santa Rosa electric train. The impact hurled the occupants of the automobile to the earth.

SAN JOSE, Jan. 31.—Four people were hurt, none seriously, in three automobile accidents in Santa Clara county yesterday, according to reports received here early today. The injured:

Douglas A. McPhee, Stanford University.

Ernest W. Helfter, Stanford University.

Mrs. C. O. O'Gara, 631 Auzerais avenue, this city.

Angert A. Crossman, Saratoga.

McPhee and Helfter escaped death by a miracle when the automobile in which they were driving left the Santa Clara-San Jose highway at a point west of Wrights station and plunged 50 feet down an embankment, completely wrecking the car.

Mrs. O'Gara of this city, with her husband and small son, Harry, aged 7, was riding in an automobile near Almaden when the machine was struck by a second car driven by Carl Lorne, an employee of the New Almaden mines.

Angert Crossman of Saratoga, the fourth victim of yesterday's accidents, incurred a broken arm and cuts and bruises when a motorcycle on which he was riding near Vasona junction was struck by an automobile, which failed to stop after the accident.

Edwards Identified As Federal Fugitive

CINCINNATI, Jan. 31.—According to the police a man who said he was Neal Edwards of Pittsburgh, when arrested here last night while attempting to break into a safe, was today identified as George Clifford, alias Wray, who escaped from the Fort Leavenworth federal prison eighteen months ago. In California Clifford was arrested for a postoffice robbery and sentenced to five years' imprisonment. He feigned insanity and was transferred to Fort Leavenworth. Today, after his identity had been established through the finger print system, he readily admitted that he was the fugitive, police say.

Clifford was one of the participants in the Folsom prison break last May, in which Carl Otto succeeded in gaining his freedom for several months. Clifford was captured soon after his escape. Otto was later captured in Oakland.

Threatened With a Mallet, Wife Says

"The only way to handle you, woman, is to hit you in the head with a big mallet." That is one of the things that Edward W. Anderson, superintendent of mails in Alameda, is alleged to have said to his wife, Mildred Anderson. Mrs. Anderson's divorce suit, in which she charges extreme cruelty, is being heard today by Superior Judge Quinn.

Mrs. Anderson also charged that her husband told her she ought to be hitched to a plow. Her cousin, Mrs. Louise Kenney, and other neighbors, today testified that they frequently had to close their doors and windows when Anderson began cursing his wife.

Relief Sent to Tamalpais Hikers

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—A second attempt to bring out eighteen snow-bound "hikers" from the summit of Mt. Tamalpais was made today when a train left Mill Valley in an endeavor to reach the summit. Reports to the Mt. Tamalpais railway's offices indicated that there were good prospects of the train getting through.

The party has been snowbound since Saturday night.

ALLEGED ATTACK MADE.

Gus Peterson, a cement worker, is being held by the police charged with entering a restaurant conducted by William Collos, at 1104 Sanford avenue, today, and attacking the proprietor with a bread knife. Policemen W. Bonnell, M. J. Buckley and E. H. Long took Peterson into custody. They claim he was under the influence of liquor.

The French government has offered 50,000 francs reward for the capture of a writer of letters. This person, "the vilest "poison pen" wielder of history, has set afoot an era of mass madness in the city of Tulle, France. Prominent men and women have committed suicide, others have gone to the insane asylum on account of revelations of this writer. Read about it in next Sunday's TRIBUNE Magazine.

CAUCUS FOR ELECTION.

ONTARIO, Calif., Jan. 31.—Ontario members of the California Growers' Association, which is to deciduous fruit what the California Fruit Growers' Exchange is to citrus, has held a caucus here to prepare nominations for the annual election of officers of the association in Los Angeles, February 7.

TAILORS OF U. S. TO UNITE IN WAR ON DEAD-BEATS

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—Business efficiency rather than fashions or problems of designing and cutting will be the keynote of the annual convention of the National Association of Merchant Tailors of America, which opened today.

The convention, W. W. Stewart, president of the association, said, will seek to find a method to break up the gang of "debts," who wear good clothes without paying for them. He estimated the losses in bad debts of merchant tailors in the United States at between $9,000,000 and $10,000,000 annually.

BOY BECOMES HOLD-UP 'MAN' TO GET CANDY

Because he wanted some candy and did not have the necessary pennies with which to purchase it, a 12-year-old boy yesterday armed himself with his father's revolver and then lay in wait for Bleo Cooley of 1419 Eighty-second avenue, whom he knew to be in the habit of purchasing candy each day at a certain hour. When his friend came out of the East Oakland candy store the lad pointed the revolver at him and demanded his candy. At about this time Sergeant James Pullman of the Eastern police station came along. He examined the revolver and found it contained two cartridges, whereupon he took the boy home and turned him over to his father. The victim of the young desperado resides at 1419 Eighty-second avenue, according to the police report.

PROPERTY LAW MEETING CALLED

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Proposed changes to the community property law of the state will be discussed next Monday at a round table conference of the Women's Legislative Council of California at the St. Francis Hotel. The conference under the auspices of the San Francisco Civic Center of Women's Clubs will be presided over by Mrs. O. E. Chaney of Piedmont.

Mrs. Genevieve Allen, secretary of the conference, said today: "The women of the state are very dissatisfied with the present laws of community property. One of the things which we demand now is that the wife shall have testimentary rights over one-half of the community property."

Gov. Small Granted Separate Trial Plea

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Jan. 31.—(By the Associated Press.)—Circuit Judge Edwards today granted the motion for separate trials of Governor Len Small and Vernon Curtis, Grant Park banker, charged with conspiracy to embezzle state funds.

The court overruled the motion filed by the governor and granted a similar motion filed in behalf of Curtis, the decision having the effect of putting the governor on trial first.

Judge Edwards called for the governor's plea and Charles C. Le Forgee, speaking for Small, pleaded "not guilty."

The state agreed to accept a plea by counsel for Curtis and Le Forgee entered the same plea. Curtis is confined in his home by quarantine.

Rodgers Arrested on Embezzlement Charge

Jack Rodgers was arraigned today before Police Judge Mortimer Smith on a charge of embezzlement. The preliminary examination was set for February 10. He was arrested on the complaint of Joe Chaves, 1230 Filbert street. He is alleged to have tried to evade arrest yesterday afternoon and in doing so ran his automobile through a closed gate to Twentieth and Broadway. An additional charge of malicious mischief was placed against Rodgers. The hearing on both charges was set for February 10.

Colbourn to Tell Club of City Work

Commissioner Frank Colbourn will review the work of the department of public health and safety, of which he is head, before the Big Sisters of the Public Welfare League on Friday in the Y. W. C. A. He will outline the activities of the fire, police and health departments and the lines of inspection now in progress.

Carlos G. White will speak against county division during the program. Big Sisters earlier in the month listened to arguments favoring such action.

WASHINGTON NOTES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Charges that the comparative value reports bureau of the customs service at the port of New York has been exercising powers given by law to appraisers is under investigation by a special committee appointed by Secretary Mellon, it was announced today at the treasury.

President Harding's recent agricultural conference was "packed" against the farmer, and the platform adopted by the conference does not represent the desires of the great body of American farmers, according to William H. Lyon of Sioux Falls, S. D., testifying today before the Senate committee on agriculture.

MOREY WILL FILED.

DENVER, Jan. 31.—The will of the late Chester S. Morey, the "grand old man of the sugar industry," which was filed for probate here today, bequeaths one-half of his $2,500,000 estate to his son, J. W. Morey. Four grandchildren receive $50,000 each under the terms of the will, and the remainder of the estate is given to a daughter, Mrs. Mary von Schroeder of Denver.

L. A. AUTOISTS KILL 40.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—Forty deaths and 411 injured and 2625 reported automobile accidents was the record in Los Angeles and vicinity for the first half of the year.

RADIATOR STARTS FIRE.

An overheated radiator set the lace curtains on fire in a room on the sixth floor in the Touraine Hotel, at Sixteenth and Clay streets. The damage was slight.

SENATORS ALTER BILL FOR FUNDING OF ALLIED DEBTS

Change Made in Measure Reduces Authority of the Commission.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—A provision in the allied debt refunding bill which would have given the proposed debt commission authority to "adjust and settle all claims the United States has or hereafter may have against any foreign government" was stricken out today by the senate.

Previously an amendment by Senator Simmons, Democrat, North Carolina, which would have provided that interest payments could not be postponed for more than three years, without the consent of congress, was rejected, 41 to 27. Four Republicans, Johnson, Ladd, La Follette and Norris, joined with the solid Democratic minority in supporting the amendment.

Senator Simmons offered his soldiers' bonus amendment, but later withdrew it at the request of Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, who asked that consideration be deferred until after the senate had acted on his substitute bill proposing to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to refund the foreign debt under conditions and terms laid down by the existing Liberty loan acts.

REPUBLICANS SHIFT.

The vote on the change was 39 to 35, thirteen Republicans joining with the solid minority in supporting the amendment which was offered by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana.

The author of the amendment asserted, and Senators agreed, that under the language of this provision the commission could proceed to settle and accept securities for all claims that the United States might have against the German government, including the claims arising out of the maintenance of the American troops on the Rhine.

Without a record vote the Senate accepted an amendment which would require the commission to send to the Senate for its information copies of all agreements and contracts entered into with the debtor nations.

Also without a record vote, the Senate accepted an amendment by Senator McCumber, Republican, North Dakota, which would provide that when the obligations of any government have been refunded or converted the authority of the debt commission over such refunded or converted obligations shall cease.

BONUS IS URGED.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Immediate passage of soldier bonus legislation was urged today at a hearing before the house ways and means committee by representatives of war veterans' organizations.

As estimate that if a bonus bill were enacted fifty per cent of the war veterans would take cash, in preference to insurance, vocational and home aid, and land settlement options, was made by Daniel T. Steck, Ottumwa, Iowa, legislative representative of the American Legion. If a bonus is authorized, the committee was told, the American Legion expects to launch an intensive campaign to "educate" former service men as to the most desirable provisions with a view to having a great number take advantage of options other than cash.

Steck declared that passage of an adjusted compensation bill, carrying the five options incorporated in the measure approved by the house during the last congress would "permanently satisfy" able-bodied war veterans.

Anonymous Letter Aids Man in Divorce

A letter signed "A fool who can't keep his mouth shut" helped to win a divorce today for Harry L. Pearson, an official of a warehouse company in San Francisco, from Pearl Josephine Pearson. The letter read in part: "Your wife not true to you. She has a young man caller almost every day. He stands at the corner of Grove and Fifty-eighth streets, and when she gives him the high sign he goes into your house. Your mother-in-law knows also, as she takes care of the baby when your wife and her affinity go out for a stroll."

Pearson said that when he heard about this affinity he told his wife she would have to choose between the other man and himself. She decided to take the other man, he said, but the latter went away and did not come back. Then Pearson sued for divorce.

Custody of a 2-year-old daughter was recently awarded the father by Superior Judge Harris after the mother had admitted that she permitted the affinity to sit on her bed and hold her hand.

Wife's Aid May Save Accused From Jail

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—William F. Mooney, husband of Jean Riley, Los Angeles movie actress, seems likely to escape a bigamy charge against him as the result of his wife's aid. Mrs. Mooney today appealed to Public Defender Frank Egan in his behalf, declaring that she was ready to make good bad checks alleged to have been circulated by him in San Diego. Last Saturday Judge Ward temporarily refused him probation on learning of the alleged accusations in the south. He will have another hearing on Saturday next.

Women to Talk on Property Measure

WATERWAY PLAN RAPPED.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 31.—General George W. Goethals, who completed the Panama canal, declared in an interview here today that the proposed St. Lawrence-Great Lakes tidewater project "was impractical as a seaboard project."

VASSAR GIRLS ATTACKED.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Jan. 31.—A prowler, who has attacked four Vassar girls within the past two days, terrorized the college campus today. Following an attack by the marauder upon an instructor last night, police organized posses to hunt down the man, while college authorities are taking steps to protect the girls.

Automobile owners and drivers are watching with considerable interest an "efficiency and economy" test now being made by the Fageol Motors Company of California with one of its new super-motor stages" of the passenger type.

The test was given its official start yesterday. It will conclude in thirty days. The model being used has been christened "The Silver Fox," one of a series of large motor passenger conveyances to be constructed by the Fageol Motors Company.

"The Silver Fox" was sent on its initial trip yesterday at the conclusion of appropriate ceremonies in front of the city hall, which included speeches and a "christening" performed by Miss Laura Anson, motion picture star.

The stage is being driven to Los Angeles. Frank Fageol and other company officials are making the trip. On their arrival at Los Angeles they will deliver to the mayor of the southern city a note written by Mayor John L. Davie and entrusted to Claude Fageol, driver of the bus.

It originally had been planned to send the machine over the Valley route, but this plan was abandoned and the Coast route selected, in view of the presence of snow on the ridge in the valley.

AUTO TRADE ASSN. MEETING.

Some of the best known men in the automotive industry will speak before the general meeting of the Alameda County Automobile Trade Association, which will be held in the roof garden of the Pacific building, Friday night. Several hundred members and employees of various automotive firms about the bay cities will attend.

H. J. Banta, a motor trade authority of the west, is coming from Los Angeles to address the gathering. Miner Chipman, industrial engineer, will tell the men how to cut expenses and reduce overhead charges.

L. H. Bennett, "Business Doctor" of the California Automobile Trade Association, will tell of conditions throughout the country and will show the film, "Ask 'Em to Buy," which has been displayed in various parts of the country. This film shows how a poor garage man built up his business from little until he had a large trade.

Mears Drum, character analyist, will address the meeting and tell the men how salesmen can make progress by knowing how to size up a prospect.

BANKER WILL TALK.

Clare W. Banta, vice-president of the Wells-Fargo bank, will tell the automobile men about credits and how the bankers function with respect to the motor car trade.

J. E. Templeton and L. E. Voyer will have demonstrating screens and will show the men there how to test headlights and adjust them so that they will be within the law.

The meeting will be called to order by D. S. Jones, president of the local association.

Robert W. Martland, secretary-manager of the organization, will report the progress made by the association in the last few months and tell of prospects for the future.

The meeting promises to be one of the best ever held by automobile men in Alameda county.

FREE PRESS PLEA VOICED AT LUNCH

"Free speech and a free press" are "necessary evils" in the opinion of Samuel G. Brun, an attorney, and men in public life must submit gracefully to them. According to Brun a trammeled press and a gagged man have not been conducive to progress in the past. Brun is known as an authority on Constitutional law and he spoke to the members of the Electric Club at their weekly luncheon at the Hotel Oakland today on the American Constitution. He said in part:

Features of our Constitution are so distinctive that this country has been able to develop a government subjected to laws rather than a government carried on at the sweet will of men. Under the Constitution the humblest may appeal from the temporary vagaries of the many to a Tribunal which is in duty bound to protect him, even if the whole Nation is against him. A feature well worth the thoughtful consideration and study of men.

Two great principles are safely anchored in the Great Document. The one touches the pockets of men, a most sensitive spot, the other, his religious or non-religious tenets, cause in the past of so much bloodshed and persecution.

EDITOR DIES IN SOUTH.

PASADENA, Jan. 31.—Fitz Beach, editor of this city and formerly editor and publisher of the Pasadena Press, was found dead in his bed here this morning. His death is believed to have been due to heart trouble.

DINNER TO OPEN HEALTH CONCLAVE

A drama, "The Seven Keys," enacted by San Francisco amateurs, and an address by Dr. Paul A. Lewis of Philadelphia will be features of the annual dinner of the Alameda County Tuberculosis Association and Alameda County Public Health Center Friday night at Hotel Oakland. Covers will be laid for more than 200. The dinner occurs on the opening night of the annual convention of the California Tuberculosis Association meeting in this city. Health experts from all parts of the State will be in attendance.

Mrs. Wallace Alexander urges that all reservations for the dinner be made not later than tomorrow night. Telephone reservations will be received at Piedmont 8505. Mrs. Mark Requa, chairman of decorations, will be assisted by the Misses Herrick and Miss Amelia Sellender. Mrs. Ernest S. Tanner is in charge of the seating. Her aides are Mrs. Minna McGauley, Mrs. Mabel Gray Potter, Mrs. Alvin Powell, Miss Alma Lavenson.

Many dinner parties are being made up for the important occasion. Among those who will attend are, Mr. and Mrs. Norman de Vaux, Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. VICTORY CLAIMED BY BOTH FACTIONS IN LABOR DISPUTE

Conflicting Statements Issued on American Plan Success in Santa Clara County.

SAN JOSE, Jan. 31.—With conflicting statements emanating from the headquarters of the labor unions and those of the American plan advocates, discussion was rife today concerning the number of men who actually returned to their posts in the mills and lumber yards of Santa Clara county.

Both sides were again claiming victory. James A. Chase, president of the Planing Mill Owners' Association of Santa Clara county, issued the following statement:

"The mill and lumber yards of the county resumed work yesterday morning under the American plan. The Dudfield Lumber company at Palo Alto is operating today with eighteen men in its mill and seven in its lumber yard. The Minton Lumber company of Mountain View is running with more than 50 per cent of its capacity, many of its old employees having returned to work. The Pacific Manufacturing company at Santa Cruz has all the men it needs in its lumber yards, while the San Jose Lumber Company is operating with about 40 men, 16 of whom are skilled planing mill mechanics.

"The S. H. Chase Lumber Company has 57 men working, 37 of whom are in the box department, 14 in the planing mill and 6 in the lumber yards. The Southern Lumber Company also has 16 men working. Of course all need additional machine hands to take the places of those who walked out, but these are rapidly being secured from outside districts."

J. F. Cambiano, secretary of the local Building Trades' council, stated as follows:

"Not a wheel is turning in the mills of Santa Clara county. The boasts of the Industrial Association and the mill owners that ..... would start operations yesterday have proved just as false as their other claims. They could not get the men to run their plants. The union men are standing solid and they are the only source of labor supply. The attempts to bring men in to take their places has failed, as we knew it would fail. The representatives of the employers know that they have been telling the public gross falsehoods."

Mills Students to See Firemen Work

Members of the Oakland fire department will give a demonstration before students of Mills College tomorrow morning. The demonstration will be in charge of Fire Chief Sam Short, who, from a platform, will give orders and direct the work of his men. He will also address the students. On the platform with the fire chief will be the tudent fire chiefs of the five residence halls.

Chief Short will show how a general alarm may be sounded and point out the newest methods of fire-fighting.

Tomorrow morning's program is the result of a recent fire in an engine-house on the Mills College campus. The flames were extinguished by the college fire-fighting force before the department arrived.

Lura Walton, talented California dramatist, whose plays for juveniles have been appearing in national women's magazines, has been induced by The Oakland TRIBUNE to write a series of children's plays. These sketches are simple and easy of production and there is nothing like them on the market. The first, a Valentine phantasy, will appear in The TRIBUNE Magazine Sunday.

The Gleewood Gas Furnace

Equipped with either an ELECTRIC or DIRECT CONTROL it will enable you to have all the heat needed at once.

Positive Action, Quick Heat

You have heard much of the GLEEWOOD and the sensation it caused this year.

Here are a few reasons—

It's economical features have been obtained by a greater radiating surface than has been obtained in any other Gas Furnace.
Its ease of operation—
Quick, dry heat—
Heat where you want it—
No carrying or storing fuel—
No running up and down stairs—
No fumes can come in contact with the rooms as the products of combustion are carried off in exactly the same way as smoke in a Coal Furnace.
It radiates and reflects pure-heated air—ventilating the rooms at the same time.
Just ask a friend that has one—let him tell you the joy and pleasure he is getting.
Economically priced — Easily installed.
Our Engineer will be glad to call and give exact figure on job without obligation on your part.

MY FAVORITE STORIES by IRVIN S. COBB

Maybe Not On the Second Day, Either

For his topic that Sabbath morning the reverend father chose the Judgment. He painted a shining picture of the scene which would be presented on the Last Day, when all the race of mankind, the quick and the dead, the old and the young, from Adam to the newest born babe, would assemble before the foot of the throne of the Almighty to be judged according to their deeds done in the flesh. It was an eloquent discourse and a moving one.

When the service was over an elderly Irishman tarried after the rest of the congregation had departed. He halted the priest as the latter was leaving.

"Your Riverince," he said, "I want to ask you a question or two, if you please. I followed your sermon close this mornin', but still I don't know if I got your meanin' quite clear."

"I rather thought my language was sufficiently plain for any understanding," said the clergyman.

"Oh it was plain, and most beautiful besides," said the parishioner. "But, Father, what I want to know is this: Do you mane to say thot on the Last Day whin Gabriel's Trumpet blows ivverybody thot iver lived in this world will be gathered togither at the wan place and the wan time?"

"That is my conception of the meaning of the Scriptures and the Gospels," said the priest.

"Do you think now, f'rinstance, thot Cain and Abel 'll be there, side be side?"

"Beyond a doubt."

"And thot little fella David and thot big slob Goliath—thim also you think?"

"Surely—I tell you I believe that all the earthly hosts will be assembled at once."

"And Brian Boru and Oliver Cromwell?"

"Of course, they will."

"And the A. P. A.'s and the A. O. H.'s!"

"Naturally."

"Father," said the parishioner, "there'll be dom little judgin' done the first day."

How to Be a Night Watchman

(NO. 17 VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE SERIES)

Every one should strive to become a night watchman. There is no walk of life in which you will meet so many interesting people. Who else but the night watchman knows so many successful actors, policemen, newspaper men, burglars, business men, automobile bandits, out-of-town salesmen, musicians and pickpockets? What other job requires one to be so wide awake as that of night watchman? I defy you to mention another one. I mean I don't think you can. What other job requires the foresight, the experience, the will power, the self-reliance, the aggressiveness, the—the—well, the aggressiveness of the, let's see, where was I? Oh yes, what other job requires all these things? Lots of them, I suppose, but I haven't time to enumerate them.

You can see from the above that night-watching is no mean, insignificant profession. It has been immortalized in song and story. There is the poem, "Watchman, what of the night?" and the watchman's honest reply, "What of it?" Could anything be more beautiful, more poetic? The answer, of course, is: Yes, anything.

Therefore since night-watching is a profession of vast importance with great possibilities, this lesson on how to become a night watchman will undoubtedly be of vital influence in our national life. Visualize, if you can, a nation composed entirely of night watchmen, all the result of reading this article. The days will no longer be filled with worries and anxieties—every one will be asleep in his little white bed. The sinful night life and all the vicious crimes now associated with the dark hours will be abolished—every one will be a night watchman on the lookout to suppress just such pernicious activities. Ah, that will indeed be the millenium—not the dawn of a new day, but the dusk of a new night.

I find on looking back through this article that I have said very little on how to become a night watchman, but, as Jonah told the whale, "A little of this goes a long way."

Cry of Geraldine's Shoulder

Listen, World

An amoeba is one of the lowest forms of life.
It is merely a blob.
It eats.
It wiggles.
It rests.
It grows.
It desires.
But it only desires things for the amoeba.
It occupies room.
It pushes itself into advantageous positions.
It fears.
It desires to perpetuate itself.
It does perpetuate itself.
It eats.
It wiggles.
It dies.
. . . 'Jever know an amoeba?

EVER since the first John Henry dragged the first Matilda Jane to his cave by her back hair and set her to frying a Mastadon steak, we have heard that woman's place is in the home, and whenever Matilda Jane has ventured to forsake the Mastadon steak and have a look about, she has caused a howl that the home was going to the bow-wows. Said howl has grown, if possible, more howling since the granting of suffrage and we are treated daily to dreadful prophesies of unmended husbands and unfooded children roaming our streets.

Comes now Lady Astor, American girl by birth, English lady by marriage, mother, wife and member of parliament by profession, and Lady Astor says:

"I doubt if as many homes will be neglected through politics as are through frivolity."

Lady Astor does not believe that the ideal housewife serves best by concentration on the soup kettle. Nor does she think that the husband of an intelligent citizen-woman is half as apt to lack buttons on his B. V. D.'s as the maid of the clinging vine type who can't be bored by politics.

What about it, world—how does it work out in your block?

Here's a little talk on married happiness that is one of the most beautiful things that has ever come to us. There are no wild eyed, romantic theories in it. It's simply sweet sanity, sturdy common sense and honorable self-restraint. If we heard more of such preaching and less lollipop philosophy we'd have fewer divorces.

Geraldine:

I would like to have written sooner, but I am very busy, having a big family to care for. The request for advice from one of your young correspondents who is soon to be married set me pondering, and I would like to pass on the same tender encouragement, wise counsel and sensible warnings that were given me many years ago by one of the finest of women—my mother. Not even the most confirmed pessimist could call my marriage a failure, and yet we are very ordinary folk, not rich nor famous, nor in any way especially endowed.

One of the first and most beautiful effects of love is to open the heart and minds of a man and woman to each other, to create an atmosphere of confidence, sympathy and understanding and a desire to get closer and closer—to be "one" spiritually and mentally as well as bodily.

This test is not hard to apply, and I can vouch for its truth. It makes every phase of your character a matter of absorbing interest to each other, touches the most commonplace events and experiences with the glory of adventure and builds a high wall between you two and all the sordid ugliness and disillusionment of the world. All lovers who are real lovers know it, but oh, so few are able to keep it!

The first petty trial, the tiniest irritation, the least opposition, and they stand ready to fling away this glorious gift, this magic garment! True, they may expect to reassume it, when the quarrel is over, and often it takes many cruel blows to destroy it absolutely, but it is never the same, any more than a patched garment is the same as the whole cloth.

One of the first things a wife must do, then, is to resolve to keep the peace and harmony, the confidence and sympathy of that first love, intact. It is the only capital wherewith you can purchase marital happiness. STRIVE BY EVERY MEANS IN YOUR POWER TO BE RESTFUL TO THE EYE, THE EAR AND THE HEART OF YOUR HUSBAND. Be his comfort, his confidante, his refuge, his holy of holies. If he displeases you or you have a fault to correct, wait until you are alone together, then draw his head down on your breast and with your arms around him tell him whatever it is gently, lovingly, understandingly. NEVER CRITICIZE HIM IN THE PRESENCE OF OTHERS. Never let him feel that your pride in him is failing, or your interest in him is waning. IN OTHER WORDS, DON'T TAKE HIM FOR GRANTED OR HE'LL DO THE SAME WITH YOU.

My husband turns to me with the same trust and candor that a child feels toward its mother. Every thought and plan and experience is brought to me with the simplicity and naturalness of our courtship days. His caresses are as spontaneous, his protective tenderness as evident, as they were on our honeymoon, and all this is not just luck, but the result of patience and self-control and absolute faith in the plan and principles I have previously outlined. I have never failed him, never lied to him, never shamed him, never neglected him, and oh, the indescribable joy of my reward! Such happiness as is only given to a few, I assure you.

Moreover, any normal man will respond in the same way.

My sisters are all as happily married as I, and yet our husbands present as wide a divergence in disposition and natural characteristics as you could well find.

I would add one more warning out of a wide experience in hearing and advising your married people. Never make any displeasing thing your husband may do, affect the more intimate, sacred side of your married life. Keep as far as possible in your physical relationship, an atmosphere of sweet and tender ceremony, a sacrament of love, apart from and untouched by the events or circumstances of life.

And so I conclude, little bride-to-be, with a hearty God bless you and every wish for your future happiness. One of the greatest helps in this world is to kneel down at least once a day to thank God for your blessings, ask Him to make you a good wife and mother, and review your determination to keep your marriage vows.

Sincerely and lovingly,
MRS. M.,
Fruitvale.

Folks, folks, please read this letter and come to your Jerry's aid. I'm sobbing at my futile mind and wobbly typewriter. Please help me.
To Geraldine:

I want to know which is proper. If I should drop a handkerchief on the street and a man should come along and see that I had dropped it, should he pick it up, hand it to me and say, "Lady, pardon me, but you dropped your handkerchief." Then should he tip his hat and walk right on as I say, "Oh, thank you," or should it be this way:

When I dropped my handkerchief, he should tap me on the shoulder and say, "Lady, you dropped your handkerchief," and I should say, "Thank you," and pick it up myself.

G. A. B.

None of those things, none. As he picks up your handkerchief you threw yourself into his arms and cry, "My hero." Curtain!

Pals, didju ever know one of those little boys who sneaks around when you aren't looking and writes horrid things on the back fence? No reason for writing them you know except that that's his idea of a wild time. Well, here's one of those little boys.
Dear Jerold:

Do you know where there is a rippling rilk is the kind of a nice, nice place? Babbling brooks and rippling rills is the kind of a place I mean. A vacation is what you need, dearie, not a snappy one, but a long "reg'lar" vacation.

Your reply to Bobby B. of recent date, proves beyond a doubt in anyone's mind that brain fag is your big trouble in life, old dear. A nice long vacation in the woods would do you heaps of good. Of that I am sure.

BOBBY B.

P. S.—I'll wyger a quid, old top, that you publish this (?). So here's to you, waste paper basket.
BOBBY BAN——.

BOBBIE: No, I don't think it's WRONG for a girl your age to be in love. Isn't it grand and glorious to feel yourself capable of doing all, being all to some wonderful man, all of seventeen years of age? Oh, come out of it. Forget your natural marcel wave and your rosebud mouth and pearly teeth and be HUMAN. You won't be flirted with unless you want to be. It's hard to see a girl who could be real and sweet and natural, getting a thrill out of "affairs" and putting things over on mother.

From Now On

"The hospital!" Dave Henderson echoed the word. It seemed to jeer at him. He could have summoned an ambulance himself! As well throw the cards upon the table! His eyes involuntarily sought that darker corner of the shed where the package of banknotes, bloodstained now, was hidden in the valise. The hospital, or the police station—in that respect, for Teresa as well as himself, it was all the same!

"Wait!" he said, and touched Dave Henderson's arm; then turned to the doctor. "Can we move her in my car?" he asked.

"Yes, I guess we can manage it," the doctor answered.

Millman drew the doctor a little to one side. He whispered earnestly. Dave Henderson caught a phrase about "getting a nurse"—and then he felt Millman's hand press his arm again.

"It's all right, Dave. I guess I'll open that town house after all this summer—to a select few," said Millman quietly. His hand tightened eloquently in its pressure. "We'll take her there, Dave."

It was a big house—like some vast, cavernous, deserted place. Footsteps, when there were footsteps, and voices, when there were voices, seemed to echo with strange loneliness through the great halls, and up and down the wide staircase. And in the dawn, as the light came gray, the pieces of furniture, swathed in their summer coverings of sheets, had seemed like wierd and ghostlike spectors inhabiting the place.

But the dawn had come hours ago.

Dave Henderson raised his head from his cupped hands. Was that the nurse now, or the doctor—that footstep up above? He listened a moment, and then his chin dropped back into his hands.

Black hours they had been—black hours for his soul, and hours full of the torment and agony of fear for Teresa.

From somewhere, almost coincident with their arrival at the house, a nurse had come. From some restaurant, a man had brought breakfast for the doctor, for the nurse, for Millman—and for him. He had eaten something—what, he did not know. The doctor was upstairs there now. Perhaps when the doctor came down again, the doctor would allow him to see Teresa. Half an hour ago they had told him that she would get well.

There was strange chaos in his mind. That agony of fear for her, that cold, icy thing that had held a clutch upon his heart, was gone; but in its place had come another agony—an agony of yearning—and now he was afraid—for himself.

Millman had tried to make him go to bed and sleep. Sleep! He could not have slept! He could not ever have remained still for five minutes at a stretch! He had been half mad with his anxiety for Teresa. He had wanted to be somewhere where his restlesss movements would not reach Teresa in her room, and yet somewhere where he could intercept every coming and going of the doctor. And so for hours he had alternately paced up and down this lower hall here, and thrown himself upon this great, wide, sheet-covered divan where he sat now. And in those hours his mind, it seemed, had run the gamut of every emotion a human soul could know. It ached now — physically. His temples throbbed and hurt.

His eyes strayed around the hall, and held on a large sheet-draped piece of furniture over beyond the foot of the staircase. They had served other purposes, these coverlings, than to make spectral illusions in the gray of dawn! Beneath that sheet lay the package of banknotes. It made a good hiding place. He had extracted the package from the valise, and had secreted it there during the confusion as they had entered the house. But it seemed to take form through that sheet now, as it had done a score of times since he had put it there, and always it seemed as though a crimson stain that was on the wrapper would spread and spread until it covered the entire package.

That package—and the crimson stain! It seemed to make of itself a curiously appropriate foreground for a picture that spread away into a vista of limitless years; an orphan school, with its cracked walls, and the painted mottoes whose scrolls gaped where the cracks were; a swirl of horses racing madly down the stretch a roar of hoarse, delirious shouts, elated oaths around the bookmaker's paying stand, pinched faces on the outer fringes of this ring; a thirst intolerable, stark pain, the brutal jolting of a boxcar through the nights, hours upon hours of a horror that ended only with the loss of consciousness; walls that reared themselves so high that they seemed to stand sentinels against the invasion of even a ray of sunlight, steel bars and doors, and bolts that clanged, and clanged, until the sound ate like some cancerous thing into the soul itself; and then wolves, human wolves, ravenous wolves, between two packs of them, the police on the one hand, the underworld on the other, that snarled and tore at him, while he fought them for his life.

All that! That was the price he had paid for that package there—that, and that crimson stain.

He swept his hand across his eyes. His face grew set, and his jaws locked hard together. No, he wasn't sure yet that even that was all—that the package there was even yet finally and irrevocably his—to do with as he liked. There was last night—the Iron Tavern—the police again. Was there a connecting link trailing behind him? What had become of the Scorpion?—What story had the man perhaps told? Were the police looking for an unknown man—who was Dave Henderson; and looking for an unknown woman—who was Teresa?

Well, before long now, surely, he would know—when Millman got back. Millman, who had intimated that he had an inside pull somewhere that would get the straight police version of the affair, had gone out immediately after breakfast for that purpose.

That was what counted, the only thing that counted—to know where the police stood. Millman ought to be back now. He had been gone for hours. It was taking him an unaccountably long time!

Millman! He had called Millman a straight crook. He had tried to call Millman something else this morning—for what Millman had done for Teresa and himself last night. Only he wasn't any good at words. But Millman had seemed to understand, though Miliman had not said much, either—just a smile in the gray eyes, and a long, steady clasp of both hands on his, Dave Henderson's, shoulders.

There was a footstep on the stairs now. He looked up It was the doctor coming down. He jumped to his feet, and went eagerly to the foot of the stairs.

"Better!" said the doctor cheerily.

"I—I want to see her," said Dave Henderson.

The doctor smiled as he moved across the hall toward the front door.

"In a few minutes," he said. "I've told the nurse to let you know when she's ready."

The doctor went out.

He heard the doctor begin to descend the outer steps and then pause, and then another footstep ascending; and then he caught the sound of voices. And then, after a little while, the front door opened and Millman came into the reception hall.

Dave Henderson's lips tightened as he stepped toward the other.

"What"—he found his voice strangely hoarse, and he cleared his throat—"what did you find out?"

Millman motioned toward the divan.

"Everything, I guess, Dave," he answered, as he sat down.

"And—?" Dave Henderson flung himself down beside the other.

Millman shook his head.

"Better hear the whole story, Dave. You can size it up then for yourself."

Dave Henderson nodded.

"Go on, then!" he said.

"I told you," said Millman, "that I thought I could get inside information—the way the police looked at it. Well, I have. And I have got it from a source that is absolutely dependable. Understand, Dave?"

Dave Henderson nodded again.

"The police start with that telephone message," said Millman. "They believe that it was authentic, and that it was Dago George who sent it. In fact, without it they wouldn't have known where to turn; while with it the whole affair appears to be simplicity itself." He smiled a little whimsically. "They used it as the key to unlock the door. It's no discredit to their astuteness. With nothing to refute it, it is not only the obvious, but the logical solution. Bookie builded a great deal better than he knew—for Dave Henderson—when he used that telephone for his own dirty ends. It wouldn't have been so easy for the police to account for the death of three men in the Iron——"

"Three!" Dave Henderson strained suddenly forward. Three! There were—two; only two—Dago George and Bookie Skarvan. Only two dead—and a red-headed thing huddled at the foot of the stairs. Was that it? Was that the third one—Cunny the Scorpion? Had it ended with that? Had he killed a man? Last night he would have torn the fellow limb from limb—yes, and under the same circumstances, he would do it again—Teresa upstairs, who had been so close to death; justified that a thousand times over. But—— "You mean Cunny the Scorpion—Cunny Smeeks?" he demanded tensely.

"Yes," said Millman. And then, with a quick, comprehensive glance at Dave Henderson's face: "But you didn't do it, Dave."

Dave Henderson's hands were clenched between his knees. They relaxed slowly.

"I'm glad of that," he said in a low tone. "Go on, Millman."

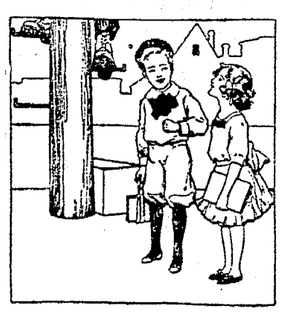
Brain Tests
by Sam Loyd

6 Minutes to Answer This.



Algernon Montmorency has undertaken the training of his sister Matilda's mind, and on the way to school he picks up puzzling propositions calculated to "teach the young idea to shoot."

"You see, by the time he has gone from the ground to the top, stepping on every spike in the pole, this man's left foot will have traveled 48-49 as far as his right foot. The spikes are a uniform distance apart. Now, without counting them, I want you to tell me how many spikes there are in the pole."

Can you answer Algernon's puzzling question?

Answer to Yesterday's.

The three tie scores, made at the big turkey shoot, were composed as follows:

First—50, 10, 5, 3, 2, 1. Second—25, 20, 20, 3, 2, 1. Third—25, 20, 10, 10, 5, 1.

PSYCHO-ANALYSIS
by ANDRE TRIDON

This is the second of an extensive course in Psycho-Analysis prepared for popular study by the noted French savant for readers of The Oakland TRIBUNE. The writer will attempt to explain the intricacies of the new mental theory so that all may understand. Andre Tridon is author of "Psycho-analysis, Its History, Theory and Practice," "Psycho-analysis and Behavior," "Psycho-analysis, Sleep and Dreams," etc.

THE SWISS ANALYSTS

HOW do Freud and Jung differ in their contentions on this new science of psycho-analysis?

Dr. Carl Jung of Zurich, whose name was mentioned frequently in the American press, when Mrs. McCormick of Chicago returned to the United States after studying under his direction, is the leader of the so-called Swiss school of psycho-analysis.

Dr. Jung refuses to consider erotic cravings as the most important element in human life. The "life urge" which he calls the "libido," (pronounced lee-bee-do, with the accent on "be,") is infinitely bigger than the "sex urge."

Jung thinks that the influence of the parents is much more important in deciding the children's normality or abnormality than the children's erotic development.

ANDRE TRIDON.

He disagrees with Freud as to the meaning of dreams. To him, dreams are not so much a fulfillment of repressed wishes as a picture of the present situation as the dreamer really sees it in his unconscious. In other words, the fantastic visions of our dreams are a representation of our present problems dramatized and thrown on the screen of our mind in sleep.

Jung does not attribute mental disease to the explosion of childhood cravings long repressed. The neurotic ailment, he tells us, is due to the fact that the neurotic finds himself in a difficulty which he does not care to solve for himself.

Freud contended that the task of the analyst simply consisted in making the patient realize the wishes which he had been unconsciously repressing for years. Jung considers the analysis as a high moral task of immense educational value.

Jung and his followers treat the insane by leading them gradually to seek a resolution of their difficulties on a higher plane where primitive cravings and ethical duties no longer are in conflict.

Freud placed the emphasis on the past and on pure animalism. Jung stresses the present and our social ethics.

JAMES BELL,
121 Eighteenth Street, Oakland.
(Eight years old.)

James has written a sad story, but an exciting one, and it has a whopping big moral, so take heed, all you pirates, when you hike in the woods!

THE LITTLE PIGS' SQUEAK.

Once upon a time a pig lived in a den. A little boy ran in the den. The little boy said, "I will open the big door and stay here all night, and in the morning I will run home to mamma and papa and my girl. OOOOH! Help! Help! I guess I will not stay here for a night, little pig!"

"I guess you better not, little boy," said the pig. "And I guess I will eat you."

And the little boy ran home. And then he ran into the woods again, and this time a wolf got him by his pants and ate him all up.

So you see you better not run into the woods and open a door into a little pig's house. So the little boy ran and he hollered "Help!"

Harold is another of our promising younger pirates, but this story isn't quite so sad as the one James wrote.

THE SUBMARINE.

I was dreaming last night I was a sailor. They put me on a boat to work. We were going to France. On the way we saw a submarine.

We fired a shot. The torpedo hit the first time. And down it sank. The next day we landed in France.

CITIZENSHIP OF AMERICA.

As foreigners come into San Francisco and New York, etc., mischievous boys play pranks on them, and make fun of them, but very seldom a girl.

They mostly say, "May I help you?" Is it not so, boys? It certainly is with a few I know. Yet there are good boys, too, and in some respects they outnumber the girls ten to one. I am a boy but in this item I favor no one.

BE KIND AND LOYAL TO ALL.

THE LAST OF THE TITANIC.

"Ship ahoy! Ship ahoy!" came a cry from the lookout as he climbed slowly down the rope ladder.

"Where?" came the reply from the deck of the Titanic, the biggest ship in the world.

But before he could answer there came a crash, followed by terrified cries from passengers. The Titanic had struck a rock and was slowly sinking.

When Jack, as that was the captain's name, came to his senses, he looked around. He was on some unknown shore, without food or clean water. Without them he might starve, but still he might catch game, but he had no weapons. He could make a club, however.

That was his only hope. He still had his pocket knife with him, so choosing a large branch from a tree he started to make his club. It was an easy job as he only had to cut the twigs and leaves off and that was not hard to do. He soon had a pretty good club.

Then he started off in the hopes that he could come across some animal that would serve as his supper, and sure enough, after travelling a mile he came across the freshly made footprints of a deer. But it was not very easy to follow this and at last he had to stop because they had disappeared.

Before he had started on his hunt he had put his red handkerchief on a pole in the hopes that a passing ship would see it.

And sure enough, when he got back he saw to his delight a ship had anchored and a lifeboat was putting in for the shore.

He was taken from the island and was soon in his native land. The rest of the story is soon told. He married and lived happy ever after with his wife and child in a snug little cottage near the coast of America.

ELWYN OVERSHINER.

Wherever we do roam,
And so thou timid witches
Returnest to thy home,
Ere thou be caught by one of us,
And made to walk the plank,
And thy body by the witches be found
Upon the river's bank.

Uncle Wiggily Stories
by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE COLD JAY.

"This is very sad!" said Uncle Wiggily.

"Where's Uncle Wiggily?" called Nurse Jane to the lame rabbit gentleman one morning as he was about to hop away from his bungalow-stump bungalow. "As long as you are going out you might as well take these pieces of your old fur overcoat to Mrs. Twistytail, the pig lady."

"What in the world does Mrs. Twistytail want of the pieces of my old fur overcoat?" asked Uncle Wiggily, looking at his new coat, which he was wearing, as the day was very cold.

"Oh, the pig lady is going to make a little jacket for Squeakie Squealer, her baby pig," answered Nurse Jane. "Little pigs, you know, have verythin skin, and they get cold easily They don't have warm fur coats as you and I have. So when you bought your new coat I saved the pieces of the old one for the poor little baby pig."

"That was very kind of you," said Uncle Wiggily. "And as I am going to hop past Mrs. Twistytail's house today, looking for an adventure, I'll leave her the fur pieces."

Uncle Wiggily thrust the bits of fur into the pocket of his new coat, and hopped away. Over the fields and through the woods he went, and all the way he looked for an adventure. But none could he find.

"It is very sad to think how scarce adventures are getting," sighed the bunny rabbit. "It used to be that I didn't have to hop but a little way from my bungalow and I'd find half a dozen. Now I'm lucky if I can come across one in a whole day's walk. But cheer up! Something may happen before dark. I'll whistle a little!"

And the bunny rabbit whistled a right jolly tune. But no sooner had he done so, twinkling his pink nose the while, that, all of a sudden, a sad voice cried:

"Oh, if that is another bird singing, will they please take pity on me and help me?"

"Dear me!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Trouble is here! I am no bird," he went on, "but I shall be glad to help you, whoever you are—that is if you are not the Woozie Wolf, the Fuzzy Fox or the Skillery Scallery Alligator," he added, quickly.

"I am a poor, cold Blue Jay Bird," was the sade answer. "I was asleep on a tree branch not long ago, when, all at once, the Fuzzy Fox sneaked up and tried to get me!"

"Did he?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Not quite. He caught me in his paws, but I managed to fly away, though he pulled off a lot of my feathers. And we Blue Jays, as well as other winter birds, need all the feathers we can get these cold days. Oh, how I shiver!"

"This is very sad!" said Uncle Wiggily, as he caught sight of the poor, shivering Blue Jay, with half his feathers gone. "But wait a moment. I know what I can do. I have a lot of odd pieces of fur from my old coat in the pocket of this new coat. Here. I'll give you some bits of fur, as there are more than Mrs. Twistytail will need for Squeakie Squealer."

"Oh, thank you!" chirped the Jay. "You are very kind!"

"Pray, do not dwell upon it," modestly spoke the bunny. "Now, if you take those fur pieces to my bungalow, and tell Nurse Jane I sent you, she will make you a little fur jacket to wear until your feathers grow in again."

"Oh, I never met any one so kind," said the Jay, and Uncle Wiggily, his pink nose blushing red at this praise, handed over the fur pieces and hopped away.

Mrs. Twistytail was very glad to get the other bits of fur with which to make Squeakie Squealer a warm jacket, and she said Uncle Wiggily had done a kind act in helping clothe the Blue Jay. When the bunny reached his bungalow that evening Nurse Jane had already finished the little warm fur coat for the cold Jay.

"And I have asked him to stay in our bungalow until his feathers grow out again," said the muskrat lady to Uncle Wiggily.

"You did quite right. He is welcome to stay as long as he likes," said the bunny.

And that night, when Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane were asleep, the Jay stayed awake, because of the pain where his feathers had been pulled out by the Fox. And wide awake as he was, in the kitchen of the bungalow, all at once the bird heard a noise at the back door. The door opened and in came the Woozie Wolf. But as soon as the Jay saw the Wolf the bird began to scream, as all Jays do.

"Fish hook! Fish hook! Fish hook!!" screamed the Jay. At least it sounded like that.

"Oh, I don't want any fish hooks stuck in me! I'm afraid of fish hooks!" howled the Wolf, and out he ran, not hurting Uncle Wiggily at all; though the Wolk broke in to nibble the bunny's ears.

"Oh, you saved my ears from being nibbled by crying 'Fi h hook!' Mr. Jay," said the bunny, when he heard what had happened. "Thank you!"

So the Jay stayed nearly all winter in the bungalow, and in the spring new feathers grew on him.

Holding a Husband
by Adele Garrison

I waited breathlessly for his answer. I had advanced the suggestion of the studio tremulously, feeling that his acceptance or rejection of it would signify much to me. Yet in the back of my brain I knew that my attitude was wholly unreasonable, for the studio accommodations were cramped for one—they would be almost intolerable for two.

Dicky was silent for nearly a minute after I had finished, and I drove miserably along, wondering if I had failed to convince him of my sincerity or if he were trying to think of some method of dodging the studio suggestion. Finally, I felt his arm slip around my waist, and his voice sounded mischievously in my ear.

"PRETTY QUICK FOOT WORK—"

"Pretty quick foot work, old dear," he said mockingly, but there was tenderness in the mockery, and my heart grew lighter. "Of course, that wasn't what you meant at first, but so long as you shifted so cleverly, far be it from me to hold a grudge on it. And I was going to spring that very suggestion when you came to bat with it. Of course, the studio will be out of the question, except for an occasional day—you know what a cramped little hole it is—but it will be lots of fun having you camp there with me, and we ought to be able to find some sort of rooms toward fall. I tell you, dear heart, it makes all the difference in the world to me whether you're around or not. If you're there it's home, if you're away it isn't."

If there is a woman in the world with any affection for her husband whose heart would not have thrilled at those words I should like to see her and card index her as a curiosity. My heart was beating high with happiness. I tried to express to Dicky something of what I felt, and failed miserably, but I think he understood, for his clasp tightened around me, and we jogged on down the road in blissful contentment.

A HURRIED MESSENGER.

The sounding of a horn behind me warned me that a car wished to pass. Dicky took his arm from my waist as I swerved the car to the side of the road. But the driver of the car, instead of passing, kept even with us, and as I looked up to see the reason of his action I saw that in the seat behind the wheel sat Dr. Pettit.

He gestured imperiously for us to stop, and I felt suddenly as if ice had congealed around my heart. His face was stern and set, and I knew that he would not have stopped me with Dicky in the car unless there was some grave reason for it.

I stopped the car and Dicky leaned across me, took the query trembling on my lips from my mouth.

"What has happened?" he asked, and I recognized stark fear in his voice.

As Dr. Pettit drew his car up beside ours I noticed through my terror, as if one part of my brain were working mechanically, that he threw the gear into first immediately upon stopping, evidently with the lash of hurry in getting away spurring him on. Almost without my own volition I put my own car in equal readiness for starting off at once, listened tensely to his reply to Dicky's query as to what had happened.

"I don't know," he replied tersely. "Jerry Tiger telephoned me to come to the farm at once, and said if I saw you to tell you to hurry. There had been an accident. Boodbl."

At the last word he released his clutch and the car shot forward. For a second the sky and earth seemed to merge and revolve around my head, and I had heard Dicky's voice, strained, wild with anxiety, gasp:

"Shall I drive?"

But I had pulled myself together and sent the car forward swiftly.

KEEP QUIET—"

"No, it would take too much time changing seats. I'm all right now." I heard my voice utter the words, and it sounded like that of some stranger, it was so hoarse and creaky.

I had delayed but a second or two, yet Dr. Pettit's car was already far down the road. With the thought that my baby might be dead or dying at the end of my journey—for like all mothers, my fears flew first to my child—I was sending the car madly along, forcing it to its utmost speed, when Dicky spoke again.

"You can't catch Pettit, Madge. He has a more powerful car and the start. And this road isn't very good, especially that turn."

MILLINERY CLASS OPENS FEBRUARY 7

SAN LEANDRO, Jan. 31.—Under the supervision of Mrs. N. Burrows of Oakland, a spring millinery class will open Tuesday, February 7, at the Broadmoor school. The class will be held weekly until the course is completed. Last year's course, of which this is but a continuation, was very successful, it is stated, and it is expected that the new class will far outnumber the previous one. Women of San Leandro who are interested in this course, hope that it will soon be adopted by San Leandro schools as a regular part of the school's program.

POSTMISTRESS ARRESTED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Mrs. Eva Reid, postmistress, of Knowles, Merced county, is under arrest here charged with a statutory offense. George Dooley, who is alleged to have left Knowles with Mrs. Reid, was arrested Saturday night. Dooley is a postal inspector. Mrs. Reid's arrest was caused by her husband.

"If you saw a full-grown human hammer, a defenseless horse, or even a dog, you would promptly call the humane society headquarters," says Geraldine in next Sunday's TRIBUNE Magazine. "But if a mother is pummeling a baby, it's hands off!" Then Geraldine proceeds to have a word about Baby Slappers generally.

TWELVE FIND WORK IN SAN LEANDRO

SAN LEANDRO, Jan. 31.—Twelve more unemployed men of San Leandro were placed at work this morning on a section of the Oakland Terminal Railways' track near San Lorenzo. Five men were put to work yesterday morning, and word received by Marshal J. P. Peralta last night made a request for twelve more. Peralta's office has been besieged by men asking for work the past week, and he believes that the temporary relief offered by the traction company will help solve the question that is facing him.

Speeders Fined $25, $15 by Judge Gannon

SAN LEANDRO, Jan. 31.—Judge W. J. Gannon's regular Monday afternoon court for speeders was an inactive session yesterday as but two offenders appeared, both pleading guilty to the charge. F. L. Lewis of Oakland was fined $25 and A. Costa, of San Leandro, $15. His police are to the method of levying fine was explained in full by the judge. Up to and including the speed of 45 miles an hour, a speeder will be allowed leniency to the extent of a $10 fine. Beyond that, for every additional mile of law-breaking speed, a fine of $5 will be tacked on.

San Francisco News

MAN FINDS BODY, BUT NO CORONER, SLEEP NEXT DOOR

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—When Fred Steiner, 247 Vienna street, found Julius Petersen, 55, a cook, asphyxiated in a room adjoining his, he walked to the coroner's office, but found no one in. He went home and went to bed. The next morning he went again to the coroner's office and this time found some one in. He told about Petersen. He said the gas was turned on and Petersen was dead. Steiner said he believed the wind blew out the gas jet. The police also believe Petersen's death was accidental.

Woman Sues Husband On Cruelty Ground

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Mrs. Freda Blackstone has sued her husband, Herbert L. Blackstone, for divorce. She charges him with cruelty and with a statutory offense. In her complaint she alleges that he sent her two $15 checks and that one of them was made payable to and endorsed by her husband's affinity, who is known to her as Helen Blackstone and who resides at the San Maurice apartments, Jones and Sutter streets.

Doctor, Practicing Golf, Strikes Nurse

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Miss Lenore McKenna, nurse in the office of Dr. Louis D. Bacigalupi, is at the St. Francis hospital suffering a lacerated scalp as the result of being struck in the temple with a golf club in the hands of Dr. Bacigalupi, who told the police he was practicing with a new golf club and did not know his nurse was near him. He made a swing and struck her.

Berkeley Woman Hurt In Accident, Dies

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Mrs. Mary Little, 1820 San Pablo avenue, Berkeley, who was injured Saturday night when run down by an automobile driven by Frank J. Matten of Collingwood, died last night as a result of her injuries. Mrs. Little was running for a street car at Seventh and Mission streets when struck.

"Speed King" of the Typewriter in S. F.

Woman Found Dead Leaves Daughter Note

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Mrs. Viola J. Lattimer, 56, a widow, was found dead in a bathtub filled with water last night in her home, 420 Tenth avenue. She left a note to her daughter, Mrs. Fanny Hill, who lives upstairs, asking forgiveness. She had been ill for several years.

Funeral Held for Pioneer Publisher

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Funeral services for Benjamin C. Wright, pioneer San Francisco newspaperman and the last survivor of the fifteen original incorporators of the San Francisco Y. M. C. A., who died Sunday, were held today. Wright was 87 years old. A widow and two sons survive.

CHARGED WITH ARSON.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Mrs. Minnie Marshock, proprietor of a notion store at 2809 Geary street, is under arrest charged with arson. Acting Fire Marshal J. E. Sullivan caused a warrant to be issued charging her with setting fire to her store when several children and adults were sleeping upstairs. Mrs. Marshock is said to have had $2500 insurance on her property.

FILM STAR ILL.

THREAT LETTER WRITTEN BY GIRL EXPERT THINKS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Confusion was added yesterday to the investigation of the cases of Vincent Fardella and Hugo Broeckner, accused of having kidnaped Irene and Winnie Larkin, when Carl Eisenschimel, handwriting expert for the police, expressed an opinion following an examination that one of the girls wrote a threatening letter sent to their home on Saturday. Another development, according to the police, is that Fardella and Broeckner are not acquainted with one another. Fardella claims to have witnesses that he was home in bed on the night of the kidnaping. The two girls on their part positively declare that Broeckner and Fardella kidnaped them.

Supervisor Objects to Terms Used in Speech

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Margaret Mary Morgan, San Francisco's lone woman supervisor, almost broke up a meeting of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors yesterday, when she interrupted Supervisors Hynes and McSheehy during an argument over an effort to attach a rider to an appropriation of $25,000 for the relief of needy ex-service men. Supervisor Morgan objected to the terms "windjamming," "grandstanding" and "wild Bill," which had been used by Hynes. "It is the quoting of these things throughout the country which is making this board ridiculous," she said. "Let us have a new order of conduct of speech at our next meeting."

Maj.-General Wright Bids S. F. Goodbye

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Major-General William M. Wright yesterday bade goodby to San Francisco when he spoke before the Association of the Army of the United States. He will sail next week for Manila, his new post of command. General Wright described the growth of the Association of the Army of the United States from its infancy into a national organization, promoting the spirit of comradeship between members of the regular army, the national guard and the organized reserve.

BANISH RED FLAG, SENATOR PLEADS

America must return to the doctrines preached by the founders of the republic if she intends to return to normalcy and keep the red flag of Bolshevism from her streets, according to Senator Frank M. Carr, who last night addressed the Dimond Improvement Club on the subject of "Americanism."

"We must not submit to having our civilization rent with the red flag flying in the streets, nor should we, if we could, permit a return to the shameful inequalities of the past, with greedy extravagance and self-indulgence at one end of the scale and bitter poverty at the other," said Carr. "What we want to see in this country is the average citizen, the plain man and his family, made more prosperous and contented, and in order to do this we must come back again to the doctrines that were preached by the founders of this republic."

Carr spoke of the necessity of this nation caring for her war veterans in the campaign to defeat the agitators. He emphasized the seriousness of the unrestricted influx of Japanese and urged the establishment of the Pacific ocean as a barrier nature intended it to be—like the barrier formed by the Ural mountains against invasion of Europe by the hordes of Asiatics.

It was discovered that a charge of explosives had been placed against the door of the home of Alfonso Murciano, an aged man undergoing treatment at St. Mary's hospital. There was no one home at the time. The force of the explosion destroyed the front of the structure, made a deep hole in the pavement nearby and also did some damage to the adjoining two-story building at 1255 Montgomery street, occupied by John Figone.

Alfonso Murciano Jr., told the police that he knew of no enemies who would want to injure his family. He said, however, that two weeks ago an attempt had been made to burn down the home by sprinkling coal oil near the front door. The police were unable to find any clews. There were no fragments of a bomb, nor bits of fuse nor any tangible evidence. Young Murciano explained that he had gone to the hospital to visit his father, taking with him his small brother, Tony, aged 12, and that his invalid sister was visiting friends in the neighborhood during the absence of his father.

Improvement of Rail Crossing Urged

RICHMOND, Jan. 31.—Improvement of the Fourth street crossing over the Santa Fe tracks was asked by twenty-six property-owners before the City Council Monday night. The street committee, city manager and city engineer will consider the matter and report at next Monday's meeting.

Tenth street, from Pennsylvania to Lucas streets, and Lucas street, from Tenth to Thirteenth streets, are to be widened following a favorable report from the City Planning Commission.

Application of J. Belliardo for permission to improve a building on Macdonald avenue, between Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets, was received by the building committee.

Application of C. Santella for transfer of a soft drink permit from J. A. Edwards, at 200 Macdonald avenue, was referred to the license committee.

Man Asphyxiated By Leaking Heater

RICHMOND, Jan. 31.—John B. Smith was found asphyxiated by gas in his room at 516 Tenth street Monday afternoon. A gas heater was burning, though leaking, when E. Pieper, owner of the apartment house, entered the room and found the body. It is believed Smith came home during the night, lit the heater and went to sleep, or was overcome by escaping fumes.

The deceased is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith, 739 Twenty-first street. He saw service overseas with the Thirty-ninth Infantry Regiment, E company.

POOL HALL OWNER FREED BY COURT

FAIRFIELD, Jan. 31.—Judge W. T. O'Donnell has reversed the decision of Police Judge John A. Browne of Vallejo in the case of People vs. Lloyd F. Davis, charged with operating and conducting a pool room after closing hours, he finding that the evidence did not support the judgment of conviction.

In reviewing the testimony and evidence as presented before Judge Browne, it was shown to Judge O'Donnell that the alleged pool room was in reality the "Palace Club," an incorporated social club of Vallejo, and no proof was presented to show that the business was being conducted as a public place at the time of the arrest.

According to the evidence two police officers entered the place at six minutes past one a. m. and found several men playing billiards and several playing cards, and arrested the defendant for violation of an ordinance ordering public places closed at 1 a. m.

It was also shown that at the trial in the lower court it had been stipulated that in July, 1921, Davis had been granted a license to run a pool room which license expired December 31, 1921, and no evidence was presented to show that the place was operating under a license at the time of the arrest in January, 1922, counsel for defendant stating that no license had been obtained from the City of Vallejo since January 1, 1922. Two witnesses for the defendant, according to the statement on appeal, testified that all the inmates of the place at the time of the arrest were members of the club and no outsiders were present.

The ruling of Judge O'Donnell reverses the judgment of the lower court which fined the defendant $25 and dismissed the case against him.

Give It to Them—
This trial tube—watch their teeth improve
If you prefer, let your children make this test. Let them brush their teeth a few days in this modern way. Then look and see what film removal means.
This is a way to whiter, cleaner, safer teeth. Millions now employ it. Leading dentists everywhere advise it. Let someone in your home this week show the benefits it brings.
Why teeth look dingy
Your teeth are coated with a viscous film. You can feel it with your tongue. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. It dims and may ruin teeth.
Ordinary tooth pastes do not effectively combat it. So film-coats have been almost universal.
Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay.
Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Thus most tooth troubles are now traced to film, and, despite the tooth brush, they have constantly increased.
Must remove it daily
Dental science has long been seeking a daily film combatant. Now two effective methods have been found. Authorities have proved them by many careful tests.
A new-day tooth paste has been perfected, to comply with modern requirements. And these two film combatants are embodied in it. The name of the tooth paste is Pepsodent.
Millions of people of some forty races now employ it daily, largely by dental advice.
Two other new effects
Pepsodent brings two other effects which authorities now deem essential.
It multiplies the starch digestant in saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth which may otherwise ferment and form acids.
It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is Nature's neutralizer for the acids which cause decay.

Real protection now
Now you can know what really clean teeth mean. Pepsodent fights film-coats, starch and acids—all the great tooth enemies. Then it leaves the mouth in normal alkaline condition. The glistening teeth you see everywhere now show something of the benefits it brings.
New beauty in a week
The Pepsodent effects are quickly seen and felt. This test will be a revelation to you.
Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Note the refreshing taste it leaves.
It will bring you prettier teeth, and quickly. But, more than that, it will bring you safer teeth. Cut out the coupon so you won't forget.

BIG BUZ SAYS HE IS READY TO HAVE BEST SEASON ON THE KNOLL

Many New Pitchers Will Be Introduced to the Coast League Fans the Coming Season.

By EDDIE MURPHY.

Scratch the name of Russell (Buz) Arlett off the list of possible holdouts on the Oakland ball club for the coming season! It was hinted a few days ago that the big pitcher was going to cause a lot of worry to the owners of the local club and that there was a possibility of him not being with them next season, but the big boy killed all need for worry by stepping out to the Oakland ball park yesterday morning and signing his name to a 1922 contract. His contract was the first to be signed out of the batch sent out Saturday morning, so it looks like somebody had the wrong hunch in saying that Buz was going to keep the local owners guessing until the opening of the season. Although he did not expect to have any trouble in getting Arlett's name to a contract, Del Howard remarked yesterday that Arlett's signing lifts one big worry off his mind.

After signing his name Buz told Del that he was set to go, and that he thinks he will have better success this season than he has in any since joining the club. Arlett had a fairly good season with the Oaks last year, but far from what expected. Buz started out under a big handicap last season, that of the fans expecting greater things of him than they did any other pitcher in the league, for the reason that he had such a wonderful season the year before. Had Buz not been the hardest worked pitcher in the league, winning twenty-nine and losing but seventeen games during 1920, it's a cinch he would have got by like the average pitcher last season, because the fans were not expecting too much from him.

There will be a lot of fans looking for Buz to come back the coming season and have just as good success as he did in 1920, and nobody is more confident that he can do it than Buz himself. The big fellow has been taking wonderful care of himself, keeping away from basketball games and not doing any mound duty in the winter league. An injury sustained to his shoulder last winter in a basketball game was mainly responsible for Buz just having a fairly good season last year. Del Howard and Honus Mitze also look for Buz to have a big year. Maybe it will not be like that of 1920, but it will be a good one, they say.

Many New Hurlers Will Be Seen in Coast League.

Many new pitchers will make their debut, while others who have been absent for a year or more will return in the Pacific Coast League next season. And besides that there will be others who were in the league last season, but will wear different uniforms this time. So all in all, it will look to the fans like the league has undergone a general housecleaning when the boys trot out for the opening games in April. The San Francisco Seals at the present time have the most new hurlers to present to the fans, they being Coumbe, Mitchell, Gillenwater, Davis, Ernie Alten, Hansen and Bob Geary.

The Portland Club will not only have new owners and a manager, but at least six new fingers in Middleton, Sutherland, Parks, Freeman, Crumpler and Leverenz, all men who are expected to go great guns in the P. C. L. Leverenz was purchased from the Salt Lake Bees and the change is expected to bring much better results from him than were delivered last season, as he was a bit dissatisfied with his old position, according to friends.

Bill Essick of the Vernon Tigers, one of the only two managers to remain from last year, has four new fingers to show the fans. They are: James, from Minneapolis; Gilder, Grand Rapids; Cross, Tacoma, and Doyle, of Joplin and Atlanta.

So far the Oakland Club has Horace (Hod) Eller and Herb Brenton, both secured from the Cincinnati Reds through the Pinelli deal. There will also be a number of bushers trying out. The Angels have three, York from Chicago; Wallace from Victoria, and Ponder, also from Chicago.

Five will make their appearance in the Seattle training camp. They are: Berger from Joplin, Shaw of Washington, Finneran of Newark, Fisher from Reading, and Vean Gregg, veteran coast and major leaguer.

Baseball Fodder

Twenty-third avenue will be well represented at Hayward next Sunday afternoon, when Elmer Hoover starts the game for the Merchants. Eddy Perz is trying hard to have as many autos as he can possibly get to take care of his players and fans for the little journey to Hayward. Twenty-third avenue rooters, with machines, will leave Twenty-third avenue and East Fourteenth street today at 12:45 and if possible all will go to the ball grounds together.

The fans of Levee grounds were all pleased to see Eddy Matson in harness again covering the short patch. Eddy played a fine game and did everything that was expected of him. Manager Eddy Perz feels that his trip to Atwater was not in vain when he brought Eddy to Oakland, for he showed his many friends that he was still an excellent shortstop. Matson will be seen later on in the season playing bush ball around the season.

SEEKING CLASS 'B' CHAMPIONSHIP

The Telegraph Avenue Merchants, managed by Rene Lassalle, have two more games to play before completing their schedule in the California division of The TRIBUNE Class "B" League, and if they can win them they will tie the Niles Victory Motors for the championship, and will have a good chance to play the winners of the Eastern and Western divisions. The Telegraphs who are self-supporting are (top row, left to right), AL KYTE, RAY FINNIMORE, HAROLD BONDSHU, MANAGER RENE LASSALLE, AL SEARS, CAPTAIN BILL McELROY and ART ("FAT") WURCH. Lower row (left to right), DICK TOWERS, HARRY KNOELMAN, BILL YORE, JOE MELLANA, GEORGE GARCIA, and the little fellow is MASCOT JIM WILLIAM

BOXING

Oakland Parlor No. 50 took two out of three from Joe Thomas' Piedmont No. 2 team last night, the Oakland boys finding the alleys greatly to their liking for the first two games, in which they turned in 800 scores. In the third contest the Piedmont boys found their eye and nosed the Oakland aggregation out by a margin of 23 pins. The estimable "Toots" Bankhead again pinch hit for "Achilles" Holstrom and clicked out a most respectable evening's work. Montgomerry was high marker with 528 for the series, his count of 209 in spasm the first winning high game as well. Pezzola and Starasinich also turned in 500 scores.

"Achilles" Holstrom, who has been on the injured list for a week with a bad arm he got in eating in a one-arm joint, is going to be ready to tackle Claremont next week in the next to last contest of the season.

Jack Dempsey To Fight Bill Brennan Again

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Jack Dempsey will defend his world's heavyweight boxing title against Bill Brennan of Chicago in a twelve-round match in Madison Square Garden March 17, it was reported today.

The Chicagoan has twice been knocked out by Dempsey. In 1918 when Jack was on his way to the title, he disposed of Brennan in six rounds; in 1920 in a championship match here Brennan was knocked out in the twelfth round.

Plans for a proposed match between Dempsey and Harry Wills, the New Orleans negro heavyweight, have not been abandoned because of the Brennan arrangements, it was said.

COLLEGE SPORT NEWS.

Speaking of pitchers this boy Mike Morrow is as pretty a seven-inning pitcher as California has seen in many a moon. Morrow has a sweet curve and beautiful control and while he doesn't appear to have much stuff on the ball he is never seriously in danger. Getting by the seventh frame is Morrow's greatest difficulty and it is almost necessary to keep a relief hurler warmed up to replace him at that time.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By MARTIN ROTKE.

The Fremont high basketball team has not shown up very extra up to date, but with the new gymnasium completed the Boulevard hoop tossers will probably take on new life and do the unexpected. The candidates for the quintet were forced to do all their training stunts in the outdoors and as a result they could not do their best work. The athletic field will also be ready for the baseballers and tracksters to train on in about another week, so much is expected at Fremont in the way of grabbing off some more championships. The pill tossers are quite enthusiastic over their prospects and also their new training quarters, as in the past few weeks they were forced to do their labors in back of the Lockwood school, a well-constructed diamond, but one that was quite out of their way.

TENNIS COMING BACK.

Tennis is coming back into its own among the local prep schools, especially at Oakland high, where the racquet wielders are quite enthusiastic over their prospects for the coming season. Captain John Risso, the veteran of the team, has a number of fancy swingers lined up and the interclass series that was held last week also brought to light a few good men in the ranks of the Freshman class. Among the fellows that are expected to uphold the tennis honors at the Twelfth street school are John Truman, Goble, Captain Risso and Manager Joe Otis.

HIGH SCHOOL MANAGERS.

Most of the readers are well acquainted with the monickers of the captains of the casaba teams in the Oakland Athletic league, but the managers also have something to do in the way of getting the practice games for their respective teams, so the following list is a reminder of who's who in the managing end of the teams:

Technical .....Russel Diehl
Oakland .....Robert Sibbetts
Fremont .....Charles Chappell
Vocational .....Jack Silva
University .....Philip Shulte

THREE BASEBALL COACHES.

Tech high baseball tossers are quite fortunate in having Bernie Viverious, Johnny Gillespie, and "Babe" Keller to come around the campus assisting them in their training session. All three are former Purple and Gold athletes and are trying to help alma mater keep up the good record they have established in the pill tossing sport. The three coaches should give the youngsters plenty of knowledge in the art of the game, and if Tech has a successful season much credit will have to be given the trio for their fine teaching.

OPEN BASEBALL SEASON.

The Oakland high baseball team will unofficially open its season next Friday when the nine travels out to California Field to cobat against the California Field to combat against the lege. The Blue and White is expected to put up a battle for the gonfalon in the O. A. L. and if Coach Daugherty presents his strongest lineup the Frosh Bears will be in for a hard and mighty tussle. The Prep schoolers will also have to hustle to come through with a victory as Coach "Nibs" Price's squad is made up of men who made nifty records while attending high school. Among the players on the Freshman team are "Scotty" Tait, Abe Rubin, Bud Moriarity, Alvin Kyte and Walter Wrixon, all former bay city preps-sters, while Spaulding and "Red" Spence, stars of the football team, are considered two of the best agate smashers on the roster of the Yearlings.

Boxing Notes

VALLEJO, Jan. 31.—Kewple Callender of Mare Island and Jimmy Murphy of Oakland will probably appear in the main event of a fistic card to be staged on February 7. The former is considered one of the best boys of his weight in the west and has a big following in the yard.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—Marty Farrell of New York and Bert Colima of Whittier, Calif., middleweights, will meet in the main event of the boxing program at Vernon arena here tonight.

CHECKER CHAMPIONSHIP.

GLASGOW, Jan. 31.—Robert Stewart, Glasgow expert, scored a victory over Newell W. Banks of Detroit, in the second day's play for the world's checker championship. The score now stands: Stewart, 1; Banks, 0; drawn five.

CHAMPION LOSES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Charles Hedgon, of Dowagiac, Mich., national amateur 18.2 balkline billiard champion, lost his first match in the national title tournament in Brooklyn last night to Edward Gardner of Montclair, N. J., 200 points to 193.

Tribune League Gossip

The Alameda West End Merchants finished their fourteen-game schedule a week ago last Sunday with a record of which they should be justly proud, fielding as a club for an average of .919 and batting .328 for the season.

George Donald and Henry Johnson, outfielders, are the only ones to boast of a perfect fielding record, even though they did not participate in the fourteen games played by their club. Donald, one of the regular outfielders, was taken sick when the season was half over, which kept him out of the game for the balance of the season, and Johnson, utility outfielder, found only few opportunities to get into the box score. Joe Kaney the hard-hitting receiver whom Duffy Lewis signed up for his Salt Lake Bees, leads the regulars in fielding, having handled 131 chances with but two errors, which gives him an average of .985. Harry Klein, the tall first sacker and relief pitcher, ranks second with an average of .978, having handled 137 chances with but three boots.

LUDIVICI BEST HITTER.

The batting honors of the club developed into a neck and neck race between Harry Klein and Max Ludivici, outfielder. Klein leading Max until the game of January 15, when he went hitless against the Fiorlo and Figone team, while Max clouted three safe ones, which brought his average up to .490, and Harry Klein's shrunk to .411 and third place, Roy Henninger, utility, slipping into second place with a .421 average. Captain Dode Kihn jumped into fourth place by his timely hitting the last half of the season, finishing with .373. Fritz Warren, pitcher and general utility player, who has played the infield and outfield in very creditable fashion as well as doing his bit on the mound, participated in nine games and hit for an average of .370, while Joe Kaney, who had figured as a regular .300 hitter, took a slump during December until he dropped to .257, but came through in grand style on the home stretch and climbed up to .311 for the season.

Dode Kihn led in run getting, crossing the rubber with 17 runs, with Harry Klein closely following with 16 and Joe Kaney third with 13, three of which were homers.

Harold Coffey leads in stolen bases with four to his credit with Pick Bennett and Reg Hohenchild tied for second place with three each.

First place honors for runs batted in go to Max Ludivici and Harry Klein with eleven each to their credit, Dode Kihn second with ten, Joe Kaney third with nine, Harold Coffey next with eight and Ray Klein hammered in six. Pick Bennett and George Donald each drove in five.

By W. D. McNICOLL.

Sequoyah women golfers schedule of events for February has been announced by Mrs. Clyde Waterman, captain, as follows:

Friday, February 3—Qualifying round for Mrs. J. R. Millar's trophy. Choose partners. Trophy to be played for three consecutive months and must be won by same player twice. Fourth series driving contest at 2 p. m.

Friday, February 10—Sweepstake tournament. Entrance fee, 50 cents. Claremont ladies invited.

Friday, February 24—Invitational day; Sweepstake tournament. Entrance fee, 50 cents.

Special Notice—Tournament rule: All matches must be played in current week, beginning Saturday morning and ending Friday night. Postponement of matches permitted only on account of bad weather.

Dr. H. G. Meek (7) and Dr. J. H. Stineman (0 played off their match in the second round of the tournament now running at Sequoyah. Despite the fact that there were at least seven remaining days on which to settle their argument they decided that Sunday's snow storm was the proper setting for their battle. Dr. Meek, with the assistance of his 7 holes up handicap and never refusing to win a hole when opportunity presented, was soon safely in to the third round by the big margin of 7-6. Dr. Stineman has been a consistent winner in this event for the past two years, but will now have to be satisfied if his opponent comes out winner. With snow sleet and rain alternating, another 9 holes were played in a four-ball foursome when Wm. Webber and George Vesper showed the doctors some real winter golf.

The starting system now in operation at Claremont is proving satisfactory. Between the rush hours of 12 and 2 on Saturdays, Nick Sorenson from his starter's box has the players and their caddies going off like a well regulated machine. Dave Trufelli seems to know the players' bags and clubs better than they do themselves. Within a few minutes close on to fifty bags are lined up ready for their owners. Most of the bags contain from 7 to 14 clubs, yet Davie seems to know as soon as the player, if a pet mashie or jigger has been overlooked and in an instant has the missing club, which has probably been undergoing repairs, in the bag. The rearranged and extended Claremont course has reduced the congestion to a minimum, and players now leave from the 1st and 9th tees alternately. Formerly it was the 1st and 10th. The new 12th and 13th holes are already very popular with most players. Improvements at the present 11th, formerly the 12th, are being carried out and when completed will give the player a better vision of the hole. The bunkers at present are not satisfactory, but are next on the list of improvements planned, which will make Claremont much more interesting and a real test of all the golf shots.

The Pacific Automobile Show Golf tournament has been re-scheduled for this coming week at Del Monte. A qualifying round of 18 holes is to be played on Friday, and the match play rounds will come on Saturday and Sunday. George Wahlgren chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements, announces that he expects a big entry from among the players who are automobile dealers.

George Howard, who has been acting as Peter Hays assistant at Del Monte for the past year and a half, has accepted a position as professional at the Sunnyside club in Fresno. Howard will start his duties on February 1st, and leaves Del Monte with the best wishes of a host of friends and admirers. Howard is one of the coming young players of California. His achievement in the state championship in winning the assistant's first money, and in being fifth during the first two days, has brought him prominently to the front. The young professional has had much expierience under Peter Hay.

Mortie Dutro, the Pebble Beach professional who tide for third place in the state open championship, has gone to San Antonio, Tex., to compete in the championship there. Mortie is another of the young professionals here who has come rapidly forward this year. Abe Espinosa has also gone to Texas.

DIFFERENT BASEBALLS WILL MAKE OFFICIAL AVERAGES IMPOSSIBLE

By GEORGE CHADWICK

(Copyright, 1922, by OAKLAND TRIBUNE)

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—It has taken twenty-five years to develop the fact that the rules of baseball, which are the laws of the Medes and Persians, are not complete and sufficient for the proper government of the game. The omission in the rules is in that section dealing with the kind of ball with which the game shall be played, and thoughtful men of baseball, having discovered the point which had been overlooked, are now considering deeply how the rules should be changed to keep the game uniform.

The omission in the rules came to light when the Pacific Coast League sent word a day or so ago that it intended to use a baseball made of different material from those now in use in the major leagues. At first the rule makers, who have been prodded in the ribs and asked what this meant, thought it did not mean much of anything. Today, however, they have changed their opinion.

The original rule makers agreed that the game must have a standard ball or it would never become a standard game. Boston would be playing with one kind of ball, New York with another and Philadelphia and Washington with still others, so that every time teams from those cities met there would be a preliminary squabble as to which kind of ball should be used. The first rule makers thought they had settled the question when they adopted a rule which says that the ball shall have certain dimensions and a certain weight. They did not realize that not a word had been said about materials of which the ball should be made.

Ball Is Standardized Only Five Per Cent.

In those days the materials in which to make baseball were limited. Home-made yarn and four-piece horsehide covers were the usual thing. Having, as they thought, standardized the ball, the rule makers retired with a healthy glow in their cheeks as they contemplated what they thought was a satisfactory job.

Their successors have just discovered that the ball which they had considered standardized is not standardized more than five per cent. It is true that there is a contract between each of the major leagues and the baseball manufacturers which specifies just how balls are to be made, but the general rules of baseball forgot to say anything about the material.

When the present rule was adopted there was no such thing as a cork center ball. All baseballs were presumed to have a rubber center. Today the cork center ball is commonly in use and has been found to be a better ball than that previously used. The Pacific Coast League has announced that it will use a ball with a rubber center.

Various Centers Would Make Various Averages.

If there can be a cork center ball and a rubber center ball, there may also be a wood center ball or a bone or papier mache center ball and each of these varieties would produce different variety of the national game. The present rule is only half a rule. The question agitating thoughtful men in baseball is how to change it. It is pretty generally agreed that the action of the Pacific Coast League is not progressive. A baseball which is not standardized is harmful and such baseball will be more harmful to the Pacific Coast League than to others because sooner or later the clubs of that league will begin to be criticized by their own patrons because they don't play ball according to standard specifications. There is no rule which compels minor leagues or independent clubs to use a certain make of ball. The major leagues do have such a rule and it is well they do. Otherwise there would be a return to the farcial days when clubs tried to "ring in" balls which were loaded to the cover with rubber.

If the ball in use by the coast league cut down the batting it would militate against the players developed there. If it made the fielding more difficult it would not add to the game in the eyes of the spectators. In any way it is viewed the chances of keen rivalry between the east and the west in the national game will be decreased if the west chooses to "monkey" with baseball.

Rodgers Has Tough Position at Calgary

Bill Rodgers, for the past several years manager of the Sacramento Club in the Coast league, was appointed manager of the Calgary Club, in the Western Canadian league, a week or so ago, and now everybody who knows anything about the Western Canadian league is wondering what Bill will do to get a ball club. The owners of Calgary practically sold their entire club since the close of last season, and it is up to Bill to get them a new one. It looks like a tough summer for Bill. Pat Kilhullen refused to accept the appointment as manager, so Bill Rodgers took it.

Basketball Invented By Kansas U. Prof.

LAWRENCE, Kans., Jan. 31.—Credit for inventing the game that is at present holding the collegiate sport spotlight goes to Prof. James Naismith, head of the physical education department at the University of Kansas. Basketball was invented by Naismith in 1891 when, as an instructor in the gymnasium of the College of Springfield, he first conceived the indoor sport.

Since that time, over a period of thirty-one years, basketball has come to be a most popular game in high schools and colleges throughout the country and is being played more and more each season.

The Heart of the House

The kitchen may properly be called the heart of the house, because it is from there that the energy of the household is sent.

Not merely the health, but the happiness of the family, as well, depends largely upon the food that is prepared in the kitchen. It is a scientific fact that a person's disposition is determined to a great extent by the condition of his internal organs, and this in turn is dependent upon the kind of food that he eats.

It is highly important that the furnishings of the kitchen should be as convenient, economical and sanitary as possible, in order to obtain the greatest efficiency.

Good buys in kitchen furniture are advertised in the Classified Columns today and tomorrow (Wednesday) under Goodbye Boils!

S. S. S. Will Rid You of Boils, Pimples, Blackheads and Skin Eruptions.

A boil is a volcano,—your blood is so chuck full of poisons that these "boil" out into a boil. They'll keep "boiling up" until you destroy them completely by the use of S. S. S., one of the most powerful blood-cleansers known to science. S. S. S. has stood the test of time. The power of its ingredients is acknowledged by authorities. Its medicinal ingredients are guaranteed to be purely vegetable. Right off, it clears the skin of pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, acne, eczema, rash and other skin eruptions, and does it thoroughly. It drives out of the blood impurities which cause rheumatism, makes the blood rich and pure builds up lost flesh. It helps to manufacture new blood cells,—that's one of its secrets. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

FOOTBALL SCANDAL WAS EXPECTED BY THOSE ON THE INSIDE

OFFICIALS OF LOCAL COLLEGES SAY THAT ATHLETES ARE NOT ENTIRELY TO BLAME

FOOTBALL SCANDAL LOOMS UP AS LATEST BIG SPORT MENACE

Middle Western Affair Gives Rise to Talk of Strict Rules On Coast.

By DOUG. MONTELL.

The nation-wide scandal over the Illinois-Notre Dame fracas, in which seven Illinois stars and eight Notre Dame men were disqualified by their respective universities for further competition, merely brings to light certain conditions that have been undercurrent in the collegiate football world, and against which prominent coaches and athletic leaders have sounded a warning, even before it came to light in the Middle West. The Pacific Coast, fortunately, remains in the clear as far as football scandal is concerned, emphasizing the fact that the brand of football here is as clean as any in any part of the country and cleaner than some. Regardless of the merits of the particular case in question, whether the blame lies with the athletes who went out from their college to play or with the promoters who induced them to do so, the whole thing is all wrong.

The University of Washington uncovered the first bit of trouble in exposing the recent Dietz episode at Purdue and the subsequent Carlinville-Taylorsville game, that has created the largest havoc in collegiate football circles since the game has been played. It is hoped will prove to be the finishing touch. If there have been other similar circumstances in the past they may not be uncovered but it should sound a warning, alike to promoter and athlete, that such conditions will not be tolerated.

Athlete Is Not Entirely to Blame.

Local authorities, in commenting on the situation, and its effect on the football world, hold that the athlete, while getting all the blame, is not entirely responsible. As Coach Madigan of St. Mary's said, "the athlete who is approached by promoters of such events is not always to be entirely blamed. How easy a matter it is for an outsider to approach some star, who may be working his way through college, with the offer of several hundred dollars for an afternoon's work. To the athlete it is not work, it is an offer to take part in a game which he would be willing to play for the sport's sake, probably. The temptation is too great and he goes out and plays for the money." But it is an evil that will tend to break down the high standard of collegiate football if it is allowed to continue. The menace of professionalism in football is clearly seen and the close association between professionalism in football and the betting ring was seen in the Notre Dame instance. Here the players were paid to perform, the promoters thinking to clean up on a sure thing bet.

But a Step to the Throwing of Games.

From here it is but a step to the throwing of games. And if they are thrown outside of college in professional football they will may be thrown within the collegiate circle. What could be easier than to have the promoters approach one or two stars on a team that appeared to be a cinch to win. Have them fumble at a critical moment, fail to make a tackle, allow themselves to be boxed in or downed at the line. Who would be the wiser? The favorite would lose, the promoters would clean up at big odds. The players would grab off a considerable piece of change. For players who will go out of college to play for a consideration might be induced to do the bidding of interested parties while playing on their college team. Of course the same player could not continue to do it regularly and retain his job but the influence once started, would be hard to check.

Tramp Athletes Are the Menace.

All of which brings up to the consideration of the "tramp athlete," the player who migrates from one college to another. Whose home is in Boston and who plays football there one season, in Texas the next and in California the next. Who is he and why? What institutions use them and why? He is declared, by Andy Smith, coach of the University of California grid team, to be the only menace at present affecting the Pacific Coast. It is the desire of Andy Smith at California and the authorities at all of the institutions of the Coast Conference, to check this movement of athletes from one college to another. The passing of the one year transfer rule keeps them out of the larger coast institutions and Smith hopes that by next fall all of the smaller institutions on the coast, not members of the Conference, can be prevailed upon to take action that will bar such athletes from competition by passing a one-year rule. If this is done it will tend to keep football here in the West beyond question and no accusing finger can be pointed at any coast college, charging that they have enticed a star away from another institution simply for his athletic prowess.

Santa Clara and St. Mary's are two institutions near at home that are non-conference members who are not bound by any such rule at present.

Freshmen Would Be Allowed to Play.

The effect of such a rule on St. Mary's and Santa Clara would be obviously to weaken their teams. On the other hand it would, in the long run, tend to strengthen them, for, realizing that at no time could they make use of the services of transfers for the first year, the efforts of the coach and the athletic authorities would be directed toward influencing high-school graduates to attend there, entering as freshmen for the full collegiate course. Speaking for California, Andy Smith and Ray Cortelyou said yesterday that they realized that the smaller colleges would be unable to enforce a freshman rule as well, and that it would meet with the approval of California to have Santa Clara and St. Mary's make use of freshmen on all teams. How necessary that would be can be judged by the fact that the present St. Mary's basketball team is comprised entirely of freshmen, not a single upper-classman remaining.

St. Mary's Agreeable; Talk of Small Conference.

Graduate Manager Louis LeFevre said that at no time had there been any danger of a controversy with California over any athletic ruling, and that the present discussion would be settled without a hitch. When informed of the view of Andy Smith and the California graduate manager's office that the one-year transfer rule should be enforced next fall, LeFevre stated that such being the case, St. Mary's would be only too willing to agree to such a proposal, but that he felt that there was no reason why St. Mary's should be singled out for discussion from amongst the numerous smaller colleges on the coast which at present are not enforcing a one-year rule. LeFevre said that he had felt for a long time that there was need for an organized conference of the smaller colleges of the coast, which would take in Nevada, Arizona, Whitman, Gonzaga, Willamette, St. Mary's, Santa Clara and the southern California colleges. Nevada, unquestionably, would favor the organization of such a conference, and the Sagebrush institution would be a leader amongst such institutions. Whether the present discussion on rules will stimulate fresh discussion for such a movement remains to be seen, but Courtwright and LeFevre will probably discuss the one-year rule and other matters pertaining to the smaller institutions when Nevada comes here to meet St. Mary's at the local college Saturday night.

Six Giants Send In Signed Contracts

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Signed contracts of six players, four of them new men, have been received at the offices of the New York Giants, the club announced today. Eighteen Giants now are under contract for 1922.

Alex Gaston and Virgil Barnes were the old men to send in their signed papers. The others were Frank Samide, catcher, of Denver, Colo.; Floyd Brown, also a backstop, from Logan, Ia., and Glen Shores, of Independence, Kas., and John Albertson of Montrose, S. D., right-handed hurlers.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 31.—Practice will be started here by the Stanford basketball team this afternoon for the first game of the Stanford-California series, which will be played on the new pavilion floor Saturday night. Coach Van Gent and his crew of ten players arrived here from the north yesterday. The coach gave the squad a lay-off from the usual practice as the men were tired from the trip to Oregon, where the five won two games from the University of Oregon quintet and then dropped two to the Oregon Aggies.

Although California appears to have the edge on the Cardinal team from the standpoint of experience, the local boys are not discouraged. They point to the fact that the Stanford team always plays a much better game against California than against other teams. Furthermore, the Cardinal team will go against the Bruins with a higher record in the Pacific Coast Conference percentage column. Stanford has won two games and lost two, while the Bruins have a record of three defeats and one win. Last year Stanford made the trip to Washington and was defeated in two games by the Sun Dodgers, while the Bruins were leading the Conference race.

The ticket sale to the student body and faculty started here yesterday afternoon and a brisk sale was reported. It is expected that many Stanford alumni will come here to see the game and take the opportunity to get a look at Stanford's new pavilion. The sale of seats to the general public will not be opened until tomorrow afternoon. Graduate Manager W. D. Fletcher has announced that students may not return tickets after tomorrow night.

Hanley Is Back With a Flock Of Affidavits

Coach Says High School Boy Absolves Dietz and Self From Blame.

PENDLETON, Ore., Jan. 31.—Richard E. (Dick) Hanley, Pendleton high school football coach, on his return from Seattle yesterday announced that he had secured signed statements from high school athletes denying that either he or Coach William (Lone Star) Dietz had made unsportsmanlike or dishonorable overtures to them to secure their services for the Purdue University football team.

Hanley also announced that while he was in Seattle, he visited Professor Leslie J. Ayers of the University of Washington, who recently charged that salaries were being offered Northwest athletes by Hanley and Dietz. Ayers, Hanley said, promised that the high school athletes would be given a hearing and a full investigation made of the charges.

Walter Daily, of Everett, Wash., mentioned by Professor Ayers, as having been approached by Hanley, stated in his affidavit that he had never been approached by Hanley, the latter stated today. The Seattle authorities alleged that it was through Daily that information was secured of Hanley's alleged offers.

Hanley said he had affidavits from Glenn Carlson, George and Abe Willson and Harold Britts of Everett, and Kenneth Stendal, of Sedro-Woolley, Wash.

St. Mary's Quintet Meets O. C. Tonight

The Olympic club quintet which gave Stanford such a close rub in their recent game invades Oakland tonight to meet the St. Mary's five on the local college court. Coach Madigan said this morning that while his men were not yet in the best of shape, that he figured that the recent game with St. Ignatius had served to strengthen rather than weaken the teamwork, and that Captain Silva and Grana would be able to play tonight against the Winged "O." Silva is still bothered by his leg, which was injured early in the season, but his work on the floor last Saturday night showed that he is able to get around with his old speed. Odland will probably be started at center tonight for St. Mary's, with Furdler held in reserve. The tentative line-up announced by Madigan this morning was: McNally and Lester, forwards; Odland, center; Silva (captain) and Grana, guards. The game starts at 8:15.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 31.—As many pitchers and catchers of the Portland baseball team as can be assembled by February 15 will be sent south on that day to "bail out" for two weeks at a hot springs near San Bernardino, Calif., according to a statement today by President W. H. Klepper of the Portland club. The regular training season will open at Pasadena March 1 for the team.

Inside Dope on the LITTLE FOUR-ROUNDERS

By BOB SHAND.

Mr. Simpson's all-star boxers are doing very nicely in the various gymnasiums around the bay, according to Secretary Harold Algernon Broom, who predicts a torrid evening at the Auditorium tomorrow. Mr. Broom opines that the all-star bunch will do much better in the way of entertainment than a so-called main event, several preliminaries and a curtain-raiser. Jimmy Kelsey, who was just one step behind the main event class until he had the temerity to engage Mr. Joe Lynch in fistic combat, lands in the curtain-raiser tomorrow, which, according to Mons. Broom, proves the caliber of the card.

Bud Manning, the clever little kid from the Northwest, who tossed a million boxing gloves at Angelo Silva recently, will box the windup against Joe Lynch. Manning made a splendid showing against Silva, but Lynch is something else again, and Bud has a lot of nerve taking on the match. After his recent bouts with MacDonald, Lynch is at the height of his form and may prove a bit too rugged for the slender Manning. However, Bud thinks he can use a left hand to good advantage against a boy like Lynch, and he is going to make a southpaw fight of it.

"Dynamite" George and Johnny Burns should put up one of the best bouts of the night. George started here a few weeks ago, but before the fans could get a line on him Harold Emmal started using his submarine punch and fouled himself out of the game. Down south George is considered the best boy of his weight on the coast. He licked Bert Colima and other good ones at Vernon. Mr. George is also considerable of a ball player and will go to the training camp with Vernon this spring and try for the first base job.

Burns put up a nice fight against Pat Boyle last week, and if he repeats tomorrow, it should be worth while. Johnny is more aggressive than he used to be and is also hitting cleaner. He seems to have a weak spot in the pantry and takes wonderful care of the culinary department when the other gent starts shooting for the body. Were Johnny to pay less attention to his bread basket and a little more to the other gent's chin he would do more good for himself. However, it's his stomach.

Scotty Diest is buck on the card and will box Battling Larson. Scotty got off to a nice start when he boxed Roy Kitz. He lost the fight but he won a home for himself with the local customers.

Jack Dempsey is going to pick on Bill Brennan again and there will be enough enthusiasts to make it worth while for the boys to take a little exercise. But if anybody thinks Brennan has a chance with Dempsey a gent with a peaked cap is liable to come along and take him away. The champion is simply tired of the stage and the pictures, and all that sort of thing, and he is willing to fight some secondrater for short jack. Incidentally, Dempsey MUST have a fight of some kind soon to test himself, and Brennan is as good a punching bag as anybody else. The vaudeville tour did not do the champion a bit of good.

Dempsey is telling the boys down south that he is going to retire in two years and they are making quite a splurge about it. A fighter does not know from day to day what he is going to do, and if they change their minds overnight, they will change them a thousand times in two years. However, it is the slack season in sports.

Presidents of Northwest Colleges Lay Down Law

Heads of Universities in Coast Conference Hold Meeting and Pass on Resolution

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 31.—Presidents of four Pacific coast conference colleges and universities in the Pacific Northwest and the authorized representative of another, meeting here last night, unanimously adopted a resolution setting forth their abhorrence of any policy of paying athletes, or "permitting them to receive unreasonable compensation for employment given during any part of the year," in consideration of athletic ability.

The four presidents at the meeting were P. L. Campbell, University of Oregon; W. J. Kerr, Oregon Agricultural College; E. O. Holland, Washington State College, and A. H. Upham, University of Idaho.

Henry Buzzalo, president of the University of Washington, was officially represented by E. B. Stevens, executive secretary of the university, with authority to act for him.

CLAIM NORTHWEST CLEAN.

The presidents explained that their resolution was not based on the slightest evidence implicating any Northwest college in a "paid athlete" scandal, but that it was thought proper to make clear their attitude against such practices. They declared their belief that intercollegiate athletics in the Pacific Northwest are on a clean basis.

A significant paragraph in the resolutions specifically reserve for the presidents the right of review over any acts of the Pacific Coast or Northwest intercollegiate conferences. These are the bodies which supervise the athletic relations of the member colleges.

The resolution and the statement accompanying it follows in full:

In view of the publicity given in the last few weeks to alleged attempts by eastern colleges to attack athletics by financial considerations, the executives of the state-supported colleges and universities of the Northwest desire to reaffirm the following principles:

HERE ARE PRINCIPLES.

"First—That no athlete shall remain in good standing in any institution who is known to receive money for playing or unreasonable compensation for any employment given him during any part of the year, in consideration of his athletic ability.

"Second—That each executive shall assume responsibility for the application of this principle in his own institution and shall co-operate with each other executive in informing him regarding any reports or suspicions reflecting on his institution.

"Third—That final authority on all questions of larger policy in regard to athletic relations rests with the administrative authorities of the several institutions. In view of this fact, actions on questions of policy by the Northwest and Pacific Coast conferences is subject to review by the executives of the institutions represented in these conferences."

Kentucky Derby Will Be Run on May 13 At Churchill Downs

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 31.—The forty-eighth annual renewal of the Kentucky Derby, the racing classic of western tracks for three-year-olds, will be run at Churchill Downs, May 13, it was announced today. The race will carry $50,000 added money, but changed rules will increase the winner's purse. Nominations for the race will be closed February 21.

Second money will be reduced from $10,000 to $6000, third money from $5000 to $3000 and fourth money from $2000 to $1000, thereby adding $7000 to the purse. The starting fee has been increased from $250 to $500.

May Turn Stanford Campus Into Reserve

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 31.—To make a game reserve out of the Stanford campus is the object of an appeal made to the California Fish and Game Commission by the Stanford board of trustees. There are many animals in the 8000 acres of university property that the zoology department finds useful for experimental purposes and this is the basis of the appeal. The commission will look over the campus February 15 to pass on the application.

If the request is granted it will be unlawful to hunt or carry a gun on the university property.

Boys Played to Save Money Bet By Townpeople

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 31.—Buck Shaw, football tackle and champion shot-putter and one of the eight Notre Dame men to confess playing in the $100,000 Taylorville-Carlinville professional football game, told of the participation of the South Bend athletes today.

At first only two of the Notre Dame men planned to attend, but at the last minute eight decided to make the trip," Shaw said.

"When we got to Taylorville and saw how big the game really was, we were going to back out. At the meeting, though, we were told that the town people had a lot of money up on the game and probably would lose it unless we played, so we decided to go through."

Nevada to Play St. Mary's On Grid Next Fall in S. F.

Graduate Manager Louis LeFevre of St. Mary's College yesterday announced that the University of Nevada had agreed to meet the local collegians in football next fall, Thanksgiving day being the date set. The game will be played in San Francisco, either at Ewing field or at Recreation park. Due to a hitch in the schedule of Whittier, the southern college has not been able to meet St. Mary's on the gridiron. LeFevre is at present negotiating with Occidental for a game on November 18.

A change is made in the baseball program of St. Mary's over the week-end. The Lincoln Giants (colored) were originally booked to meet the Phoenix Saturday and Sunday, but to date LeFevre has been unable to get in touch with the team, which was supposed to have left New York on January 15th. Tentative plans have been made to have Guisto's men play the M. J. B. team, and to meet Ireland's Independents on Sunday in the game that was supposed to have been played last Sunday, but which was called off on account of rain.

HAIL THE NEW CHAMP.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 31.—Johnny Woodmansee of Salt Lake won the Rocky Mountain bantamweight title here last night by defeating Charley Lavatta, of Pocatello. The victor used a one-two punch to advantage and had the shade in every round. Lavatta scored during the clinches with body blows.

Basketball Is Now Big Sport At Livermore

Six Games a Week Are Being Played; Home Teams Successful.

LIVERMORE, Jan. 31.—Basketball, the favorite athletic event in Livermore, is now of paramount importance in sporting circles here at the present time. Notwithstanding the loss sustained by the breaking up of the "Livermore Cowboys" team—that well known quintet consisting of the three McGlincheys, Yukota and Grana—interest in the game has been renewed by the organization of the Native Sons' team who are now the main attraction. There are at least sixty young athletes in Livermore playing basketball this winter. These players are divided up among the Native Sons, high school boys' first team, high school boys' second team, grammar school boys' unlimited, grammar school boys' 110-pound, Vampires, high school girls' and Business Girls' Club. From six to eight games a week are now being played on the home court, and so far the local teams have a slight lead in the number of games won.

Saturday night the Natives met and defeated the San Jose Y. M. C. A., one of the fastest club teams in the state by a score of 31-19. The features of the game was the playing of the four McGlinchey brothers.

JIM McGLINCHEY RETURNS.

The local fans are quite jubilant over the fact that Jim McGlinchey, the fast forward who has been playing with the Santa Clara Varsity, has returned to Livermore and will now be a regular on the Natives' team. His return to the local court will be an incentive for increased interest.

Manager Gardella has scheduled a game with the Mel Andersons of Oakland for next Wednesday evening and has also arranged for games on the 4th, 8th, 15th and 18th of February.

The preliminary game of the evening was played between the Livermore high school team and the Hercules team of San Jose. The local boys won in a fast game by the score of 15-14. The winning basket was thrown by Ray Henry in the last minute of play.

The local high school boys have been putting up an excellent brand of basketball this season and have been playing only the best teams in this section of the state. Their next game will be played Wednesday night with the Oakland high school.

The Vallejo high school basketball team defeated the unlimited basketball quintet of Winters here at the Sciot hall by a score of 28 to 17.

The Santa Rosa De Molay basketball teams has returned to the upvalley city after defeating the local De Molay aggregation of athletes by a score of 52 to 20.

College Heads Worried Over The Situation

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—With two of the midwest's leading football teams, Notre Dame and Illinois, wrecked by professionals, some of the athletes, rumors reaching to other "big ten" teams were heard today.

Coach Jones of Wisconsin University denied reports that two Wisconsin basketball men had been dropped or that candidates for the basketball team had been ditched because of professionalism.

George Huff, director of athletics at Illinois University, admitted that the college could not weed out all of the breakers of the professional rule, especially baseball, in commenting on campus reports that practically every member of the baseball team was a professional.

A meeting of the "big ten" to be held in Iowa City in March will take up the question of professionalism.

Northwest Quintet Should Win Honors In Coast Conference

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Basketball championship honors of the Pacific Coast Conference for 1922 probably will rest in the Pacific northwest, as northern members of the organization last week turned back an invasion by Stanford University and University of California fives.

University of Washington's Vikings, with eight victories and no defeats, look, at this date, as if they will sweep, unchecked, toward the title. They are tied, however, by the University of Idaho, which has won four and lost none. According to the present schedule, Idaho and Washington do not meet.

Games between state rivals will be played next Friday and Saturday, California meeting Stanford at Stanford; Washington State playing Washington at Seattle, and the Oregon Agricultural College meeting the University of Oregon at Eugene.

Standings of the conference fives follow:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Washington	3	0	1.000
Idaho	4	0	1.000
Stanford	2	2	.500
Oregon Aggies	2	2	.500
California	1	3	.250
Washington State	1	3	.250
Oregon	0	8	.000
So. California	0	0	.000

Two Cities Seeking Bowling Tourney

TOLEDO, Jan. 31.—Milwaukee and Grand Rapids are seeking the 1923 tournament of the American Bowling Congress, according to A. L. Langtry, secretary of the A. B. C., who is here closing up the entries for the 1922 tournament to be held here, starting February 27.

Langtry today reiterated his belief that the Toledo tournament will have 1000 teams, the largest in the history of the congress.

The entries close tonight at midnight.

REMEMBER NICK!

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 31.—Stanislau Zbyszko, world's wrestling champion, defeated Nick Daviscourt of Texas, in a finish match last night, winning two straight falls. Zbyszko secured the first fall in 42 minutes, 35 seconds on an arm scissors and grapevine hold. The second fall came in 22 minutes, 14 seconds when Daviscourt had fastened a double Nelson on the champion but was rolled over.

NOTRE DAME ISSUED A WARNING AGAINST 'PRO' BUG SIX WEEKS AGO

Confessions Made by Eastern Football Stars Hits Gridiron Fans Like a Bombshell.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 31.—(By Associated Press).—Notre Dame University officials today made public copies of a letter sent six weeks ago to seventy middle western colleges calling attention to the threat of professionalism in college athletics and asking cooperation in a concerted movement to drive it out.

The letter was mailed December 16, six weeks before there was any public hint of the football scandal which has resulted in disqualification of nine Illinois and eight Notre Dame men, and today's announcement followed another yesterday that the western conference planned a wholesale investigation.

While the letter was sent to seventy schools, only nine replied, it was announced, and two of these were western conference schools. The letter said that while Notre Dame "had almost conclusive evidence that professionalism was making serious inroads into our great college sport," it might be difficult to prove the charges in court, but that an investigation would separate the wheat from the chaff.

The letter explained that Notre Dame of its own accord investigated the reports that three of its men played professional ball in Milwaukee, Wis., and that the men—Garvey, Anderson and Larson—confessed and were disqualified.

"This communication is being sent to every college and university of athletic note in the middle west," the letter said. "We are of the opinion that you will be glad to receive it, so that you may exercise whatever precaution you think necessary. From our experience in Milwaukee (on the Garvey, Larson and Anderson cases) we know that witnesses are unwilling to give testimony that may be used to convict a college player of professionalism. It would therefore, be difficult to prove before a court what we believe to be true; that the promoters of professional baseball are rapidly professionalizing our college players. The situation, however, merits our very serious attention.

"It is hoped that this communication will rouse the middle-west colleges and universities to concerted action against the promoters of professional football. Our co-operation with any such effort may be relied upon."

Eight Notre Dame Stars Are on Disqualified List.

Eight athletes of Notre Dame University, among them two all-American football players, a championship trackman and captains of the basketball and track teams, yesterday confessed to school authorities that they had played in the semi-professional football game at Taylorville, Ill., last November which produced the biggest collegiate athletic scandal in the annals of American colleges.

Immediate disqualification of each man was announced by the university officials.

Roger Kiley, Chester Wynne, Eddie Anderson, "Buck" Shaw, Earl Walsh, Robert Phalen, Harry Mara and M. Sayfrit.

The players made their statements voluntarily. They insisted they received no pay and said they agreed to take part in the contest simply as a Thanksgiving holiday lark and without knowledge that the affair was the outgrowth of town rivalry which became so acute that about $100,000 was said to have been bet on the game.

In agreeing to play with the Carlinville, Ill., eleven against Taylorville, the Notre Dame men were unaware that the nine University of Illinois stars recently disqualified for their part in the matter, were to play with Taylorville, they said. Satisfied that the men who confessed were the only Notre Dame students to be implicated, school authorities tonight had launched an investigation to find who was the "fixer" of the affair, and what means were used to tempt the lads into professionalism.

This man, if a student, will be expelled from school, it was announced.

The disqualification of the eight men, together with graduations and disqualifications of three other men recently for playing in a professional game at Green Bay, Wis., was looked upon as wrecking Notre Dame's chances in football, baseball and track this season. Coach Knute Rockne will not have a single regular around to whom to build his 1922 eleven, while little hope was held forth for successfully replacing the track and basketball men.

Athletes Tell Story To Coach Rockne.

The eight men early went before Father William Carey, chairman of the athletic board, and told him their story.

Several of the athletes then went to Coach Rockne.

Eddie Anderson, all-American end, was the first to reach the coach.

"Rock," he said, "I've come to tell you that it's true that I played in that Taylorsville game."

"You—you're kidding Eddie," replied the coach.

"No, it's true," said Anderson. "I'm sorry—no one knows how sorry, but it's true, Rock, and I wanted to tell you myself."

For fully ten minutes Mr. Rockne paced up and down his office.

"Eddie, I can't believe it," he explained. "I might have believed some fellows did that, but not a man like you. Didn't you stop to think, boy, how this would affect your school, how it would hit me as well as yourself? Didn't you stop to think how you'll feel when the students here learn of this? Why, why did you do it?"

"We know now, Rock, but we never thought of it then. I know now that you are the one who suffers. Don't take it so hard, please, Rock, because we didn't mean to hurt you and we should have known how you would feel."

Anderson, a typical clean-cut young college chap, remained silent, for some time while Coach Rockne sat with his head in one hand. Then the athlete said:

"Say, Rock, I just want to tell you one thing: that Illinois gang couldn't have beat us in a thousand years if I hadn't had to shift to quarterback instead of playing my regular job of end, and those reports that they circled my end are all bunk, of course, because I didn't play end. I'm just telling you this because you taught me how to play football and you never taught me to let any one circle my end, and another thing, Rock, we didn't use any secret Notre Dame players."

As Anderson walked out Mr. Rockne said to The Associated Press correspondent:

"No one but the boys themselves could have convinced me that Eddie Anderson, Chet Wynne, Buck Shaw and such men could do this thing. They were like sons to me. I knew they couldn't have done it and yet they did. It isn't the loss of athletic ability that hurts. It hits me right down in the heart.

"Yes, our teams are wrecked, but they're not beaten. We are never beaten until the game is over. We'll take our lickings if they beat us next year, but we'll fight to the finish."

"Must Keep the Game Clean," Says Fr. Carey.

Father Carey, in a statement last night, said that he regretted the affair, but was certainly thankful that it had been cleared up and the guilty persons punished.

"We will stand for no taint or hint of professionalism here," he said. "Not even if it wrecks our teams forever. We don't permit a man to play on any team unless he is well up in his studies, and we won't permit any other rule to be broken.

"My only regret is that we didn't learn of this sooner. The first hint we had of it was in the Associated Press despatches. Had Illinois University officials, when they learned of it, come to us frankly we would have welcomed their information and gladly have co-operated with them in cleaning it up. When we read the first despatches about the affair we immediately telegraphed the Illinois authorities asking for any information or leads they could give us. We have had no reply. We sent a man to Carlinville and Taylorville to investigate, but his report is hardly needed now.

"Anderson, Wynne and Shaw were three of the most popular players in the school. All were described by students as the 'finest and fairest fellows who ever lived.'

"Shaw told a fellow-student that this was the first time in his life he had ever played a football game in violation of school rules."

"Windy" Crawford of Washington 'U' Is Best Point Scorer

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 31.—Figures compiled by followers of conference basketball here put "Windy" Crawford, University of Washington veteran guard, at the head of the scoring column for the Pacific Coast Conference basketball race. Crawford has been given a total of 94 points, with Lewis of Washington close on his heels with 86 points, and Selik, the tall Washington center, third with 72, while Nicholson, Washington forward, is fourth with 40.

The next six players included here in the first ten are, Stinson, Oregon Aggies, 39; McHose, Stanford, 36; Friel, Washington State College, 35; Davies, Stanford, 35; Fox, Idaho, 34; Rockney, University of Oregon, 34.

Washington's lead was said to be accounted for by the fact that the northerners, together with Oregon, have played more conference basketball this season than any of the other teams.

DECIDE FLEET CHAMPIONSHIP.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—The basketball championship of the Pacific fleet will be decided tonight at the submarine base gymnasium at Los Angeles harbor. The competing teams will be that of the flagship California, champion of the battleships, train and submarines here, and that of the fifth destroyer squadron from San Diego, champion of the destroyers and air squadrons.

Stop That Cough

Jan. 13, 1922.
To Whom It May Concern:
After having suffered some time from backache and a severe cough, it seemed as though my head would burst every time I coughed. Numerous remedies failed to relieve me, but after having drunk the FONG WAN HERBS for but one week I was entirely well. I am now working every day in the Southern Pacific Co., and am feeling better than I had for years.

DEPUTY SHERIFF TESTIFIES

Jan. 16, 1922.
This is to certify that for many years I suffered from catarrh accompanied by deafness and a buzzing noise in my ears. I tried many physicians and later went to a clinic for treatment. The doctors there inserted an instrument into my nose in an attempt to restore my hearing. The only effect was to cause me awful pain and bleeding of the nose. From that time on my nose was stuffed up and my suffering was worse than before.
Seeing a FONG WAN HERB TEA advertisement, I went to their wonderful Herb Specialist. After drinking the herbs for about two months I was completely cured.
My daughter also was afflicted with catarrh and always suffered more or less from cold and sore throat. She did not care to eat much of anything. Although she had gone to doctors for some years, she complained of being sick all the time. We sent her to the FONG WAN HERB SPECIALIST, and after two months she also was strong and well and had gained 15 pounds besides. She has never been ill since. This was in 1918, but we are both still free from our catarrhal complaints.
A few months ago I fell and hurt my right leg. The doctors treated the leg, but about two months later the nerves of that leg pained me so that I could scarcely walk. I also had neuritis in my arm so bad that I was unable to raise my hand. I asked FONG WAN what he thought about my ailments. He said that my trouble was entirely due to the impurity of my blood and that I was mistaken in blaming it on to my fall. I commenced to take his herbs on December 4, 1921. Inside of a week the herbs had driven the poison out of my system and a cancer came out on my hand. FONG WAN then gave me herbs to apply externally and the head of the cancer came out, leaving a hole the size of my thumb. I kept on drinking the herbs and my hand finally grew whole and smooth. Now my leg, my arm and my hand are all fine fine condition.
The wonderful herbs, coupled with the skill and knowledge of the FONG WAN HERB SPECIALIST have saved me from much suffering. This letter of recommendation is prompted by gratitude.

GIVE FONG WAN HERBS CREDIT, FOR HIS LIFE

Willits, Calif., Nov. 14, 1921.
To Whom It May Concern:
It affords me much pleasure to express my approval of the FONG WAN HERB CO. I suffered from liver and stomach for twenty years. After X-ray and other examinations, medical physicians pronounced my case a surgical one. They declared that no treatment could reach the seat of my trouble. They said that the operation would consist of removing a duodenal ulcer, my appendix and my gall bladder; also that there would have to be a pyloric operation.
Dreading the operating table, I took up treatment with the FONG WAN HERB CO., of 548 Eighth St., Oakland. At that time I weighed but 126 pounds, my normal weight being 170 pounds. My condition in general was very weak.
After three months' use of the Herbs, I went to work handling lumber ten hours each day. Have now held the job fourteen months and have not lost a day on account of my old trouble. It is the first time I have been able to go longer than three months in twenty years without being sick in bed. I feel that I can give the FONG WAN HERB TREATMENT credit for my life. My present weight is 160 pounds.
I beg of those who have serious or minor organic troubles that are causing them disability or weakness to consult the FONG WAN HERBALIST, whom I believe to be honest and perfectly capable of doing what he says he can do. For further information address me at 101 Oak Avenue, Willits, Calif.
IRA P. BUTLER.

A PARALLEL CASE

The FONG WAN CO. has on its files testimonials of many other persons who have been relieved by their herbs of the same troubles. In one case, however, the man died. This was Mr. Joe Kercher of Petaluma, whose case was both parallel to and contemporary with that of Mr. Butler. Not knowing of the Fong Wan Treatment, he underwent a surgical operation, and to take the herbs, but there was no help for him and he died within two months after the operation.

USE OF SCHOOLS AS MILK DEPOTS VOTED BY BOARD

New Rules Drawn for Duties of All Officials; Lockwood Contract Awarded.

A new set of rules covering the duties of all officials and employees of the Oakland education department was presented to the board last night. The board also accepted bids for the construction of the new Lockwood Junior High school, and voted to open the schools as distribution centers for free milk for the children of the unemployed for as long as the present crisis lasts.

The committee on unemployment reported that many of the children of unemployed, now in school, are in dire condition so far as nourishment is concerned. The school medical department confirmed this statement, and it was agreed that the schools will be used as depots for free milk by whoever furnished the milk.

PROTESTS TABLED.

A reply from Supervisors Sue L. Fratis and Myrtle I. Palmer, ordered demoted to the seventh and eighth grades at Frick school, was filed. The supervisors said they would forego milk and teach in the lower grades if the board would re-engage them as supervisors next year and not send them to Frick school. The district attorney advised the board that the contracts of these teachers as supervisors are valid and could not be ignored without their consent. The matter was tabled, however.

Director Short objected, asking for a statement as to whether or not the women are supervisors. A motion to reconsider the matter was lost.

THREE DEPARTMENTS.

The new rules for the board, introduced by Mrs. Georgia Ormsby, are intended to take the place of old rules which have been in effect for years.

Under "Department and Department Heads," it is specified that all responsibilities shall be discharged through three departments: The educational, under control of the superintendent of schools; the secretary-comptroller department, under the secretary of the board, and the business department, under the business manager.

The new rule splits up the authority now vested in the superintendent of schools as head of the whole school department.

DIES IN ECUADOR.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—News of the death of Dudley Baldwin Hine, American railroad engineer in Guayaquil, Ecuador, on January 18, became known to members of his family here today. Hine, who was 53 years old, had been employed by the Guayaquil and Quito railroad of Ecuador for the last sixteen years.

Oakland Girl to Give Up Operatic Career for Film

MISS GLADYS TOSCANO, talent-Oakland girl, who has abandoned contemplated operatic career to study for character work in the movies. She is scheduled to appear soon in a film produced in this city.

Miss Gladys Toscano to Appear in Chapin Pictures to Be Screened Here.

Miss Gladys Toscano, daughter of Peter N. Toscano, Oakland merchant, has abandoned a contemplated career as an opera singer, and now is preparing to enter the moving picture profession, it was made known today by Miss Toscano.

According to friends, Miss Toscano possesses considerable ability as an eccentric mimic and this has moved her to capitalize this gift in preference to becoming a singer. She has been devoting the past two years to her musical training.

Miss Toscano has begun her studies with Edmund Gardiner, former actor-manager, and is scheduled to be given her first opportunity to appear on the screen in the forthcoming two-reel feature film, "Spanish Gold," which will be the first production of the Cyrus Chapin stories to be filmed by the Stewart Motion Picture Company at the Park Boulevard studio.

EXPERIENCE, NEED OF ALL SCENARIO STORY WRITERS

Know Your Subject Thoroughly, Is Advice Given by Jeanie MacPherson.

By JEANIE MACPHERSON,
Writer of "The Affairs of Anatol" and Other Paramount Pictures for Cecil B. deMille.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—A broken arm might make you a motion picture fortune. Not, let me clarify, from the injury itself. But suppose you aspire to write for the films. And in your prospective story there is an important episode based on an accident, on an injury to one of the characters. Doesn't it stand to reason that if you yourself had undergone such an experience you would best be able to mirror for the public its dramatic realities?

And yet would-be scenario writers send me story after story on very vital experiences that they know absolutely nothing about.

I would not have the scenaristically ambitious dash out to break an arm on the strength of this. Write about what you know—and if you don't know enough, set out to build up a store of information.

LACK PERSPECTIVE.

Lots of clever people think up ideas for stories but they lack the perspective to bring them to a completed whole.

Scenario writers must know a lot about some things—and little about a lot of things. And they must know the people of the stories they write—and at least something of the incidents they incorporate in their plots.

You never can tell when an experience is going to be of aid in your writing. Several years ago I played in the famous fight scene in "Carmen" with Geraldine Farrar, just to get the psychology of such a situation. And I have used the reactions thus gathered scores of times since. I am the only woman who has ever driven a plane while the late dare-devil, Locklear, walked on its wings and hung by his finger a mile above the earth.

I didn't have to do either of these things. But they have been worth many dollars to me. And so it has been with practically all the experiences of my life. I have made it a point to observe closely—and record my observations for uses that may not arise for years—but they are sure to come.

The average scenario beginner writes high-flown stories—and misses the drama which passes under his nose every day. He plugs on his tale of high society—and loses entirely the significant fact that his fellow-bookkeeper is bewailing the tragedy of twins—on a salary of $125 a month.

You don't need to act or drive an airplane in order to write stories for the screen. But you do need to see observingly and write with understanding.

An author friend of mine wrote a book in six months. But he was fourteen years accumulating the experiences and data that got into it. And he refused to start until his information was full and correct.

The proportion of scenario beginners who fail wouldn't be so overwhelmingly large if the profession was approached in such a spirit.

A. W. W.—It is not necessary to send a duplicate manuscript with name, etc., on page one. The old entry will suffice.

Mopped-Up Liquor Held As Evidence

The "dry squad" outwitted six bootleggers when they mopped up the liquor which they had poured on the floor or in the sinks in various soft drink parlors when raided. In the four places that Policemen E. F. Murphy and E. A. Yannke raided, attempts were made to destroy the evidence when the officers were recognized. A small quantity of liquor was seized in each place by the raiding officers.

The men who are charged with violating the national prohibition act are Nick Luchesi, 114 Broadway; Valentine Mafatti, 114 Broadway; Nick Perry, 460 Jefferson street; Harry Kelly and John Mendoza, both of 420 Eighth street, and Michael Kelly of 400 Eighth street.

Clubhouse Addition Approved by Elks

ALAMEDA, Jan. 31. — The addition to the Alameda Elks' clubhouse has been accepted by the building committee, according to announcement of William Varvoe, exalted ruler. It will occupy the property at the rear of the present structure and will include a gymnasium fully outfitted with all the latest apparatus, shower baths and handball courts, as well as lockers.

In addition to the gymnasium, there will be two first class tennis courts constructed.

Legion Post Offers Whizzing Program

ALAMEDA, Jan. 31. — Ten boxing bouts, syncopation and a feed will be the features at the meeting of Alameda Post, American Legion, next Tuesday evening. Clauds Deal, who held the American Expeditionary championship in Siberia, will have charge of the bouts, while George Daly will be referee and Carl Strom will keep a watch on the clock. "Fuzzy" Foster will serve the eats and Rex Glissman will handle the musical end of the program. "Fat" Larue will be announcer.

AUDITORIUM IS BARRED TO FILMS BY CARTER ORDER

"Foolish Wives," a movie in which many society girls and matrons of the bay cities assisted in the making, will not be shown at the Oakland Auditorium. This was finally decided last night by Commissioner A. E. Carter after a conference with producers, distributors and representatives of Oakland theaters. The latter allege that the showing of pictures at the Auditorium places that building in the position of a business competitor. Carter said he was inclined to agree.

James Rohan, who was to have handled the picture at the Auditorium, appeared with a certified check for $1250, the required rental for ten nights; but Carter said he could not take it.

"The Auditorium," says Carter, "was not built to be a competitor of any legitimate business. Leaving aside the merits of the case, we wish to keep clear of such controversies. There will be no more motion pictures at the Auditorium."

"Then the picture will probably not come to Oakland," says Rohan.

The Oakland theaters charge that the Auditorium is used as a means of exhibiting pictures without consulting the Oakland houses, so that the producers and distributors can keep up high rates.

WORK STARTED ON W. P. FEEDER LINE TO VALLEJO

Winters, Vacaville, Fairfield and Suisun to Be Tapped by Road.

WOODLAND, Jan. 31.—First work in the extension of Western Pacific feeders, connecting Woodland with Winters, intermediate points and on through Vacaville to Vallejo began today when a new location crew of eleven surveyors and linemen in charge of B. O. Valentine, started work at the corner of Main and Second streets at the Sacramento Northern depot.

"We will be working between Woodland and Vacaville for the next three months," declared a member of the crew.

It is the initial work on an extended network of spurs, feeders and extensions of the railroad company, which plans to take every section of the county and on to the bay district.

The engineers are headed directly for Winters. From that point the line will travel direct to Vallejo, invading one of the richest agricultural districts in California. There a line of fast steamers to Oakland and San Francisco will accommodate the traffice out of Woodland and intermediate valley points.

As a nucleus for the projected Sacramento-Vallejo branch are the existing Sacramento-Woodland and the Vacaville-Fairfield-Suisun branches.

The proposed Woodland-Vallejo electric line, it was learned yesterday will tap Winters, Vacaville, Fairfield, Suisun and Vallejo. The proposed electric line will require 57 miles of trackage.

Accident Hazard On Railways Now 1 to 5,673,000

Factor of Safety Growing Yearly, According to I. C. C. Figures.

Thirty years ago the average traveler in America took eight annual railway journeys, and now he takes twelve. Then he rode 24 miles each trip, and now he goes 38 miles. Notwithstanding he rides half as many more times now, half again farther each trip and doubtless spends half as much more time in railway travel, yet the danger to his life is less than half as great as it used to be. If he rode once in the last 32 years, his chances of being killed were one in 91,000,000. Or, if he took one trip each year during that period he came as near losing his life as one is near to 2,760,000. One ride taken last year imposed a hazard on his life of only one in 5,673,000, and on his twelve customary journeys, he was as far from jeopardy as 473,000 is greater than one.

Altogether, the railways of the United States carried in 1920 about 1,300,000,000 passengers, with one killed for each group of 5,673,000 carried, while in a total of 472,000,000 people carried in 1889, the death rate was one in 1,523,000. The danger to life of railway travelers in 1920 was, therefore, less than one-third of what it was in 1889, most of the reduction accruing since 1907. To be sure there have been vary bad years and exceptionally good years, but the general trend throughout the whole period has been decidedly towards the increasing safety of the traveling public.

Peanut and Cotton Seed Oil in Demand

A significant change in the Dutch vegetable oil trade is reported to the Department of Commerce by Consul General Anderson, at Rotterdam, who states that the trade has shown a decided recent preference for peanut and cottonseed oil, especially the latter, over soya bean, cocoanut and other strong oils. Imports of cottonseed oil January-September, 1921, were 34,644 metric tons, valued at $6,254,686, compared with 5398 metric tons in the same period of 1920, valued at $1,713,793. Imports of peanut oil increased from 645 metric tons, valued at $203,845, in January-September, 1920, to 4037 metric tons valued at $922,318, in January-September, 1921, while imports of cocoanut oil decreased in these months from 40,813 metric tons, value $12,933,043 in 1920 to 29,736 metric tons, value $5,739,225 in 1921. Imports of soya-bean oil showed a slight increase, from 24,485 metric tons in 1920 to 25,967 metric tons in 1921, but the value of the imports fell from $7,550,845 in 1920 to $3,584,053 in 1921.

United Verde Has No Plans for Work

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—The United Verde Extension Copper Mining Company has formulated no plans as yet for a resumption of mining operations. Although shut down for nearly twelve months, it has been doing some work on plant and property and has maintained a monthly payroll of about $50,000. Both shafts have been concreted to the bottom and oil burners have been installed in the new smelter so that either coal or oil may be used as fuel.

A large part of the company's accumulation of unsold copper has been marketed. Originally it stood at about 30,000,000 pounds.

Cattle and Sheep Men To Get Financial Aid

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Formation of a live stock loan company for handling the financing of sheep and cattle in Oregon and Idaho will be undertaken shortly as a result of conferences of western bankers with the War Finance Corporation, it is announced by Managing Director Eugene Meyer.

W. B. Pollman of Baker, Ore., Meyer said, has been discussing the live stock needs of eastern Oregon and southern Idaho with the corporation and proposes to form a company with an authorized capital of at least $250,000 to take care of the needs of those states.

WESTERN PACIFIC HAS $10,0000,000 FOR RIO GRANDE

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31. — The reorganization plan of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway company is announced, and was recommended by the committee as in the interest of the first and refunding mortgage to 5 per cent bondholders. In view of the "probable default" in the payment of the interest due February 1, 1922, the Western Pacific corporation, which purchased at a judgment sale last year the property of the Rio Grande road through a new company under the name of Denver and Rio Grande Western, has made arrangements to purchase all coupons of bonds assenting to the plan and has promised to purchase the August 1, 1922, coupons, if necessary. The Western Pacific corporation, which became the owner of the entire capital stock of the new company, amounting to 300,000 shares, at no par value, acquired the property subject to the bonds of the old company, but did not assume their payment.

The Western Pacific now is making an offer to the holders of the Denver and Rio Grande refunding 5s, under which the refunding bondholders are to receive in exchange for their bonds fifty per cent in a new sinking fund mortgage 5 per cent bonds, due in 1955, and fifty per cent in a 7 per cent accumulative preferred stock of the re-organized company, an average return of 6 per cent.

According to the plan, the Western Pacific agrees to put $10,000,000 in cash or property into the reorganized company for which it will receive only common stock, "thereby increasing the amount of the equity behind the new securities." Future financing is provided for by a new senior unifying mortgage bond for the purpose of refunding the underlying bonds, for future additions and betterments. None of these bonds, however, are to be issued now.

One of the important features of the plan is the reduction in bonded indebtedness from $125,056,000 to $101,669,000, and a reduction in fixed charges from $5,896,940 to $4,613,150. The $79,112,000 underlying bonds in the hands of the public remains unscathed according to the provisions of the plan.

Good Ore Exposed in Tonopah Extension

TONOPAH, Jan. 31.—Commercial ore has been exposed at several points on the 1880-foot workings of the Tonopah Extension. The east intermediate drift on the 1880-foot level of the Victor shaft has exposed an eight-foot width of milling ore in the Murray vein, with the drift penetrating new ground of high promise.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT

With a rising barometer and wind, changing to the southeast, but still cold, is keeping weather clerks guessing. The wind is light, but at San Diego is blowing 40 miles an hour from the southwest and caused several fishing launches to break away from their moorings and go on the beach.

Navy barges and target rafts have also gone adrift and the motor schoner Jeanette R. struck one of them ten miles southwest of Coronado Islands, escaping serious damage. The minesweeper Partridge has been sent out to tow the raft into port.

At Los Angeles a 65-miles-an-hour gale is blowing with high seas and navigation there is at a standstill. All the fishing craft are anchored in a sheltered cove. The steamer Yale, in rounding the breakwater yesterday, was struck by the strong southeast wind, broadside, and did considerable damage to some of her state rooms. The Japanese steamer Bandai Maru, en route to Los Angeles from the Orient, is several days overdue and no word has been heard from her.

Off-shore vessels due at this port are all late. Thirty vessels reached this port during the past 24 hours, bringing over 3,000,000 feet of lumber and 357 cedar logs. The latter goes to Japan, while the lumber is unloading at Oakland harbor. Other craft brought general cargo and many passengers.

The steamer Pine Tree State of the U. S. Shipping Board fleet, arrived on Puget Sound today from the Orient after a record-breaking voyage of 8 days, 19 hours and 30 minutes. The best record ever made to this time was 9 days and 17 hours by the steamer Silver State, a sister ship of the Pine Tree.

In the cargo of the Pine Tree State was raw silk valued at $3,200,000 that will be sent east by rail from Seattle.

Within the next few days the new steam schooner Viking will be ready for her trial trip and will then enter the coastwise lumber trade. She was built at Eureka by the Rolph Company but was never completed and was sold to the George E. Billings Company, who renamed her from the Thomas Rolph to the Viking. She has been tied up at Alameda for several months before being purchased.

The steamer San Juan arrived here yesterday afternoon from Cristobal and way ports, under command of Captain Pierce who will resign to accept the position as bar pilot to fill the vacancy of Captain J. J. Shea who died recently.

The San Juan had only a few passengers but her cargo consisted of 14,131 bags of raw coffee, 5590 feet of mahogany lumber, 1250 bags of cocoa, 1007 sacks of concentrates and $140,000 in gold and silver bullion for local banks. The vessel was two days late in arriving on account of the weather conditions in the south and reported that the land all along the California coast was covered with snow.

W. R. Grace & Company has turned over to the Western Mercantile Marine Corporation the steamer Santa Alicia of 1321 tons register. She was recently purchased by them and will be converted into a coastwise lumber craft. She is now at Oakland Harbor and when ready for service will be handled by the Sudden-Christensen Company.

The steamer Wabash has been purchased by the North Atlantic and Western Steamship Company and will be placed on the route between New York and Baltimore and this port. She is a steel steamer of 5672 tons and was built at Newcastle, England, 21 years ago. For many years she ran between New York and France. She is 381 feet in length.

The Standard Oil tanker Sylvan Arrow which has been idle in this port since her arrival from Yokohama on August 24 last, was taken to Point Richmond where she is loading a cargo of oil for the orient. Several of the large tankers of the Standard Oil Company have been tied up here for some time but of late they are getting out one at a time.

Captain George Paversich, steam tug Sea Queen.

Captain John Martin, steamer Santa Alicia.

Captain John Erickson, gas scow H. Eppinger.

Captain Jesse Smith, steamer Narbo.

Captin A. C. Paulsen, steamer Ecuador.

Without waiting for action on the proposed Great Lakes-St. Lawrence deep water route to the sea, Chicago will have regular steamship service to Philadelphia next summer, according to officials of the Chicago Steamship Company.

Five ocean-going steamers have been purchased to start the line. All the ships comewithin the present dimensions of the Welland canal locks, so they can pass from the lakes to the St. Lawrence.

One of the vessels, the George W. Clyde, left Philadelphia for Chicago several weeks ago loaded with sugar, but after being bufferted by winter gales off the Nova Scotian coast, was caught by ice in Lake St. Clair, above Detroit, and is now held there waiting for a thaw. The Clyde is able to plough through six inch ice in the open lakes, but the narrow St. Clair has been jammed with thick floes.

Two other ships, purchased from the shipping board at Seattle, are outfitting there for the long trip via the Panama canal and the St. Lawrence.

The company has purchased two other tramp steamers, one of which is now at a Cuban port and the other at Philadelphia.

The five ships will make regular ports of call including Detroit, Montreal, Quebec, Boston, New York and Philadelphia, according to J. C. Hoskins, general manager of the line.

NEW SERVICE BEGINS.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 31—Carrying a mixed cargo of 6200 tons of cotton, lumber, grain and general merchandise, the Shipping Board vessel West Wauna sailed for Liverpool yesterday on the first voyage of a new service recently announced by the board.

BUSINESS and FINANCE

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company gained 18,930 consumers during the year 1921 and now has a total of 285,062, according to figures submitted today at the rate hearing before the State Railroad Commission.

Other interesting facts connected with the corporation were also revealed. F. C. Piatt, electrical engineer, presented a table showing the historical reproduction cost to be $103,000,605. This represented the electric properties of the company, exclusive of gas and water properties as well as developments costs and working capital.

The historical cost of the electric properties was placed at $81,392,909. The historical reproduction cost of $103,000,000 was based upon a five-year estimate of the cost of materials. Based upon 1921 prices, the cost would be, according to Piatt, $114,797,372. The annual claim for depreciation was placed at $1,517,778.

W. D. Sultan, rate engineer, stated that in 1921 the company had sold 1,021,820,689 kilowatt hours of electricity. This was 1.94 per cent less than 1920 and 7 per cent less than the amount estimated by the company at the time of the surcharge hearing, which was followed by rate advances. The tabulation also disclosed that the company generated during the year 1,025,611,300 kilowatt hours and purchased 222,909,207 kilowatt hours. During the same period there was bought 1,264,826 barrels of oil.

AMERICAN SUGAR SHOWS GAINS IN SPOTTY MARKET

Changes Are Uneven and Within Narrow Bounds on Active Stocks.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Price changes were uneven within very narrow bounds at the [illegible] opening of today's stock market. [illegible] only popular issue to show more than a fractional variation was American Sugar, which rose 1 point. United States Steel, on which quarterly dividend action is to be taken during the day, opened at a nominal recession. Studebaker and Consolidated Gas, also in line for dividend declarations, made slight gains with Utah Copper, Corn Products and Industrial Alcohol. Declines of one to almost two points in Bosch Magneto. Beet Sugar and National Biscuit preferred gave the list an irregular tone later.

The market recovered for a brief period on buying of Corn Products, Sumatra Tobacco, Mexican Petroleum, Mercantile Marine preferred and Wilson preferred, these rising 1 to 2 points. Reactions set in before noon, however. Atlantic Gulf, American Car, Public Service of New Jersey, Gulf States Steel, American Woolen, Associated Oil, Chandler, Electric Storage Battery and Union Pacific declining 1 to 2 points. Baldwin, Studebaker, sugars and tobaccos also were under pressure. Call money on 'ree offerings opened at 5 per cent.

U. S. Petroleum Output in 1921 Is 469 Million Bbls.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Production of petroleum in the United States in 1921 as indicated by reports from producing companies to the United States geological survey, amounted to 469,639,000 barrels. This total may be increased somewhat, the survey said today, by reports on the quantity consumed on the leases for fuel. Stocks of crude oil increased 60,599,000 barrels during the year, the report said.

California and Oklahoma produced a record output of approximately 114,000,000 barrels each last year and Texas more than 100,000,000 barrels. Texas took first rank among producing states in December, 1921, largely as a result of developments at Mexia.
